

BIG PROGRESSIVE GAINS IN CALIFORNIA PRIMARY SHOW T. R. WILL SWEEP STATE

San Francisco, Sept. 15.—After the great reception given him in the city last night, Colonel Roosevelt spent today resting. He went to church this morning, and then accomplished President Ben Ide Wheeler, of the University of California, to his home at the university, where he had lunch and spent the greater part of the afternoon. He dined this evening with former Governor Pardee, one of his most enthusiastic supporters in this state, and Gifford Pinchot, who arrived today and will make speeches in the state in behalf of the Progressive candidates, state and national.

Tonight Colonel Roosevelt is on his way to Los Angeles, where another tremendous reception awaits him tomorrow afternoon. Apparently there is no doubt that California will be carried for Roosevelt.

In the recent primaries, held to nominate state officers, the Progressives showed a great increase of strength over that demonstrated in the spring primaries, when that state was carried for Roosevelt by 77,000 over Taft. In the recent primaries the Progressives polled more votes than were cast for all the presidential candidates, Democratic and Republican, including Tatt, La Follette, Wilson and Clark, in the spring primaries.

Another most important development of the primaries is that the fourth district, the one in which the Roosevelt delegates to the Republican convention were thrown out by the Taft-Penrose-Barnes special privilege combination, was carried by the Progressives by a majority of 2700. These figures are official, and cannot be denied by any one.

When they were shown to Col. Roosevelt he declared them to be of the greatest importance as settling all question respecting the theft of the two California delegates in the national Republican convention by the special privilege organization, and added additional proof to the charge that the Taft nomination was stolen.

Colonel Roosevelt was tremendously impressed with his reception here last night. The great audience of more than 15,000 persons he addressed in a coliseum had assembled there before 7 o'clock in the evening and waited two hours for his arrival in that instead of becoming impatient, the great crowd merely increased its enthusiasm.

The time was spent in singing the songs hymns which have been adopted by the Progressives as representing the fight they are making for righteousness and in cheering for Roosevelt and Johnson. There had been published in the newspapers many conflicting statements of the time Colonel Roosevelt would arrive in the city and, therefore, neither the crowds at the great Coliseum building nor those on the streets had any definite idea how long they would be compelled to wait.

It is significant that many thousands waited patiently, although the greater part of them knew that all they would get by waiting was a glimpse of the Progressive candidate as he passed them in an automobile on his way to the Coliseum.

As a fact, the crowds on the streets did not receive even this reward. The committee in charge of the arrangements had the colonel's automobile driven at such speed the crowds did not know when he passed, and continued waiting until the word was received that he had actually begun his speech.

The audience he addressed was quick to catch his arguments against the attitude taken by Governor Wilson that liberty requires the restriction, and not the extension of governmental power.

They saw at once that an extension of governmental powers with such powers controlled by the people themselves would afford, as Mr. Roosevelt said, the only possible way of coping with the great combinations which now prey upon the people, and that the Wilson argument was an argument which could only be sound as government is controlled by forces antagonistic to the public interest, and beyond the power of the public to reach.

Colonel Roosevelt and the Progressive leaders here believe that Governor Wilson has blundered as badly as did Taft when he declared for government by a representative part of the people in taking a stand against the extension of government activities and in favor of imposing restrictions.

This attitude of the governor, together with his attempt to show that social and industrial evils can be reached only through tariff legislation, it is argued, so clearly indicate the reactionary leanings of Governor Wilson and the Democratic party that they are likely to be discussed by Colonel Roosevelt in other speeches.

Even Democrats concede that Governor Wilson's candidacy is not growing in strength, and that his speeches arousing no enthusiasm. Roosevelt, on the contrary is getting stronger and stronger throughout the entire west.

Since he started on this trip he has been in fourteen states. In every one of them there was displayed by the people the same great interest in the man and in the doctrine of human rights which he is advocating. In every one of them there has been demonstrated a degree of enthusiasm which obviously combined great liking for Roosevelt himself and great interest and faith in the purpose of the Progressive.

All the newspapers in San Francisco with the exception of the Bulletin, are against Roosevelt. Some of them are advocating Wilson, and others still standing for Taft. Yet every paper this morning carried the Roosevelt speech in full and long accounts of the great demonstration of popular approval which greeted his arrival and his utterances.

Such extensive and fair accounts in the newspapers adverse to the Progressive cause can be taken as the surest indication that the public is with the Progressives, and that the papers are compelled to protect their own interests and to avoid public resentment, to print the truth about the Roosevelt meetings.

In connection with this, however, the newspapers of the state are printing many untruths respecting Roosevelt himself and editorial arguments intended to be misleading. That these are having little, if any effect, is shown by the spirit of the public.

Roosevelt's only candidacy that is arousing any public enthusiasm throughout this western country. Democrats believe that Wilson will be elected, but they base their calculations not upon any strong public feeling in behalf of Wilson, but upon the possibility that Roosevelt cannot get enough Progressive votes to offset the natural Democratic strength, merely because they say there are not enough Progressives in the country to elect him.

On this point it may easily prove that they are mistaken. The Progressives in the west outnumber all others, and their strength is like that of Roosevelt, growing steadily, not only in the west, but throughout the country.

Cotten-Coble

Greensboro, Sept. 5.—Distinguished by a characteristic and altogether sweet simplicity such as hovers about any event planned and wrought by the Quaker the wedding yesterday of Miss Eula Teoa Cotten, of Guilford College, to Dr. Lucien Graves Coble, of Greensboro, was wonderfully impressive and beautiful, due to a combination of artistic taste in the arrangement of the scene and to the brief and tender manner of the ceremonial. The marriage occurred at high noon in Guilford College Friend's church and was witnessed by several hundred people, many of whom were friends from this and other cities of the state.

While the people were assembling and just before the entrance of the bridal party there was rendered from within the floral bank about the altar two beautiful selections of music, "Until", sang by Mrs. W. B. Miller, of Reidsville, and "O, Promise Me," by James B. Fogleman, of Blacksburg, Va. accompanied on the Piano by Miss Bernice Craig instructor in music at Guilford College.

At the stroke of noon there came forth the notes of Lohengrin's wedding march, and at the same moment the bridal party from the doors moved down the aisles to the altar. Coming first were the bridesmaids and the groomsmen, Miss Pearl Bain with Will Halladay, of Greensboro; Miss Mattie Doughton, of Guilford College with J. A. Austin, of High Point; Miss Della Smith with J. A. Kellenberges, of Greensboro; Miss Eva Bowles of Mt. Airy, with B. W. Aiken, of Greensboro. Miss Mary Bowles of Mt. Holly, with Mr. Jesse P. Bradley of Greensboro; and Miss Irene Butler, of Reidsville, with W. B. Walker, of Greensboro—the bridesmaids gownned in lingeries with white lace hats, and each having in her arms a bunch of golden rod.

The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Cotten, sister of the bride, followed with Miss Susie Stokes, of Reidsville, second maid clothed in a lace trimmed white batiste and wearing a white lace hat. In her arms was a bunch of white chrysanthemums. Miss Stokes carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Entering on the arm of her brother, K. L. Cotten of Washington, D. C., came the bride dressed in a going away gown of dark blue with accessories to match, and having a bouquet of bride's roses. At the same time from the vestry door the bridegroom came with his best man, Joseph D. Taylor Jr. of Greensboro, meeting his bride before the ministers while the attendants stood near.

And here before the altar, which was a solid creation of flowers and evergreens in which yellow and green was the predominating scheme, formed with golden rod, palms, fern, and ivy arranged in pyramids, the wedding vows were spoken with the ring ceremony. Rev. J. E. Shenk pastor of the First Lutheran church of Greensboro assisted by Rev. Joseph Peele, of Guilford College, pronounced the ceremonial, Lohengrin's march being played the while.

Immediately after the wedding the party came to Greensboro in automobiles, Dr. and Mrs. Coble leaving on train No. 36 for an extended trip north including Richmond, Norfolk, New York, Philadelphia and Washington. At Washington they will attend the meetings of the National Dental Society which meets from the 10th to the 13th. Upon their return they will make their home in Greensboro, where Dr. Coble is a dentist.

Dr. and Mrs. Coble recieved a vast number of beautiful and useful presents. Among the visitors were Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Milner and daughter Margaret Lea, Mrs. J. W. Milner, Miss Annie E. Milner, Mrs. D. I. Caig and Mrs. Mat Reid of Reidsville; J. A. Austin, of High Point; Misses Eva and Mary Bowles, of Mt. Holly, and Howard M. Cotten, of Guilford College.

GOVERNOR WILSON ON BOSS SMITH.

The American people have determined the end of bossism in politics. Governor Wilson has responded courageously to this demand and fulfilled one of his pledges in warning the Democratic voters of New Jersey against the candidacy of James Smith for the United States senate. His declaration is a blow for political decency which members of all parties will heartily approve. He says:

"Mr. Smith's selection as the Democratic candidate for the senate would be the most fatal step backward that the Democrats of the state could possibly take. It would mean his restoration to political leadership in New Jersey the moment my services as governor ended, and with his restoration, a return to the machine rule which so long kept every active Democrat in the state in subordination to him and prevented every progressive program conceived in the interest of the people from being put into effect.

"I speak with knowledge in this matter, because at every turn of my administration since I became governor I have found his hand against the new plans of the party, his influence working steadily but covertly against everything that has substituted hope and pride for discouragement and shame in the politics of New Jersey during the twenty months during which I have been permitted to serve the people of the state."

Peace Between Italy And Turkey Arranged.

Paris, Sept. 16.—The terms of peace between Italy and Turkey have been practically arranged with the exception of a proposed loan to Turkey of between 500,000,000 and 600,000,000 francs, concerning which Italy is now communicating with French, English and Belgian financiers, according to a telegram received today by the Paris Temps from Rene Puaux one of its editors, at Geneva.

The terms of the proposed settlement include, the dispatch states, the tacit acceptance by the porte that Italian occupation of Tripoli is an accomplished fact. Turkey being permitted to retain a Mediterranean port at one of the extremities of Libya with a strip of territory allowing communication with the Arabs in the interior.

Farmers and Tobacco

Farmers of Alamance and adjoining counties doubtless are feeling blue on account of the poor prospects for a good crop of tobacco. I dare say this crop of tobacco will bring about as much money as if the seasons had been good. My reason for saying this, is on account of the shortage in pounds. Prices will be much higher than if this had been a full crop. I am just back from South Carolina. The crop was only fair there, still the general average of the entire State will be near $12 per hundred. With the crop extremely short in this State. I expect to see high prices. It behooves me to say the Burlington market will be in the best shape in its history, with all the big companies and good many small ones represented. Morgan, the Hustler, will be here to give you a hearty welcome and most of all the best prices for your tobacco that you have received in 20 years according to grade. I will open my Warehouse FRIDAY the 20th. I thank you for your liberal patronage last season and hope I will merit a continuation of the same.

COME TO SEE ME.
