A Democrat a Progressive.

Andrew Calvin, a Prominent Lawyer of New York, calls attention to a confusion of issues in the campaign. He says that the Democrats arousing as their chief argument against the Protective Tariff, that it enables the trusts to charge more for commodities in this country than they would be able to charge if the tariff were lower. He points out that the remedy to his mind, is not a reduction of the tariff but supervision of the industrial corporation, such as Progressive party pledges. He urges that a reduction of the tariff would probably result in causing one great industrial corporation to enter into "gentle agreements and contracts" with foreign manufacturers and even to some cases, the actual lease or purchase of foreign factories. "Prices would not be greatly reduced if this were done even with a reduced tariff," says Mr. Calvin, "but if found that the cost per unit of production were less on the other side, the goods would be manufactured there, as the margin of the profit to the manufacturer would be greater than if the goods were made in this country, wherever it occurred or not, the reduction, even if it accomplished the result of the commodity, would cause a great part of the manufactured articles to be produced abroad and to just the fact that this occurred our American laborers engaged in this branch of industries, would be thrown out of employment or compelled to work for less wages. "The real and clear remedy for this alleged condition, seems to me would be supervision along these of the work of the present enter Commerce Commission."

Vindicated by His Enemies.

Two weeks have elapsed since Clapp investigating committee starts its hearings to ascertain the facts regarding campaign fund contributions to the various candidates for election in previous years. The whole controversy has centered around the accusations that Roosevelt solicited directly or indirectly, funds in 1904 and in return promised, directly or indirectly, special favors to the contributors. This accusation Roosevelt denied. His denial has been verified by the Harriman correspondence, by Harriman's secretary, now administrator of Harriman's affairs; by J. P. Morgan, by Geo. Sheldon, by ex-Senator Scott, of West Virginia; by Robert Lovett, chairman of the Harriman lines. Even Mr. Archbold only "thinks" Roosevelt knew of the Standard Oil contribution, and he has even "destroyed" so valuable a document as a receipt for $10,000 with the comment, "Here's an old paper that isn't any good any more."

Even the New York Sun is forced to admit that the effort to incriminate Roosevelt has miserably failed of its purpose, and has resulted instead in his exoneration. Chairman Hilles was forced to eat crow on his charge that Roosevelt's funds this year were something enormous and were furnished by the Harvester trust, or any other trust. He only "thought" such was the case. In the short space of two weeks Roosevelt's enemies have vindicated him. — Washington Evening Times.

34 Brides From Bermuda Pledged Never to Nag Their Mates

New York, Oct. 4.—Thirty-four brides who reached New York from Bermuda on the steamship Bermudian, from a "never nag society" during the voyage. Among the things each bride agreed to do for her husband were the following:

- Get his breakfast every morning.
- Dress neatly for the morning meal.
- Kiss him when he comes home from work.
- Account for every penny she handles.
- Give him a "night-off" every week to spend where and with whom and in whatever manner he pleases.

The Agricultural Exhibit Car Visits Burlington

The Agriculture Exhibit Car from the state test farm stopped in Burlington last Saturday the 12th, for eight hours, open to the public. During the day there were six hundred and twenty six visitors, a large per cent of this number being farmers.

Their car was under the capable management of Mr. F. S. Pucket of Raleigh, N. C. assistant Director in the Department of Agriculture who in a very courteous manner made it interesting to the visitors by explaining the exhibits. The exhibits consisted of corn, wheat, hay, oats, fruits, etc. representing almost all the products of our soil, these products being from the different test farms of the state. The display was so complete and neatly arranged in all its different departments that a farmer could get more valuable information by visiting the car than he usually gets at our Agricultural fairs. This car here under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce who were fortunate in having secured it for our people.

Burlington, N. C., Oct 15th, 1912.

Mr. J. A. W. Thompson, Burlington, N. C.

Dear Sir:—

My attention has been called to your letter published in the News and State Dispatch, under date of October 2nd, in which you challenge Mr. John H. Vernon, Chairman of The Democratic Executive Committee for Alamance County, and myself as Chairman of The Progressive committee of the County, to take a decided stand with reference to the corrupt use of money in campaigns. Replying there to I wish to say that I am in hearty agreement with you in your very commendable stand on these questions and I believe (contrary to the opinion of Mr. Vernon) that you were accused by higher motives than mere political advertising. I shall not impugn your motive in the least, but on the contrary, I wish to commend your position and to pledge to you my hearty support in your efforts to stop the corrupt use of money in campaigns and also underhanded schemes resorted to by politicians to accomplish their purpose.

I trust that you will continue to agitate this question, and although your motive may be mistaken and your statements misunderstood, you will have your reward in the consciousness that you have performed one of the highest of patriotic duties any citizen is capable of performing for our beloved country. I am sure that all good citizens, regardless of political affiliations will welcome your service this respect and that you will be able to accept my congratulations.

Very truly yours,
W. W. Brown, Chairman.
