

The Telephone and Good Roads

The telephone goes hand in hand with good roads.

The telephone overcomes many of the obstacles of bad roads and makes it possible for the farmer and other rural residents to transact business in the city and with neighbors when the roads are impassable.

Progressive farmers are insisting upon good roads and telephones. These two agencies of modern civilization are doing more than all others toward eliminating the isolation of country life. You can have a telephone in your home at very small cost. Send a postal for our free booklet giving complete information.

Swat!—For the Night is Coming.

Appropo of the present fly-killing campaign, about which much has been written, we submit the following bits of ragged rhyme, which if committed to memory, will aid materially in the destruction of the festive fly.

I love to see a little fly And pat him on the head—How prettily he wags his tail Whenever he is fed.

Then I'll not swat the little fly Nor give him needless pain—I'll let him chew my ear, my eye With all his might and main.

That was the old idea. But today it is this way:

When'er I see a little fly, I'll swat him on the head—I'll swat him with a swater's hand

Until the fly is dead,
And then this is good to paste in your pocket-book.

Remember if you want to live And do not want to die—
The only thing for you to do Is swat—just swat the fly!

And then this:

Oh, I will swat the pesky fly, I'll swat him through and through.

I'll swat him and I'll watch him die
I'll swat him black and blue!

And the last one:

Lest I forget! Lest I forget!
I'll swat the festive fly—I'll swat him good and hard, you bet

I'll swat him till I die!

And in this way, ladies and gentlemen, we will all help in keeping down disease.—Greensboro Patriot.

HORNE MONUMENT.

Raleigh, April 9.—The splendid monument to the North Carolina Women of the Confederacy to be presented to the State by Col. Ashley Horne must be in position in southwest section of Capitol Square, opposite the main entrance to the new State building, within 12 months from this date. The commission in charge accepted definitely today the one submitted by Artist Augustus Lakerman of New York. The members of the commission were Hon. J. A. Long, Rexford, Chairman; G. J. Bryan, Grimes, R. D. W. Connor, Raleigh; Walter H. A. London, Pittsburg. The absent member was Mrs. Williams of Newton, who represents the daughters of the Confederacy.

The monument will show on a central pedestal an elderly woman typifying the women of the Confederacy. She is seated and holds an open book, the history of the Confederacy, in her lap. Kneeling by her and holding his father's sword in his hand is a youth, her grandson, to whom she is telling of the heroism and sacrifice of the soldiers of the Confederacy. The figures will be cast in bronze. On either side of the pedestal will be relief representations of husbands, sons and sweethearts taking leave of loved ones to go to the front at the beginning of the war and the tears and broken veterans returning at the close of the terrible struggle.

WRONGED HUSBAND ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE

St. Paul, Minn., Apr. 3.—Prof.
Oscar Olson, formerly of the University of Minnesota, who admitted he shot and killed Clyde N.
Darling, a laundryman, for wrecking his home, took the witness stand this evening and sobbed audibly as the relatives between Mrs. Olson and Darling were wronged from him.

The courtroom was crowded and many wept with the defendant, who presented the picture of a broken-spirited man.
Mrs. Olson buried her face in her hands and wept softly throughout her husband's testimony.

"My wife confessed to me that there had been illicit relatives between herself and Darling, and I warned him to keep away from my home," Olson testified.

He continued to come despite the warning and finally succeeded in tearing down the happiness of the home.

"The night of the shooting I was alone," said the witness.
"I heard a noise and went to the kitchen to investigate. I saw a man standing inside the door, and I recognized Darling.

"Oh! it's you, you, he said, and took a step towards me. I had my revolver and fired twice in rapid succession. A second later I saw the wrecker of my home throw his arms into the air and fall limply to the floor."

Professor Olson testified that he first learned of Mrs. Olson's relatives with Darling June 16 last.

"When I returned from my office, my wife told me Darling had hugged and kissed her," Olson continued. "I saw Darling one day later in the presence of the man for whom he was working. When I accused him of insulting my wife he turned pale. Then he recovered himself and said: 'I admit it; it's all my fault.'"

"While in Clearbrook, Minn., November 12 last, I received a message from my wife urging me to return home immediately.
She met me at the door and said:
'Oscar, I look demoted? That devilish laundryman is haunting me again. He has been here several times and I can't resist his overtures. Please help me to keep him from me.'"

Olson repeated the details leading to the crime. Several times during his testimony his sobbing forced an interruption.
Mrs. Olson is expected to tell her story on the stand tomorrow.

NOTICE!

Road Tax For 1913, Due.
The special road poll tax for the year 1913 is now due and payable until the first day of April.

Under the old the Treasurer was paid a small commission for collecting and handling this fund.
And heretofore I have given that commission to those who looked after it in the different Townships. But now under the Salary law there is no provision made for any one to be paid anything out of this fund. Therefore, unless some one will volunteer to collect without charge in the townships, I cannot put the books out, as has been my custom. According to instruction from the County Commissioners, the books will be at my office in the court house in Graham, and all persons desiring to pay will pay to me, unless they find some one else with the books.

Respectfully,
Albert J. Thompson,
Treasurer Alamance County
