als Springs, In. Int. 22.-Thore et that there is to be a is a prospect that there is to be a real gold been in the Ouarks. Scene ivaling these of Lendville, Deadwood and Cripple Creek may be repeated especially if the gold discovery zecent ly made two and one half miles north this place by J. G. Meass on his homestead in his Three-Ply mine turns out to be the besazs upon more thorough development than it appears to be now

Real gold has been discovered. Gold. that one can see in the rock with the naked eys. Gold ore that the Government same office at Philadelphia says runs $18.60 per ton, with the asmy certificate signed by the assayer with a statement from the director of the mint. Rich enough by far to be worked at an enormous profit, with apparently countless tons of rock in the ground where for thirteen years has toiled in his tunnel in the ravine below his house as time and money would permit.

The mine lies between two high mountains, a quarter of a mile from the Mease residence. From the house the path has been worn smooth and deep and forth by this persistent old man, firm in his faith that some day he cinated. Today it was found that the would go down the hill in the morn- cause of the scare had only a bad case ing a poor man and come back up at of measles. night rich beyond his fondest dreams.

The gold is scattered through the rock in different places in very minute particles, being rarely discernible. Mr. Mease terms it flour gold, ly composed. He further states that the gold is of a much higher grade than California gold.

The character of the ore leads to the belief that it can be profitably treated with a simple stamp-mill.

This is not the first discovery of in Arkansas, but the assays showed such small returns that commercially the ore had no value. In some instances gold has also been found associated with iron ore and iron pyrites in small quantities, but was not not be separated successfully because to pay.

Smallpox Scare Leads to Clerk's Vacciantion.

Altoons, Pa., Jan. 22 .-- Officials and lerks in the Pennsylvania Laboratory Building here were much relieved to. day when they found that what had at first been diagnosed at smallpox Mr. Mease, now seventy years old, was only measles. A clerk in Master Mechanic J. C. Mengle's office became ill and skin eruptions on his body led the attending physician to pronounce his ailment smallpox.

Doors were locked and the one hundred or more men detained until their path has been worn smooth and clothing could be fumigated and the by thirteen years of travel back suites disinfected. Some clarks were escorted to a doctor's office and vac-

Exports of United States Show In-CTCLER.

Washington, Jan. 22 .-- The foreign commerce of the United States in the calendar year 1913 approximated one and three-quarter billion dollars of imports and two and one-half billion of exports. The imports of the eleven months ending with November were 1,609 million, and should the December imports equal those of November, the total for the full year would be $1,756,000,000. The exports of the eleven months ended with November were 2,251 million, and should the Docomber exports equal those of November, the total would be $2,497,000,000. This estimate would make the excess of exports over imports approximately 740 million dollars.

The figures of exports and of excess of exports over imports will exceed those of any earlier year. The largest export in any proceeding calendar year was that of 1912, which showed a total of $2,399,217,933; and as the eleven months ended with November are 102 million in excess of the corresponding period of the preceding year, the estimate of approximately two and one-half billion for 1913 seems to be justified. The excess of exports over imports in the eleven months ended with November was 642 million dollars, and for the single month of November 97 million, thus apparently justifying the estimate of 740 million excess of exports In imports, the total for 1913 will will be less than that of 1912, but larger than that of any year preceding 1912. This decline in imports in 1913 is due in part in reductions in prices of certain articles mported. While the guantity of sugar imported in the ten months ended with October exceeded that of the corresponding period of 1912 by 368 million pounds, the value of this larger quantity imported during the 1913 period was 22 million dollars less than that of the corresponding period of 1912.

Coffee imports are much below the 1912 figures for the ten months ended with October 1913, being 635 million pounds against 752 million in the same period of last year and the value but 80 million dollars, sgainst 104 million dollars in the corresponding period of last year. Ten shows a fall in imports of one and one-half million dollars in value. Manufacturers' materials show, as a group, a decline of about five per cent. when compared with the corresponding period of last year, this being due, in part, to a reduction of prices and in some instances, a reduction in quantity. Imports of crude rubber, for example, show for the ten months ended with October a reduction of a little over one million pounds in quantity, but a reduction of 16 million dollars in value. Copper imports show an increase in quantity over the corresponding period of last year, both in ore and in the group, pigs, bars, old and igots. Raw silk shows a marked increase in the quantity imported in 1913.
