TO EMPLOYERS.

(By Rev. J. W. Chapman, D. D.) "Bear ye one another's burdens."—Gal. 6:2.

To buy time and misuse it is a great responsibility.

To control physical strength and abuse it is a greater still.

To hold a position where one may influence hearts, minds and lives for good or evil is beyond them all.

It is quite as necessary that we should sympathize with the great as those who are not in such conspicuous positions before the world. However, it may be seriously questioned whether employers understand how necessary it is to be.

Sympathetic—one word of true sympathy to the one who toils out of sight may give the world a great captain of industry or a woman who would make a noble leader of her sex.

Generous—not in wages only, but in general treatment. The investment would be a good one. It is human to respond to kindness.

Honest—it is not fair to give a wage which forces a girl to be impure and a boy to steal.

Friendly—it costs nothing to be kind. A smile, a nod of the head, a hand shake, a recognition of real worth on the part of the employer as he considers his employe; this would help to solve the difficulties existing today between the two.

Query: Do you ever consider the claims of Christ? Do you know that you will be one day obliged to answer to Him for the use or abuse of your privileges? Why not let Him direct you now, so that you may fairly meet Him after a while?

FOWL MURDER STIRS TOWN.

Mrs. Joseph Guy, wife of the tollgate keeper on the Little Ferry bridge over the Hacknesack river, saw a man and a woman, crossing the bridge, step to the hail at dusk Saturday night. The man carried a bag from which came faint cries that Mrs. Guy took to be those of a baby.

Before she could reach him the man flung his burden into the river. The pair fled as it sank out of sight. Mrs. Guy phoned to the police at Little Ferry and Ridgefield Park, N. J., telling them a man had just thrown a baby tied in a sack into the river: The news spread and a great crowd gathered yesterday when men dragged the river from boats.

Late yesterday afternoon grappling hooks fastened in the bag and it was drawn to the surface. Inside was something soft weighing about 10 pounds. Quickly the bag was ripped open and Constable John Agar dragged forth its contents. Mrs. Guy shrieked as she saw a 10-pound Wyandotte rooster, dead of course.

Then every one asked: "But why go to all that trouble to kill a rooster?"—New York World.
