Liberalism is a failure in North Carolina.

What will now become of the democratic portion of the liberals?

The principles of the republican party still lives and we hope to see it again flourish.

The late election is a democratic victory but not a republican defeat. Liberalism is not republicanism.

The MESSENGER is now sent to all the institutions of learning in this and adjoining States.

The election has taken our time and mind this week. Our readers should not expect a good paper this week.

Take this paper now. We intend the first of the year. Every reading colored person in the city should take it.

Zion Wesley Institute is now in full operation. Rev. J. C. Price is the principal. For particulars and circulars, address Rev. C. R. Harris, Salisbury, N. C.

Who did it? Johnson, Leach and Price, with their little hatchets, cutting off the heads of republicans and hatching whiskey democrats in their stead.

There was a very lively contest for the constable places in this township, there being eight candidates. Our candidate, Sam J. Caldwell and John Orr were elected.

Republicans simply rest on their arms in North Carolina. They are not defeated. They laugh at the liberal defeat and will be prepared for the democrats in '84.

Think of it! Dowd's majority in this county in 1880 was 36 over Col. Myers. Now it is 488 over Johnson.

The editor of this paper came here to stay. He is not ready to gather his carpet sack yet. He hopes to do the people of this community some good as well as himself.

Now is your time to take the MESSENGER while money is plentiful. Don't forget it.

THE ELECTION.

The democrats claim a regular Waterloo. We are not ready to give up all hopes yet. We do not think it so bad as they say, though reliable reports come very slow.

The democrats claim this State by ten thousand. New York gives 120,000 democratic majority. Old Massachusetts goes democratic 20,000, and elects Ben Butler Governor.

WHAT IT TEACHES.

The result of the recent election in North Carolina teaches us some very important lessons. But then, have we not been taught the same lessons before?

One thing we are taught is, that prohibition has not divided the democratic party as bad as the republican party. That democracy is much stronger in North Carolina than prohibition.

It teaches us that men who have been ostracised and persecuted for the sake of the principles of the great old party and have carried her to victory should not be entirely ignored and that their opinions are us also that every party, to live, must have a principle based upon moral right.

ALL RIGHT NOW.

We regret very much that we have ever had cause to put ourselves in an unpleasant attitude, and have been looked upon as in opposition to the interests of our own race.

We have just passed through a heated campaign. The result is now known to the world. Mistakes are very easily seen now, when they cannot be remedied.

bring about this result. We did not like to say so, but we saw some weeks ago that more Republican votes were to be lost in this county, than would be made up by the liberals.

N. W. Harlee is elected Register of Deeds of Richmond county by a handsome majority.

Robeson county went republican 150 majority.

Cumberland elected part Democratic and part republican ticket.

Cabarrus gave over 600 democratic majority.

Anson, Union and Stanley went as usual—democratic. Gaston went democratic.

The first, third and seventh districts of North Carolina are still in doubt, with the chances against the democrats.

THE COLOR LINE.

In the Columbia Law School. A meeting of the students of the Columbia Law School was held in the Columbia Law building Monday evening to take action in regard to the presence of a colored student, Mr. S. L. Williams.

JUST HERE THE SENSIBLE MAJORITY of those present took hold of the case, and a substitute was offered reciting that "the negro by his gentlemanly conduct and excellent ability was entitled to a seat in Columbia or any other college."

It is proper to state that nearly all the students in the Columbia law school have arrived at man's estate, many of them being voters in the States in which they reside.
