Clinring on to this life as though it were all; forgetful of the fact that the great picture gallery, the great throne room, the great grand-ur and glory are all ahead. In the year 1835, the French thought in Ghent they would have a musical demonstration such as the world had never seen, and it was made up of the chime of bells and discharge of cannon. It was a grand and glorious success, nothing ever, perhaps, like it heard on earth. It was a triumphal march hat has become a matter of history. When the cannon were fired and when the bells of all the churches and all the towers rang the effect was overwhelming. But grander will be the accompaniement of God's children when they go out of this world at the blast of the judgment trumpet, and when God shall call them home the bells of the churches and all the towers and all the light houses will chime, and the sound will be joined by the booming of bursting magazine and fortress and augmented by all the cathedral towers of Heaven. The harmonious celestial and the harmonious terrestial united in one great march fit to celebrate the ascent of a soul to where it shall shine as the stars forever and forever. With such considerations we may look back upon the flying years without a single regret, and with excitation forever and forever. With such considerations we may look back upon the flying years without a single regret, and with excitation forward to the time when the archangel, with one foot on the sea and the other on the land, shall swear by Him that liveth forever and ever that time shall be no longer.

General Sherman was at the Ebbitt House to get shaved, and when about to leave the barber's room was accosted by a white-haired gentleman who begged to speak with him for a moment. General Sherman looked at him and tried to recall his name. "I think I have met you somewhere," he said. The gentleman who accosted him then introduced himself as Captain King, the oldest living officer of the army, who entered the service in 1818, fourteen years before General Sherman entered the Military Academy as a cadet. Captain King was in emy as a cadet. Capte in King was in the Mexican war, and his reminiscences naturally go much further back than those of the late General commanding the army.—Washington Capital.

(From the Weekly Record, Dundee, N. Y.)

There are many people in this country who are suffering untold agony from the ravages of diseases, who have been medicated until the very sound of the word "medicine" sends a thrill of horror through their sensitive organism, and yet they are still looking—looking for something that will prove a benea thrill of horror through their sensitive organism, and yet they are still looking—looking for something that will prove a benefit to their shattered constitution and restore to them their health. To this class of sufferers the Record, without solicitation, desires to say a few words, not with the intent to advertise a man who to-day is doing more for this class of sufferers than pen can describe, but because we Runc, notonly from personal experience, but from the experience of others, that what we are about to say in regard to Dr. Kilmer, of Binghamton, N. Y., and his Herbal Remedies are facts, and it is a pleasure to let the sufferer know that there is a Medicine that has done, and is still doing so much lasting bonefit to the afflicted. Dr. Kilmer has been represented in the advertising columns of the Record for over two years, and during that period we have received many communications asking if his Remedies were as represented, and have always feit that we could asfely recommend them. Dr. Kilmer is one of the best-read Physicians of the present day. He probably has the largest practice and examines and treats personally more patients at his large and fully equipped office in Binghamton yearly, than any other physician in the country.

These Herbal Remedies which he sends out are prepared and prescribed by him in his own private practice. Their component parts are carefully selected from Nature's great laboratory, and are compounded in a scientific manner so as to be especially adapted to the different forms of diseases for which they are used. They are the result of years of hard, patient study of the science of medicine.

the different forms of diseases for which they are used. They are the result of years of hard, patient study of the science of medicine.

There seems to be at the present time a tendency towarla great many Kidney, Liver and Bladder troubles with the people of this country, and we wish to speak more particularly about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure. We will say on the outset, we are not writing sensational "gush" for Dr. Kilmer's Dwamp-Root Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure. We will say on the outset, we are not writing sensational "gush" for Dr. Kilmer, but knowing personally as we do, of many important cures wrought from the use of this medicine, we believe it to be our duty to the allicted to encourage them to avail themselves of the use of this valuable Remedy.

We know a Mr. Chas. E. Roe, of Unionville, Steuben Co., N. Y. who had. Bright's disease, and was told by the best Physicians of Hornellsville, N. Y., that there was no hope for him, who was prevailed upon by a friend to try Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root Kidney Cure. He did so, without the least idea of being benefited, but the result was most gratifying to himself and family, for he was cured. Saved from death by that dreadful disease. Another case, that of Russell Sandford, of Wayne, Steuben Co., who had a terrible bowel difficulty which would not yield to the medical skill of good doctors, who, at our own solicitation, tried Swamp-Root, and he told us after using several bottles his trouble was removed, although he had no control over his bowels for a year previous to using the medicine and had been told that he would never be any better, and that his earthly career was limited. Our druggists here in Dundee tell us they have sold hundreds of bottles of this medicine and in no instance have they ever heard aught but praise from the persons using it. We might mention scores of similar cases that, to our own personal knowledge, have been helped out of serious trouble by using Swamp-Root. We hope it will help some one, and we have no fea

Bone-Hunting on the Plains.

A few years ago, when buffaloes were more plentiful on the great Western plains than they are to-day or ever will be again, they were ruthlessly slaughtered by unsportsmanlike hunters, who gained the name of "skin-strippers," since their only motive in slaying the beasts was to secure their hides. There beasts was to secure their hides. There was always a great and steady demand for buffalo-robes, and the "skin-strippers" found their occupation as profitable as it was wanton and unjustifiable. The largest element of dange that entered into the pursuit was from the Indians; but, on the other hand, in a number of cases the Indians were co-operators with the white speculators in buffalo hides, and assisted in keeping the Fastern market well supplied.

and assisted in keeping the Eastern market well supplied.

It is hardly necessary to say that the business of skinning buffaloes could not under any circumstances, nor with any amount of co-operation by the Indians, prove profitable or even self-supporting at the present time. The buffalo is fast becoming extinct, and such surviving becoming extinct, and such surviving members of his race as are left in the great Northwest have become wary and elusive. It will never again be possible for the enterprising "skin-strippers" to sweep down upon enermous herds of these noble though ungainly creatures and slaughter them by the score, leaving their skin-denuded carcasses to rot upon the plains, or furnish food for the wolves and covotes. Fealizing this fact, the the plains, or furnish food for the wolves and coyotes. Pealizing this fact, the "skin-strippers" have either taken up a new and less exciting occupation, and are now known as 'bone-hunters," or have abandoned the buffalo industry altogether. The "outfit" of the bone-hunter is a familiar spectacle in the Territory of Montana and in other portions of the West where the slaughter of buffaloes by the wholesale has been of com-

of the West where the staughter of buf-faloes by the wholesale has been of com-paratively recent date.

That the gathering of buffalo bones is a recognized industry is easily proved by the following figures. During the season of 1883-4 there were shipped East over the line of the Northern Pacific over the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad alone 7,856 tons, or nearly 800 cars, of bones. These bones were brought to various points on the line of the railroad by the bone hunters, and were then sold to the agents of the consumers. They were at that time worth about $24 a ton at the market, and paid the railroad company on an average a little over $65 a ton in freight charges. They are used chiefly by sugar refinerics, bone-black establishments, and carbon works, the Detroit Carbon Works being one of the largest places of consumption in the largest places of consumption in the country. They are also used extensively at St. Louis and at Philadelphia.—Harper's Weekly.

Failures Are Plentiful.

An old merchant said years ago that not more than 1 per cent, of the best class of merchants succeed without failing in Fhiladelphia. Not more than 2 per cent, of the merchants of New York ultimately retire on an independence after having submitted to the usual ordeal of failure, and not more three out of every hundred merchants in Boston acquire an independence. In Cincinnati, out of 400 business men in business twenty years ago five are now doing business.—Dry Goods Chronicle.
