drawn. It was not the coming on of a night that soothes and refreshes; it was the swinging of a great gloom all around the heavens. God hung it. As when there is a dead one in the house you how the shutters or turn the lattice, so God in the af-ternoon shut the windows of the world. As it is appropriate to throw a black pall upon the coffin as it passes along, so it was appro-priate that everything should be sombre that day as the great hearse of the earth rolled on, bearing the corpse of the King. A man's last hours are ordinarily kept sacred. However you may have hated or caricatured a man, when you hear he is dying silence puts its hand on your lips, and you would have a loathing for the man who could stand by a death-bed making faces and scoffing. But Christ in His last hour cannot be left alone. Whati You have been drinking His tears, do you want to drink his blood? They came up closely, so that, notwithstandin. want to drink his bloot. They church dark losely, so that, notwithstandin' the dark ness, they can glut their revenge with the contortions of his countenance. They exam-ine his feet. They want to feel for them-selves whether those feet are really spiked. They put out their hands and touch the spikes, and bring them back wet with blood, and wipe them on their garments. Women stand there and weep, but can do no good. It is no place for tender-hearted wo-men. It wants a heart that crime hasturned into granite. The waves of man's hatred and of hell's vengeance dash up against the mangled feet, and the hands of sin and pain and torture clutch for His holy heart. Had He not been thoroughly fastened to the cross they would have torn Him down and trampled Him with both feet. How the cavairy horses arched their necks, and champed their bits, and reared and snuffed at the blood. Had a Roman officer called put for a light his voice would not have been cavalry horses arched their necks, and champed their bits, and reared and snuffed at the blood. Had a Roman officer called put for a light his voice would not have been heard in the tumult; but louder than the clash of the spears, and the wailing of womanhood, and the neighing of the charg-ers, and the bellowing of the crucifiers, there comes a voice crashing through, loud, clear, overwhelming, terrific. It is the groan of the dying Son of God. Look! What a scene! Look, oh world, at what yon lave done! I lift the covering from that mai-treated Christ to let you count the wounds and estimate the cost. Oh, when the nails went through Christ's right hand and christ's left hand—that brought both your hands with all their power to work, and lift, and write. When the nails went through Christ's right foot and Christ's left foot—that bought your feet, with all their power to walk, or run, or climb. When the thorn went into Christ's temple— that bought your brain with all its power to think and plan. When the spear cleft christ's side—that bought your heart with all its power to love, and repent, and pray. Oh, sinner, come back! If a man is in no pain, if he is propered, if he is well, and he asks you to come, you take your time and you say: "I can't come now." Put Gome after awhile. There is no haste." But if he is in want and trouble you say: "I' must go right away. I must go now." To day Jesus stretches out before you two wounded hauds, and He begs you to come. Go and you live. Stay away and you die. Oh, that to Him who bought us, we might give all our time, and all our prayers, and all our successes! I would we could think of nothing else, that do a you would begin to love Him! Would that I could take this and lie neck and say: "Thine, Lord, will I be forever." Oh, that to-day you would begin

When, in 18%5, the Atlantic cable was lost. do you remember that the Great Eastern and the Medway and the Albany went out to flad it! Thirty times they sank the grapple two and a half miles deep in the water. After awhile they found the cable and brought it to the surface. No sconer had it been brought it to the surface. No sconer had it been brought it to the surface. No sconer had it been brought it to the surface than they lifted a shout of ex-ultation, but the cable slipped back again into the water and was lost. Then for two weeks more they swept the sea with the grappling hooks, and at last they found the cable and they brought if up in silence. cable and they brought it up in silence. They fastened it this time. Then with great excitement they took one end of the cable to the electricians' room to see if there were really any life in it, and when they saw a spark and knew that a message could be sent, then every hat was lifted, and the rockets flew, and hat was litted, and the rockets flew, and the guns sounded until all the vessels on the expedition knew the work was done, and the continents wore lashed together. Well, my friends, Sabbath after Sabbath, we have come searching down for your soul. We have swept the sea with the grappling kook of Christ's gospel. Again and again we have thought you were at the surface, and began to rejoice over your redemption; bu at the moment of our gladness you sank back again into the world and back again into int. To-day we come with this Gospel search-ing for your soul. We apply the cross of Christ first to see whether there is any life left in you, while all around the people stand, looking to see whether there is any life left on see whether there is and up a shout that would be heard on the battle-ments of heaven, and two worlds would keep jubilee because communication is open be-tween Christ and the soul, and your nature that has been sunken in the deep sea of sin has been lifted into the light and the joy of the Gospel!

The same quantity of blood that passes through the heart, passes through the kidneys, if the kidneys are the blood soaks up this disease and takes it all through the sys-tem. Hence it is, that the claim is made that Warner's safe cure, the only known spe-cif for kidney giesaese, cures 90 per cent. of human ailments, because it, and it alone, is able to maintain the natural activity of the kidneys, and to neutralize and remove the uric acid, or kidney poison, as fast as it is formed. If this acid is not removed, there is inactiv-ity of the kidneys, and there will be produced in the system paralysis, apoplexy, dyspep-sia, consumption, heart disease, headaches, in a majority of cases, would not exit. kidneys are the most important organs in the body. They may regard this article as an adver-tisement and refuse to believe it, but that is a matter over which we have no control. Careful. investigation and science itself are proving beyond a doubt that this organ is, in fact, more important than any other in the system as a health regulator, and as such should be closely wat hed for the least sign of disordered action.

Queen Victoria's Long Reign.

Queen Victoria's Long Reign. In the thousand and sixty years which have elapsed since Egbert was made King of all England, there has been but three occupants of the throne whose reigns have been so prolonged as that of Queen Victoria. But her majesty will, in the course of this year, have reigned, in one sense, longer than any English sovereign; for of the three kings whose reigns will have exceeded her's at the Jubilee celebration, in June next, not one actually ruled for so long a period as fifty years. King Henry III, was crowned on the death of King John in 1216, but the regency was intrusted to the Earl of Pembroke, and it was not until 1222 that the king was declared of age. King Edward III. succeeded to the throne on the deposition of his father in 1327; but it was not tutil 1330 that he assumed the government, so that he only ruled from that date to his death in 1377—forty-seven years. King George III. practically ceased to reign six weeks after the completion of his fifty years' reign; but if we except the period dur-ing which his former mental affliction

The Sun Going Out.

Sir W. Thomson, who is in many respects the most sensational of all our scientists. has declared at the royal in-stitution that the sun is going out at the titution that the sun is going out at the rate of thirty-five metres a year. In 2,-000 years its radius would be 100 per cent. less than at present, and in 10,000,-000 years it will have shrunk so much that life will be impossible on this planet. As this puts the extinction of the race at a date beyond our time, this prophecy will probably attract less atten-tion than Sir William's calculation that the sun cannot have existed more than 20,000.000 years. This, if correct would the sun cannot have existed more than 20,000,000 years. This, if correct, would be a staggering blow to many received evolutionary theories which require much more elbow room than a paltry twenty millions of years. — Palt Mail Ga-stile.

reign; but if we except the period dur-ing which his former mental affliction lasted—namely, from the beginning of November, 1:89, until the following February—his majesty's actual rule fell below the period of fifty years.—London National Review.

In some of the great sawmill estab-lishments of the Western States circular saws of six feet diameter are run at about 750 revolutions per minute, some have been driven at a speed of 880 revolutions. When working at 750 revo-lutions the teeth of the saw will travel through nearly three miles in a minute.
