Pasture proposes to rid Australia of its rabbits, which have become a dangerous pest, by inoculating them with chicken cholera.

Dr. Siebert, a German-American physician in New York, a competent authority on the subject, holds that pneumonia is a house disease and is infectious, but not contagious. The relief and the prevention are no medicine and plenty of fresh air.

One electric light system for cars embodies both the dynamo and storage battery, seeking to overcome the defects from one source of electricity by the use of its conjugate. Dynamo and engine are in the baggage-car, and steam supplied from the locomotive, the storage battery taking up the work when the loco is uncoupled.

The singular fact is demonstrated that while the most rapid cannon shots scarcely attain a velocity of six hundred meters a second, over fifteen hundred knots per hour, meteorites are known to penetrate their with a velocity of forty thousand or even sixty thousand meters per second, a velocity which raises the air at once to a temperature of 4,000 degrees to 6,000 degrees cent.

Electricity has at length been turned toward the propulsion of an ordinary carriage. At Brighton, England, lately, a dogcart with a one-half-horse power motor, and with accumulators equal to six hours' work, was shown in operation. The vehicle will go nine miles an hour on asphalt and four miles on an ordinary macadamized road. It is not of much account climbing hills.

We see it stated that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., has under consideration a plan for working some forty pneumatic gates at crossings in Minneapolis, Minn., by an air compressor in the shops. A pipe line will tap a storage and equalizing reservoir in each cabin, and connect with the compressor, and cooling and drying tank in the shops. It is not proposed to lay the pipe below frost.

The latest idea in the direction of a stout calfskin vamp, seamless, underlying which is a vamp of thin rubber, and between it and the lining, which is of stout canvas. The bottom of the shoe has a rubber interlining between the outer and the inner soles, and thus the shoe is about as near waterproof as a leather shoe can be. It is said to wear well and preserve its waterproof qualities for an indefinite period.

Some instantaneous photographs of bullets in motion have recently been taken in Germany by Herren Mach and P. Salcher. The object of the experiment was to determine the waves formed in their displaced by the motion of the bullet. Experiments were, therefore, made with the Werndl carbine, giving a velocity of 1,110 feet per second; and the Guedes rifle, with a velocity of 1,730 feet per second; and with these very distinct photographs were obtained, showing in the clearest possible manner the character of the waves set up by the bullet in its passage.

Veneer manufacturers having been put to much trouble and expense to secure from the natives of Persia, or from French markets, even fancy wood burls from which to carve out veneers for manufacturing purposes, have demonstrated by recent experiments that red wood stumps possess meritorious qualities for such use and will undoubtedly be substituted for the more costly woods in the future. The demand for burl and curly red wood for finishing work has already reached large proportions in the West. The large butts of trees now being slain in California forests will be used to a great extent.

Indian Engineering announces that a remarkable engineering feat has just been carried out in China in the face of unusual physical obstacles. This was the stretching of a steel cable of seven strands across the Iuan river by Mr. A. de Linde, a Danish civil engineer, aided only by unskilled Chinese labor. The cable is strung from two points, 4,648 feet apart. The height of one support is 447 feet above the present level of the river, and the second support is 737 feet above it. The vertex over the water is 78 feet. The Chinese cable is the largest but one in the world.

Lincoln Never Read a Novel. While Edwin Forrest was playing an engagement at Ford's Theatre, Mr. Carpenter spoke to the President one day of the actor's fine interpretation of the character of Richelieu, and advised him to witness the performance. The conversation occurred in the presence of Senator Harris, of New York. "Who wrote the play?" asked the President of Mr. Carpenter. "Bulwer," was the reply. "Ah," he rejoined, "Well, I knew Bulwer wrote novels, but I did not know he was a play writer also. It may seem somewhat strange to say," he continued, "but I never read an entire novel in my life." Said Judge Harris: "Is it possible?" "Yes," returned the President, "it is a fact. I once commenced 'Ivanhoe,' but never finished it."

Life in Bogota. Mrs. Bernard Whitman, who has been lecturing in Boston, gave some interesting details concerning life in Bogota, the capital of the South American Republic of Colombia. Though but four degrees north of the equator, the mistake was often made that Bogota was warm; its high elevation, however, gave it a sharp degree of cold, though never descending to freezing. The dampness prevents the adobe houses from retaining wall-paper in the lower stories, which are whitewashed. Fruits were high. Apples ranged from forty cents to five dollars apiece. Kerosene was $2.60 per gallon. The daily routine was, men to business, women to church. Children carry their own chairs to school. "The paper will be published when we have any news," was a familiar feature of journalism.

A Michigan man has perfected a machine by which he can cut staves for seventeen barrels, completely chined, crozed, and equalized in fifty seconds. There are just two staves to a barrel, each stave being a perfect half section of a barrel. The machine increases the capacity of 1,000 feet of log measure fifty barrels; and as a labor saving invention represents an advance of 60 per cent. on old methods. The inventor has been working twenty years on the machine.

Betraying a Hidden Malady.

How do I know that man had something the matter with his right ear," repeated a Delaware street aurist with whom a Journal reporter was talking. "Why, because he told me so. Didn't you see him do it?"

The reporter confessed that he had not heard the man make any remark as he passed the window, where the aurist and the visitor were sitting.

"Well, he did it. Out there on the corner of my house I have a little tin sign containing my name, beneath which are the words: 'Eye and Ear.' Now, it is a very strange phenomenon, but nine out of ten who are troubled with afflictions of the eye or ear will reveal the location of their disease when they see that sign. They do it unconsciously. A man passes in a deep brown study. He is oblivious of everything. Even the direction and the style of his gait are mechanical. When he is opposite that sign he is mechanically reminded that he is interested in it, and he begins to investigate the magnitude of his interest. If his eye is sore he will rub it; if he wears glasses he will take them off and wipe them, or if his hearing is bad he will put his hand to his ear. It is all mechanically done. That man to whom I called your attention put his hand to his right ear when he saw the sign. The demonstration is a freak of nature which shows that we can never become so engrossed in anything as to be regardless of ourselves."—Indianapolis Journal.

Coldest Night Ever Known in America.

The other day there was in the city quite a distinguished young man, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. His celebrity consists of his having recorded the lowest temperature ever observed within the bounds of civilization. His name is George A. Carden, and he was on his way from Lama, Mo., to Chicago, where he will act as Assistant Observer in the Signal Office. It was on New Year's morning, 1885, that Mr. Carden, then Signal Service Observer at Poplar River, Montana, sent on the solitary telegraphic wire that connected him with the world outside this brief but startling announcement: "Temperature 62.1 degrees below zero." "I tossed about all night trying to keep warm," said Mr. Carden. "The big stove I kept nearly red hot, but still the little room would not get warm. It seemed as cold as the outer air. Upon me I had piled covering equivalent to twenty thicknesses of blankets. Army blankets, buffalo robes, buffalo coats, cloth coats, everything in the shape of protection, was heaped upon my little bed, yet still I shivered under it all. No one can form an idea of the cold that night. I had to wear the heaviest mittens, and my sealskin cap was pulled down over my ears. Once, when I reached my bare hand out of the bed to throw another stick of wood on the fire it was so benumbed that I had to drop the stick. Mind you, all this time the fire was roaring and crackling."

It is now possible for a traveler to go direct by rail from the City of Mexico to British Columbia, a distance of 6,000 miles. This has been made possible by the recent completion of the California and Oregon Railway.

Are the months in which to purify the blood, for at no other season is the body so susceptible to benefit from medicine. The peculiar purifying and restorative qualities of Hood's Sarsaparilla are needed to expel disease and fortify the system against the debilitating effects of mild weather. Every year increases the popularity of Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it is just what people need at this season. It is the ideal spring medicine. If you have never tried it, do so.

Hood's Sarsaparilla. "For many months I suffered greatly. My whole system seemed to be entirely run down, my ambition was gone, had pains in my back, and a feeling of lassitude which I could not throw off. I was treated unsuccessfully for kidney trouble. One day at my brother's I saw a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and determined to try it. Before the first bottle was taken I could eat and sleep, and I have used the medicine off and on ever since, and recommend it for kidney or liver complaints." Mrs. W. H. STRAND, 937 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Seeing in the Dark.

The following cases of seeing in the dark are well authenticated. Dr. Seiler relates that a clergyman was one pitch-dark night attacked by a couple of foot-pads. One of them dealt him so violent a blow on the right eye, that, owing to the excitation of the optic nerve, he was enabled to identify his assailants and bring them to justice. Suetonius, speaking of the Emperor Tiberius, says: "The expression of his face was noble; he had very large eyes with which, strange to say, he was able to see at night and in the dark, though only for a short time, and immediately on waking out of sleep; they afterward grew dim again." Cumenius relates the case of a young fiddler who received a sudden blow on his right eye by the snapping of one of the strings of his instrument. He suffered great pain, and on awaking the following night the bedroom appeared lighted up, and he could distinctly trace the pattern of the wall paper; on closing his right eye all was dark again; on reopening it he saw as before.—Argonaut.

Man wants but little here below, But wants that little strong. This is especially true of a purgative. The average man or woman does not precisely hunger for it, as a rule, but when taken, wishes it to be prompt, sure and effective. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets leave nothing to be desired in point of efficacy, and yet their action is totally free from any unpleasant symptoms, or disagreeable after-effects. Purely vegetable, perfectly harmless.

Purifies the Blood. "Seven years ago, while my little boy was playing in the yard, he was bitten by a spider. The poison entered his blood, and soon broke out upon his body; they itched terribly and I caused him intense suffering. Several times we succeeded in healing the sores up, but in spite of all we could do they would soon break out again. Finally we tried Hood's Sarsaparilla, and he took one bottle and on the third of another, when the sores disappeared. He has not a sore spot on him now, and I consider him perfectly cured." Wm. H. B. Happy Homes. Much has been written and said about how to make home pleasant. The moralists and the preacher have hackneyed this theme until it would seem nothing more remained to be said. But the philosophers have gone far out of their way to account for the prevalence of ill-assorted couples and unhappy homes, and have overlooked the chief cause. Most of the unhappiness of married life can be traced directly to those functional derangements to which women are subject. In nine cases out of ten the irritable, dissatisfied and unhappy wife is a sufferer from some "female complaint." A trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will produce more domestic happiness than a million sermons of philosophical treatises. It cures all those peculiar weaknesses and ailments incident to womanhood. It is the only medicine sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. See guarantee printed on wrapper enclosing bottle.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY. THE WORLD-FAMED LIVER, BLOOD AND LUNG REMEDY.

ARE YOU SICK? Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and deservably miserable, both physically and mentally? experience a series of ailments, after eating, or of "gripes," or constipation of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flashes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, stitching, transient pains here and there, cold feet, disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant indigestible feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

DAVID G. LOWE, Esq., of St. Apote, Manitoba, Canada, says: "Being troubled with a terrible bilious attack, fluttering of the heart, poor rest at night, etc., I commenced the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and derived the very highest benefit therefrom."

SALT-RHEUM AND RHEUMATISM. "COLUMBUS, OHIO, Aug. 18th, 1887. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.: Gentlemen—For several years I have felt it to be my duty to give to you the facts in relation to the complete cure of a most aggravated case of salt-rheum, by the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' An elderly lady relative of mine had been a great sufferer from salt-rheum for upwards of forty years. The disease was most distressing in her hands, causing the skin to crack open on the inside of the fingers at the joints and between the fingers. She was obliged to protect the raw places by means of adhesive plasters, salves, ointments and bandages, and during the winter months had to have her hands dressed daily. The pain was quite severe at times and her general health was badly affected, paving the way for other diseases to creep in. Catarrh and rheumatism caused a great deal of suffering in addition to the salt-rheum. She had used faithfully, and with the most commendable persistence, all the remedies prescribed by her physicians, but without obtaining relief. She afterwards began treating herself by drinking tea made from blood-purifying roots and herbs. She continued this for several years but derived no benefit. Finally, about ten years ago, I chanced to read one of Dr. Pierce's small pamphlets as to the merits of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and other medicines. The name struck my fancy, and seeing that it was essentially a blood-purifier, I immediately recommended it to the lady who had been so long a sufferer from salt-rheum. She commenced taking it at once, and took one bottle, and seemed to be no better. However, I realized that it would take time for any medicine to effect a change for the better, and encouraged her to continue. She then purchased a half-dozen bottles, and before these had all been used she began to notice an improvement. After taking about a dozen bottles she was entirely cured. Her hands were perfectly well and as smooth and healthy as a child's. Her general health was also greatly improved; the rheumatism entirely left her, and the catarrh was almost cured, so that it ceased to be such an annoyance. She has enjoyed excellent health from that day to this, and has had no return of either salt-rheum or rheumatism. The 'Discovery' seems to have entirely eradicated the salt-rheum from her system. She is now over eighty years old, and very healthy for one of such extreme age. I have written this letter, of which you can make any use you see fit, hoping that some sufferer from salt-rheum might chance to read it and obtain relief by using your 'Golden Medical Discovery'—for 'Golden' it is in its curative properties, and as such above the multitude of nostrums and so-called 'patent medicines,' so zealously flaunted before the public, as gold is above the baser metals. Respectfully yours, F. W. WHEELER, 122 21st St."
