A DISASTROUS RUNAWAY THIS

The team that Fletcher Henderson, colored, was driving belonging to Charles Moody Company suddenly took fright this morning about 9 o'clock near the Model Steam Laundry and ran away. Fletcher was thrown from the wagon and suffered a broken leg. The fracture was just above the ankle. He was carried to the Good Samaritan hospital. One of the horses that Fletcher was driving fell to the ground, tearing his hoof in such a manner that it later had to be shot.

TEETH IN SUBWAY ACT BEGIN TO BITE TUESDAY

Work on the subway on East Trade street must begin Tuesday morning or the Southern and the Seaboard railroads must begin on that day to pay the penalty. Both roads have several times stated that they were ready to go to work on the structure, but notwithstanding the much dilly-dallying no dirt has been moved. The Southern some time ago submitted plans for the subway as it would like it. The Seaboard Air Line Railway has just submitted plans for this structure and these are being gone over now by the city engineer. The plans for the subway as it is to be built must be approved by the city engineer and the board of aldermen. No action that the board of aldermen may take regarding the plans will be allowed to interfere with the operation of the recent ordinance, which provided that the railroads must pay a fine of $50 for each locomotive or train that crosses the street on the present tracks after the 22d instant, today, until work is actually under way on the structure.

Mayor Bland stated today that beginning Tuesday morning two policemen will be placed at the crossing to make note of all engines and trains passing so that the penalty under the ordinance may be collected. The aldermen are determined that the "teeth" in the ordinance relating to the subway shall not be extracted. "They were put there to bite," said an alderman today, "and now let them do their worst." The ordinance referred to provides that if the subway is not completed by November 1, no trains shall be allowed to cross the street, or rather that no train, locomotive, etc., shall cross East Trade street after that date save on the steel structure.

COLORED WOMAN WANTS $15,000 FOR INJURIES

The case of Louise Price against the Charlotte Electric Railway is being tried this morning and will probably consume the day in the Superior Court. Louise Price is a colored woman who was riding with her husband in a buggy which was struck by a street car on the Seversville road some time ago. Louise was thrown on the track and struck by the car, her right leg and arm were both broken, the leg having to be amputated. She was also struck on the head, necessitating the taking of several stitches. She has brought suit for the sum of $15,000 alleging that this sum is the amount she has been injured.

The plaintiff contends that the car was improperly lighted, that no gong was rung and no other signal was given as it approached her buggy from the rear. There are a number of witnesses to be examined in the case on both sides. The examination of the plaintiff Louise and husband Robert took up practically the entire morning's session of the court. Messrs. T. L. Kirkpatrick, E. R. Preston and O. A. Graham represent the plaintiff while Messrs. Osborne & Cooke and Z. V. Taylor appear for the defendant railway company.

RECEIVES NEWS OF BROTHER'S DEATH

News of the death of Mr. Edward Briggs at his home in Summerton, S. C., was received here Sunday afternoon by his sister, Mrs. J. R. Henderson. Mr. Briggs was an uncle of Miss Margaret Henderson, who was visiting at Summerton at the time of her uncle's death.

The deceased leaves a wife, who was Miss Richardson and who is the daughter, granddaughter and niece respectively of three former Governors of South Carolina. Several children also survive.

Mr. Briggs was 50 years of age and was prominent in the community in which he lived. The funeral will be held from the Methodist church at Summerton, a church which was presented to the congregation by the grandfather of the deceased many years ago.

RADISH AS BIG AS A WATERMELON

The biggest radish that Mecklenburg farmers have ever seen is a specimen weighing 9 1-2 pounds and 23 inches in circumference, which was taken from a patch planted by Mr. E. F. Hubbard of Paw Creek early in the month of April.

From a tiny seed almost invisible the 9 1-2 pounds of vegetable flesh has resulted, the time required for this remarkable growth being about 100 days. The radish is as large as a small watermelon and the rind or covering is of extremely tough texture. The specimen is a freak of the vegetable world that is difficult to account for. Usually a radish left in the ground through the season develops into a specimen two or three inches long and weighing a few ounces at the outside.

THIEF AND TIGRESS ARE GIVEN ROAD SENTENCES

Ed Laney did not deny that he was the person who stole the watch belonging to Mr. W. P. LaFont in the Tate-Brown clothing store Saturday afternoon, when the case was called before Recorder Smith this morning. Mr. LaFont was purchasing some clothing in the store of this firm and left his watch lying unnoticed in the dressing room of the store. Ed wanted Recorder Smith to take jurisdiction by the changing of the warrant from larceny to forcible trespass. This the recorder did and told Ed he could take six months on the roads or appeal. Ed said "I'll take it."

Lou White was also before Recorder Smith this morning, this being a regular occasion for Lou. She was drunk and acting in a disorderly manner while in this intoxicated condition. Lou pleaded guilty and also pleaded for mercy, this being the same plea she put in just a week previous. Recorder Smith fined her $25 and costs with an additional word that if she should appear next Monday or any other time in the near future she would not be allowed a privilege of a fine.

Another defendant in the court this morning that was not a stranger to its proceedings was Hattie Roberson. Officers Johnson and Earnhardt discovered in her house on Third street alley, 16 pints of whiskey, and also found in the house of one of her neighbors 15 pints that Hattie also claimed. But when Hattie got in court she remembered that by claiming both of the lots of whiskey she would have in her possession more than the limited amount which the law allows. Recorder Smith believed her statements made to the officers at the time of the search and found her guilty.

Attorney Reid on her behalf pleaded for clemency and asked that she be fined. But the recorder thought that her reputation as a blind tigress and other things, would justify a four months' sentence on the roads. Mr. Reid gave notice of appeal to the Superior court.

After considering the case of E. P. Mosely against the Charlotte Electric Railway the greater portion of the day, the jury reported that they were unable to agree on a verdict. Judge Daniels ordered a mistrial and dismissed the jury. The case will come up at a subsequent term of court.

Summer colds are hard to get rid of, and frequently lead to asthma, bronchitis, and hay fever. Do not let your cold get a hold on you, but use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for quick relief. W. H. Allen, Okla. City, Wis., says: "I prefer Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to other cough medicines because it quickly cures coughs and colds. It will ward off a cold if taken in time." Contains no opiates. Bowe's Drug Store.

An Admirable Tramping Costume.

Whether one is going on a picnic or on a botanizing jaunt, a practical costume of this sort is just the thing to insure a happy day out of doors. The short skirt of khaki is worn with low heeled tramping boots and is accompanied by a negligee shirt of tan pongee, with a loose, low collar and neat brown silk tie. Needless to say the shirt has a pocket for watch and handkerchief, and there is a similar pocket on the right side of the skirt for railroad ticket and a bit of change. The soft felt hat is wound with a gay red and brown satin scarf.
