Particular Men and Colored Shirts.
 The particular man does not like to see the colors all faded out of his colored shirt.
 We don't either, and here is where we agree with the particular man—by agreeing with him we know his wants and know how to fill them.
 We do not fade colored goods because we put the goods through a harmless process that sets the colors.

BRIEFS.
Short Pithy Notes on The Day's Doings.
 —Season at park opens tomorrow night.
 —Walk your horses across the square.
 —Mr. and Mrs. Richard Springs, after June 15th will board at Mr. D. S. Yates'.
 —Mr. J. A. Solomons has been confined to bed for a week. He is better to-day.
 —Miss Marie Lynch and Mr. Geo. Johnson were married yesterday afternoon. Rev. Father Frances performed the ceremony.
 —Mr. Harry Asbury will have charge again this summer of the orchestra at Hot Springs. He will leave soon to enter upon his work.
 —The children and young people of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed their annual lawn party on the beautiful lawn yesterday afternoon.
 —Biddell commencement is in full blast. This morning's trains brought in a number from Salisbury, Concord and other points to attend the exercises.
 —Mr. J. M. Miller, Jr., who is attending the Georgia Bankers Association at Old Point, will return home the latter part of the week. Mr. Miller addressed the Association yesterday.
 —The riding public is learning to go slow across the square. The policemen will for a week, remind fast drivers. After that they will be reminded by the Recorder.
 —There are so many loafers on the square that it is almost impossible to drive without running over someone. Keep on the sidewalks. The square is small enough for the amount of traffic that passes through it.

HUMANITY.

 Mrs. B. S. Davis and children go to Creswell Springs to-morrow morning for the summer.
 Miss Acton Latta left this morning for Athens, Ga., to attend the Centennial commencement of the University of Georgia.
State Guard Encampment.
 It has been learned from a member of the Governor's staff that it would likely be the last of the present or possibly the first of next week before a decision would be announced as to the site for the State Guard encampment, to be held in July. Rates are yet to be secured from the railroads and there are other details of the arrangements to be perfected before public notice will be given of the place for the gathering of the militia.
Season Opens Tomorrow.
 The season at the park opens to-morrow night. The first bill is a farcical comedy "In Innocent Bohemia." The Latta Park Co., is said to be one of the strongest summer stock companies to be found any where. The contralto studied in Europe and is said to have a fine voice.

FLY IN WHEAT.
 Insect that has done great damage this year. How best to avoid its ravages.
 The Hessian Fly has caused very great loss in the central and western part of the State, and farmers should know the best methods for escaping such injury in the future.
 The fly lays eggs on the leaves of wheat in the fall, and the eggs hatch to small maggots which work around the stalk near to the surface of the ground, and thus so weaken them that they are not able to complete their growth in the spring. The insect passes the winter in the "flax-seed" stage, and from this the fly hatches in the spring. Another brood is in the "flax-seed" at harvest time and are left in the stubble.
 Remedies. The direct application of insecticides in such cases this is out of the question, but there are certain methods of farm practice by which the losses may be reduced to a great extent. After the wheat is cut, the stubble should be burned over as soon as possible to destroy the "flax-seeds," then in the fields. If the land is plowed after the burning of the stubble, many more will be destroyed. But the most important of all is to delay the fall planting as late as possible, so that the wheat shall come up too late for the fall brood of flies. Spring wheat is not often damaged to any great extent. By combining the three methods mentioned, the injury will be very greatly reduced. In all reports which we have received this insect, it appears that the early sown wheat was damaged much more than that which was sown later.

DON'T CLIP WINGS.
 The clipping of wings is, to say the least, a cruel practice, and often, results in the loss or injury of our most valuable fowls. The temptation to go to the highest portion of the roost is too strongly inbred in the fowls to resist, and they will invariably manage to get to the top. Then, in their haste to get down, they fall, head over heels, having no means of protection. I have seen fowls attempt to fly from a perch fully ten feet from the ground, invariably with the same results.
 The fence can always be built high enough to keep them in the yard, and, aside from all injury the clipping does, their beauty is so marred that one should refrain from such unnecessary mutilation. A fence four feet high will turn Brahams, while six feet will keep the Leghorns at home. The cost of wire is so moderate that every one may easily provide a good fence for the yards without resorting to any cutting of wings.
THE HATCHING SEASON.
 The hatching season should now be over, except perhaps a few broods in July or August for late table use. The young chickens should be hatched along, and as fast as they are of marketable size they should be disposed of and more room given to the others.
 Those males which are to be kept, should, if possible, be put in separate pens. According to correspondence issued by the London Foreign Office, ninety-eight per cent. of the slaves of Zanzibar and Pemba prefer to remain slaves, says the New York Evening Post. "Fewer slaves applied for freedom in 1900 than in 1899, because, the British Commissioner avers, most of the slaves know they are not likely to gain much present advantage, seeing that those who were thrown on their own resources have a 'difficult time to make a living. The masters have been kinder since the slave legislation was enacted, and seek to make their service more attractive."
 When a large range of territory is possible, the chickens will gather enough bugs and insects to almost fully supply their wants, just a little scraps or grain in the early morning before the dew has dried off being necessary. While speaking of this I might add that more losses occur from allowing the chickens to get out in the wet grass than from any other causes. Keep them confined until the sun has completely dried the dew, and you will have no dwarfs or droopy chickens.
