A Few Minutes With The Recorder

The appropriateness of things was well illustrated in the Recorder's court this morning a quilt was the principal object of interest in the Recorder's

Mary Saunder's, colored, was charged with the embezzling of a quilt from to the negro to sell. The negro claim. ed that she had "washed the quilt out," meaning that she was paying for it by washing for the owner. As the case threatened to be a long-drawn one the Recorder told the negro to send for the hour's waiting it was brought to the pelice station and turned over to the owner and the case dismissed. A LOQUACIOUS PRISONER.

Luther Williams, white, was arrested on the instigation of Kres Chris, a young Syrian, who keeps a fruit stand on the Central hotel corner. Williams was charged with using profane language and obstructing the side walks. Chris was sweeping and tried to get Williams to move on, which Williams was in no hurry to do. Williams was charged with the costs this morning. After Williams was carried back to ing in the past experience to guide his cell he showed a disposition to be him. There is a big speculation and loquacious and was also very anxious to get out. He called Officer Duke back and asked the officer if he could release him. The officer was, of course, unable to grant Williams' remest, and he was left in his cell. Will Holt, a well dressed colored person, appeared before the court to answer a charge of profanity. Officer Torrance testified that he was at home the other night when he heard a disturbance and going out found Holt in a word battle with two passengers man I that his passengers had become chatra crous and that he had tried to scare them by big talk. He was found five dollars for attempting to seare

Market Reports

By Private Wire to Geo. A. Howell Company. New York, Nov. 18 .- C. W. Lee & Co. say: Buying in of something like 100,000 bales of short cotton by New Orleans late in a turned market an a further advance took place this morning. May sold over 11,30 and a one time was but 12 points from th this marning. The cold weather and top, after showing a 57 point break heavy quilts always go together and yesterday morning. The recuperative powers of the market are phenom enal. Thee was no end of cotto thrown on the market today and ye prices held remarkably steady. O course, the tone was feverish, bu most of the day May sold at 11 1cents, and in view of yesterday C. Burnett. Mrs. Burnett break this was a wonderful recov claimed that she had given the quilt ery. Either the crop is very short and we are on the way to much highe prices or we have had our big ad vance, and this recovery is simply aftermath. We confess our inability to decide the question. It would seem a though a halt was due on such enor mous receipts as we are getting. Bu much discussed quilt and after half an this all depends on the size of the erop, which one knows. If It is ver short, we can see 12 cents before Christmas. But there are many fac tors at work here now that operate Beeswax, No. 1..... against a wild advance and it is an open question whether the actual supply is so deficient that a further advance must take place, irrespective of big receipts, weakening statistical figures, profit taking and unprofitable taking around these figures would Cotton Tumbled 30 Points Yesterday But Jumps Again Today.

This week has been an exciting one in cotton circles. The market has ment in the opposite direction began to evince itself, resulting in a rise of ten points by noon. At this season of the year when the crop is nearly all out of the fields and in the warercoms and the hands of the manufacturers, the situation is governed largely by the estimates on the shortness of the crop, and nearly every day something new develops as a factor in this estimate, hence the sudden changes in the market.

The spot market today reached the highest point for the past two months. The situation at present is highly exciting and cotton men are showing interest in the fluctuating market as it tumbles and rises day after day,

TO STUDY COTTON GROWING.

A Texan Expert In South Africa U der German Auspices. (By Associated Press.)

Berlin, Nov. 18 .- The German Colonial Secretary contemplates the sending of a number of young men to Texas agricultural and technical schools to study the methods of growing and marketing cotton. The young men will spend a year on a cotton plantation and so acquire practical experience which later they will employ in the German colonies. The students will sign a contract to spend a number of (Private wire to Geo. A. Howell & Co.)
