

CARNEGIE AND MILES BUY LAND AT AIKEN

The Great Philanthropist and the Distinguished Jailor in a Combination With Capitalist for the Purchase of S. C. Dirt.

(Correspondence The News) Columbia, S. C., Feb. 10.—Among the first guests to register at the Hotel Park in the Pines, the new tourist hotel at Aiken which was opened on Monday last, were Capt. John McLeod Murphy, Mr. A. C. Zacharias and Mr. Mosser, capitalists of Harrisburg, Pa. These gentlemen at once sought Mr. F. R. Henderson of the People's Bank, one of the owners of valuable kaolin land situated within two miles of Aiken and closed a deal for the purchase of 350 acres of this land, the consideration being $30,000.

Associated with these gentlemen are Andrew Carnegie, Nelson A. Miles, of Washington, D. C., and A. A. Pope of Hartford, Conn. From the rich kaolin deposits in these lands, it is proposed to manufacture aluminum and chinaware. After the negotiations had been completed Capt. Murphy expressed great satisfaction at the prospects and said that they had the best property in the world. Experts who several months ago examined the property, he said, had reported that the clay contains 70 per cent of aluminum. He further stated that the analysis showed 16 per cent more aluminum than the best mine in the world, which is not in America.

His company owns and controls the cheapest and quickest process known for making aluminum. By this process the metal can be made in four hours where it now takes six days, thus decreasing the cost of production from forty cents a pound to twelve and a half cents.

After completing the negotiations the party left for the north to confer with their association, but will return the latter part of the week accompanied by Gen. Miles and Colonel Pope.

Six hundred men will be put to work as soon as practicable. Only the most skilled and high priced labor will be employed, for whose accommodation a model town will be built. Not only will aluminum be made, but factories will be erected for the manufacture of aluminum products of many kinds.

Carrying Live Stock in a Pullman. Yesterday evening at the Southern's depot a very pretty young lady got off of one of the vestibules carrying a very good-looking valise, though it seemed a little bulky for her to handle. A gallant young transfer man seeing her put the bag upon the ground stepped up and offered the services of his company in the usual terms.

"Just in a minute," she said, and stooped over and began unhooking the fastenings of her bag. This seemed a little out of the ordinary, but the young man, nothing daunted, began helping her. Suddenly she threw the satchel wide open and to the surprise of the on-lookers, out jumped—a pretty little dog.

The boy gasped, and said in an awed voice: "Don't he smother?" The lady smiled, and explained, "Those horrid conductors won't let my 'Tootsie-wootsie' ride with his smotherer (here she embraced him) so I just cut a hole in the end of the satchel and carry him in that."

And the boy picked up the empty satchel, gaping wide open, not the satchel only, but the boy.

Bacon's Headache CURE is the remedy you are looking for if you are one of those horribly unhappy beings who suffer from that all-too-common, soul-distracting, ailment, cephalalgia, known to the laity as "the Headache." I wonder why people will insist on trying the "headache." It certainly is not grammatical. What a world of misery is embraced in that one little patent phrase. What sufferings untold it represents. Sleepless nights, agonizing days, hours when you feel mean and you don't care whether school keeps or not. And you would give up and quit right then and there, were it not for that blessed little bottle of Bacon's Headache Cure, 25 cents at Brannon's Drug Store, and guaranteed to cure.
