Society

Mr. H. L. Adams will entertain informally a small number of her friends, at enchre this evening at 8 o'clock at her home on West Trade street in honor of her niece, Miss Grace Benson, of Hartwell, Ga.

The young people of Trinity church are anticipating a pleasant time this evening from eight to eleven o'clock at Mrs. C. E. Mason's, on East Avenue. The occasion is the regular monthly social of the Epworth League and the Young People's Missionary Society, but the social this evening is especially by the Missionary Society. All the young people—and there are no old—of the church are invited.

The reception to be given the Baraca class by the Philathea class of Tryon Street Baptist Sunday school tonight promises to be a very enjoyable occasion.

The reception is a leap year affair and the young ladies are preparing to give the members of the Baraca class a pleasant evening.

The nature of the entertainment will not be disclosed. The hours will be from 8 to 11. No invitations have been issued but all members of both classes are expected to be present.

The annual reception at the Presbyterian College to the Davidson College students, faculty and trustees tonight will be a brilliant one.

The rooms in which the young ladies will receive their visitors are beautifully decorated. The colors of the two literary societies, the Gamma Sigma and the Florion, festoon the walls of the dining room. Quite an array of the college banners of different institutions North and South decorate the walls of the dining rooms. Black and red, the colors of the guests, form the decorations in the parlors. Refreshments will be served the young men in the dining rooms at the small tables which are daintily arranged for the occasion. Besides the other adornments innumerable red hearts will form a bright bit of color, appropriate for the time of the year.

The custom of having this annual reception to the students of the neighboring colleges is a pleasing one, and, as "the proof of the pudding is the eating thereof," it is enough to say that the young men will appreciate it since a large number of them have already arrived.

HEALS AND SOOTHES THE THROAT

For three years I have been troubled with my throat. A burning sensation would come over me in the early morning and last for several hours. I have been taking Cheney's Expectant for a week. My throat is almost healed and the irritation no longer worries me. It is a great medicine.
