Special to The News. Raleigh, Dec. 28.—The attending physicians report no improvement in the condition of State Treasurer B. E. Lacy, who has been ill with pneumonia since Sunday. He had a very bad night.

The pneumonia as yet is inclined to be long having trouble with his chronic asthma trouble, also. Friends are very apprehensive.

A number of important corporations were chartered this morning.

The McAlister Rose Lumber Company of Lillington was chartered at a capital of $25,000 by Thomas G. McAlister and others. The Daughtridge Supply Company of Rocky Mount at a capital of $25,000 by E. The spring term of the A. & M. College here opens Thursday, January 4 and President Winston says the indications are that there will be an unusually large enrollment of students for the short mid-winter courses in agriculture, dairying and textile work. There will also be a number of new students for the regular college courses. Some additional rooms will be made in the college by the failure of a number of students to pass the examinations just before the holidays. Students will be dropped from all the classes, from the seniors down, President Winston says, though that it is nothing more than the usual weeding out of the droops.

Governor Glenn will go to Charlotte tomorrow to deliver an address before the cotton farmers of that section. State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. Y. Joyner has gone to Greensboro to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the State Normal and Industrial College.

Arrangements are being made for the annual meeting of the North Carolina Association of High School Teachers to be held in the Representatives' hall of the State Capitol Friday and Saturday. Prof. Martin Holt, of Oak Ridge Institute, is the president of the association.

President Ashley Horn, of the State Fair Association, spent today in the city in conference with Secretary Jos. E. Pogue, arranging for the annual meeting of the executive committee to be held Friday at noon. At this time the detailed report of the secretary as to receipts and disbursements on account of the last State Fair will be submitted.

The Register of Deeds for Wake county has issued licenses for 99 Christmas weddings, by odds the largest number in the history of the county.

$400,000 Said to Have Been Loaned at These Figures.

By Associated Press. New York, Dec. 28.—Call money opened at 30 and the advance was sensationally rapid. From 60 there was a quick advance to 75, 90 and then to 100 per cent.

When 100 per cent was touched, all records since December, 1899 were broken. In that year 86 per cent was paid for call loans. After lending at 100 today there were loans at 90 per cent. The 90 per cent quotations did not last long and at 11 o'clock 110 per cent was paid for funds, and shortly afterwards a loan of $400,000 at 125 per cent was reported.

SKIES GROW BRIGHT. RUSSIAN STRIKE GOES TO PIECES

City of Moscow Bears Picturesque Appearance of a Battlefield. Uniformed Officers Dashing Through Streets. Center of City Shows Signs of Life.

By Associated Press. Moscow, Wednesday, via St. Petersburg, Dec. 27.—The backbone of the insurrection is broken and the uprising is rapidly going to pieces. The revolutionists are able to keep up only guerrilla warfare, but the base with which they can move small detachments from place to place renders the task of suppressing them slow and tedious. The remnants of the insurrection now lack cohesion or head.

The city of Moscow bears the picturesque appearance of a battlefield. Officers are everywhere seen galloping through streets or being driven about in rapidly moving sleighs accompanied by escorts or dragoons or Cossacks.

The center of the city for the first time today showed signs of life. Stores were reopened and the inhabitants who had been cooped up for five days were venturing out for a breath of fresh air.

Where ever the arms were found, their owners were arrested. Nevertheless, the leaders from their hiding places still continue to assure their followers that all goes well.

ASHEVILLE NEWS ITEMS.

Elks Make Christmas a Joyous Occasion For the Children.—Death of Dr. Special to The News.

Asheville, Dec. 28.—The most notable charitable affair of the winter occurred here Tuesday afternoon when the Asheville Lodge of Elks gave their annual entertainment for the children of the Asheville poor. The affairs were planned with the usual care and elaboration the result of which was manifested in the very detail—the symmetrical and beautiful Christmas tree, the care in the selection and arrangement of the presents, and the skill with which the hundreds of children and great throng of people who attended, were provided for.

The affair was held in the spacious court room of Buncombe's new court house. Near one end of the room was placed the Christmas tree, a large pine, of such height that its top almost brushed the lofty ceiling. The tree was made brilliant and beautiful by many-colored electric lights, graceful festooning, and a large assortment of the toys that children love.

When the doors were thrown open and the long lines of children marched in to receive their gifts—the spectacle was one long to be remembered and one that visibly affected the visitors. Gifts were distributed to 1,500 children.

Christmas was celebrated at Billmore estate yesterday night royally. After their usual custom, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt remembered every employe on the estate with a present, and all the children were entertained at the mansion yesterday afternoon.

Mr. W. E. Hemphill, for the past two years corner of Buncombe county, died at Clarence Barker Memorial Hospital Monday afternoon, after an operation for appendicitis. The operation was, the physicians say, successful, but in his weakened condition, Dr. Hemphill, who has been in poor health for many months, was unable to withstand the shock.

Mrs. O. R. Jarrett of this city, was fatally wounded and narrowly escaped being killed by being struck by a stray bullet yesterday afternoon. The bullet entered her arm near the elbow, grazing a large artery. Mrs. Jarrett was in her house at the time, and the bullet was fired through the window, breaking the glass. Every effort to locate the person who fired the ball has been futile.

Information has been received here that Tom Williams, a citizen of Hendersonville, was frozen to death in that town Saturday night. William's body was found within a hundred yards of his home.

WINS A RICH BRIDE.

Miss Fisher, Moving in Ithaca's Smart Set, Marries Her Coachman.

Ithaca, Dec. 28.—That a romance of "The Man on the Box," in which "the man" was really a coachman, has been acted out in real life in this city became known with the announcement today that Miss Margaret B. Fisher, a woman of wealth and a mover in the "smart set," last night married Patrick T. Kelly, who had been employed several years as her coachman.

The romance began when Miss Fisher moved to Ithaca from a hamlet, Mecklenburg, about five years ago. She had inherited a handsome fortune, and coming from a good family, and being well educated and refined, soon was admitted to the best homes.

Being then past the half century mark and of portly proportions, she needed a carriage whenever she went out. Mr. Kelly, familiarly known as "Pat," a sandy-haired young Irishman, at least twenty-five years the junior of the woman, was the lucky man to be chosen for her first drive. Miss Fisher was so well pleased with the careful and skilful manner in which he handled the reins that she insisted upon "Pat" driving whenever she went out after that.

Courteous in his manner, always ready to do a favor his wealthy employer, and by no means a homely chap, Kelly soon made a favorable impression on his patron. Miss Fisher gradually became greatly infatuated with the man, and, unknown to her friends, the wedding was secretly planned for Christmas night.

The ceremony was performed at her home by the Rev. R. T. George, pastor of the Congregational Church. The announcement of the wedding caused a sensation here but the couple were on their wedding trip before the event became publically known.

Upon their return to the city Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will live in a house owned by the last named in a fashionable part of the city.

THE POT IS BOILING.

Attorney General May Have to Go to Hendersonville to Straighten Out the Muddle.

Mr. Zach McGhee, formerly a newspaper man of this city, but now Washington correspondent of the Columbia State, is sending that paper some real "hot stuff" concerning Republican politics in this State. In the Columbia State of this morning the following appears:

"Attorney General Moody may be subpoenaed to appear at Hendersonville court as a witness in the damage suit case, a feature of the general Republican mix-up. Last week when 22 North Carolina Republicans called on the President and several members of the Cabinet protesting against the office holding trust in that State, Mr. Moody is reported to have said that the complaint made by Anderson against Rollins was 'a tissue of lies.'"

Anderson's complaint was that Rollins, Republican State chairman, and his father-in-law, Judge Pritchard, had given offices to 50 or more of their kinsmen, and he objects seriously and specifically to sundry other methods and basis of the division of federal pie. Anderson now writes a warm letter to the attorney general censuring him for expressing his adverse opinion upon a matter which it is for the courts to decide, especially since he based his remark that the complaint was a 'tissue of lies' upon a petition of a letter from Thomas S. Rollins, the Republican chairman, the principal defendant in the suit. He will summon Attorney General Moody to the court. This promises to enliven the already exceedingly lively fight in the Old North State."

It was reported that the police were ready to take decisive steps today, but the clue failed and plans did not materialize. Efforts to connect this case with the murderous assault upon a maid in the family of Charles M. Crouse have likewise failed.
