

GOV. ROBT. B. GLENN HAS BEEN "MARKED" BY ANARCHISTS

On Account of His Pronounced Position Against Bad Class of Immigration, Anarchists Have "Set Their Mark" Upon North Carolina's Governor.

News of Blackburn's Victory Over Rollins Created Stir. Postmasters at Goldsboro and Greensboro. Claudius Dockery May not Succeed his Uncle.

Special to The News. Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 25.—Governor Glenn, who has just returned from Washington gave out a statement to the effect that he is "a marked man" with anarchists and similar organizations in the North, especially in Pennsylvania. He states that this gives him no concern, as he is simply doing what he believes to be right and no threats of criticisms will deter him from doing what he believes to be his duty.

He feels sure that the anarchists hated is due to his pronounced and generally known opposition to the admission of the "riff-raff" criminal immigrants from Latin and other foreign countries into the United States, especially to North Carolina; and he will continue to stand by this position. The fact that he has freely declared his position in this respect, on his New England and other Northern trips, he thinks, accounts for the fact that the anarchists have taken occasion to "mark him."

R. B. Boone, Attorney, Dr. J. M. Manning and J. B. Graham, of Durham appeared before Governor Glenn in the interest of W. R. Murray, a well known merchant who is serving a sentence in Durham county jail for killing his uncle three years ago. They presented to the Governor certificates of four most reputable physicians that if Murray was kept in jail much longer that he would certainly die. They also presented largely signed petitions, urging his pardon. There was an informal discussion between the Governor and the delegation with the result that the Governor promised to let them know what action he will take tomorrow.

The news of Congressman Blackburn's victory over State Chairman Rollins in having L. N. Grant appointed postmaster at Goldsboro and C. P. Frazier at Greensboro over the heads of the candidates urged by Rollins and Collector E. C. Duncan, created quite a stir here, many taking the position that this is really the beginning of the end of the ascendancy of Chairman Rollins in influential circles. The failure of the President to send the name of Claudius Dockery to the Senate as Marshal of the Eastern District at the same time, gives rise to the surmise that after all he may not succeed his uncle, H. C. Dockery, as has been planned by Chairman Rollins and Collector Duncan despite the fact that there has been a semi-official statement that this nomination would be made. It is argued that unless there was some tie-up in the nomination of the Marshal, the name of Dockery would certainly have been sent in along with Grant and Frazier. The turn things have taken in the Goldsboro fight and the apparent hitch in the eastern collectorship gives rise to all manner of guesses as to the outcome of the contests over the Wilmington and New Bern collectorships, the Fayetteville postoffice and the other appointments that must soon be made.

Probably never before in Raleigh has such a crowd gathered in the Academy of Music here as to necessitate a half hundred or more ladies to stand through a performance, but this was the case last night when Sousa's band appeared on their annual tour through the South. Friends regret to learn that it has been necessary for Mrs. Thomas R. Purnell, wife of Judge Purnell, of the eastern district Federal court, to undergo a second operation in St. Luke's Hospital, Richmond, where she has been for two months or longer under treatment, part of the time in a very critical condition. She had well nigh recovered a week ago and Judge Purnell went to Richmond intending to bring her home, but there were developments that made a second operation absolutely necessary and it will be a month or more before she can possibly make the trip now.

Decatur Dismissed. Washington, Jan. 25.—Stephen Decatur, great grandson of Commodore Decatur, of the First Class of the U. S. Naval Academy, was dismissed from the Navy by Secretary Bonaparte in conformity with the sentence of the Court Martial, on the charge of hazing.

Granddaughter of Madison Dies at 104. Toronto, Ont., Jan. 25.—Mrs. Rebecca Wagner died here today aged 104. She was a daughter of Humphrey May, who married Sarah Madison, daughter of President Madison of the United States.

SENATE FOR ONE MINUTE.

But Slips in Through a Cloakroom, Is Recognized as Present and Gets 1,200 in Mileage.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Senator Burton, of Kansas, twice convicted in St. Louis of a species of grafting, today earned about $1,200 in one minute by appearing on the floor of the Senate. To be allowed mileage one must be recognized and recorded as present at least once during a session of the Senate. The Senate has refused to take steps toward ejecting him from his seat, but put a ban upon his attendance on the Senate floor.

Today he slipped into the cloakroom. The swinging doors between the cloak-room and the floor were opened slightly and he stood for a second in the aperture. But the journal clerk is near-sighted and could not see him. So the door was swung full open, and the Kansan stepped all the way inside.

The journal clerk saw him then, whereas the Senator stepped back into the cloakroom and left the Capitol.

DOWAGER TO PICK SUCCESSOR.

Orders a Round-Up of All the Eligible Princes from Whom She Will Select an Emperor.

Pekin, Jan. 25.—Since Prince Tuan's son was dismissed on account of his father's complicity in the Boxer disturbances, there has been no heir to the Chinese throne.

The Dowager Empress, therefore, has ordered all eligible princes to be presented at the palace on the Chinese New Year, and from these she will select three or four who will be kept in the palace for a year or two. From these princes the Emperor's successor will be nominated.

There has been much agitation recently looking to the re-organization and enlargement of the navy. A Japanese naval attaché is coming to Japan, and it is said that the Japanese hope that he will be entrusted with the work of creating a new navy.

OFFERS HER BABY IN PAYMENT.

Landlord, Before Insistent, Relents and Fails to Dispossess.

Meriden, Jan. 25.—"Take my baby for the rent, it's all I have," said Rachel Overman, widow, to her landlord, Louis Levine, today. Levine was about to dispossess her of her tenement, as she had no money. He had listened unreluctantly to her entreaties until she offered the child and then he told her that she could stay another month.

"I meant what I said," remarked Mrs. Over to an American correspondent last night. "I think that we ought to give up one child so that the rest could live."

MANN'S TRIAL CONTINUES.

Midshipman Mann in the Toils For Hazing—New Witnesses.

By Associated Press. Annapolis, Md., Jan. 25.—The trial of Midshipman Richard R. Mann for hazing was continued. Several additional witnesses for the defense were examined.

Ordered Under Table. It was announced that Midshipman Geisinger must answer as to what Midshipman had ordered Weyler under the table. He said Midshipman Ned L. Chapin had given the order.

TOPEKA LEFT PORT ANGELES.

Steamer Left This Morning To Return to Scene of Wreck.

By Associated Press. Victoria, B. C., Jan. 25.—The steamer City of Topeka left Port Angeles this morning to return again to the scene of the wreck.

MR. ROCKEFELLER DEFIES THE LAW

Frank Rockefeller Absolutely Refused to Appear Before Attorney General and Testify in Case of Missouri Against Standard Oil Co. Said he "Couldn't."

By Associated Press. Cleveland, Jan. 25.—Frank Rockefeller refused to appear before Attorney General Hadley and testify in the hearing in connection with the action of the State of Missouri against the Standard Oil Company. The deputy sheriff who served the subpoena reported that Rockefeller had said: "I won't appear. I can't appear and there is no use talking about it. They may send me to jail if they want to."

GIRL SAVED TWO TRAINS.

Saw Bolder Roll on Track and Prevented Terrible Accident.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 25.—Two passenger trains on the Northern Central Railroad were today saved from being wrecked by Mary McCall, aged sixteen years, the daughter of a track walker living at Clark's ferry.

The girl saw a huge boulder roll from the mountain side on to the tracks near her home. Taking a lantern she ran down the track and stopped her on the obstruction.

She then hurried in the other direction and stopped the Erie fast line. The tracks were later cleared of the rock by the wrecking crew.

FAMOUS SOUTHERN CAVALRY LEADER REPORTED DYING

General Joseph Wheeler of Alabama, Confederate Cavalry Commander, and Long a Representative in Congress, is Dying in New York City.

Dread Pneumonia Holds South's Illustrious Warrior and Statesman in Relentless Grip. Physicians Say There is no Hope. Family at the bedside.

By Associated Press. New York, Jan. 25.—Brigadier General Joseph Wheeler, U. S. A. retired, Soldier, Statesman and Author, is dying at the home of his sister in this city. The physicians remain gloomy that the end could not be long delayed. The members of the family who remain within easy call of the sick chamber, refuse to abandon hope but realize the gravity of the veteran's condition.

Six days ago, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Stolling in Brooklyn, where he has recently lived, Gen. Wheeler contracted a cold which developed into pleurisy and pneumonia. From the first, the warrior's 69 years told against him, and when yesterday the disease was found to have affected both lungs it was feared that a fatal termination was inevitable.

Late last night Dr. A. J. McCorkle, the attending physician, said there was practically no hope of recovery. At midnight a sinking spell caused the family to be summoned to his bedside. There were in addition to Mrs. Smith, Major Joseph Wheeler, Jr., U. S. A., now stationed at West Point, and four daughters of Gen. Wheeler, Mrs. W. J. Harris and Misses Anna, Lucile and Carrie Wheeler.

The daughters had come on from the South on Tuesday and yesterday.

Conscious, and with his mind apparently active, the General seemed to know that death was approaching and, too weak to speak, he tried with characteristic fortitude to not encourage his physicians. Dr. McCorkle and Dr. Janeway were in constant attendance. Later, Gen. Wheeler sank into a peaceful slumber.

This morning there was no perceptible change. The patient remained apparently comfortable, but death appeared to be a matter of hours only.

Physicians in Consultation. Dr. McCorkle called Dr. John A. Longmore into consultation last night and the two physicians remained all night. When Dr. Longmore left the sick man's chamber this morning, he said that General Wheeler's life was then hanging by a thread. General Wheeler was only half conscious and it was believed that death might ensue any moment. Oxygen was administered to the patient this morning for the first time.

One Chance in Twenty. Dr. McCorkle said shortly before 10 o'clock this morning, "General Wheeler has one chance in twenty to recover. His condition is very low and his strength is being kept up on stimulants, but nevertheless, he has a fighting chance."

Sinking Rapidly. General Wheeler was very low and sinking rapidly shortly before 2 P. M.

WEST VA. NEGRO IS NOT WILL HARRIS

Warden Fleming Returns From Pocahontas Mines and Reports That Negro Arrested, is not Mecklenburg Desperado Wanted Here.

Special to The News. Raleigh, Jan. 25.—Captain Fleming, warden of the State penitentiary, returned today from the Pocahontas Mines, Va., reports that the negro arrested there for Will Harris, the noted desperado, of Mecklenburg county is not the man.

Orders were issued today for special terms of the Civil Court of Wayne county, during the week of March 5, by Judge H. H. Justice, and in Mitchell county April 9, by Judge Cooke, both being at the request of the county commissioners.

SHOT HER HUSBAND'S SLAYER.

Five of the Bullets Fired by Mississippi Woman Took Effect.

Marks, Miss., Jan. 25.—W. B. Fairless has been shot and killed by Mrs. E. B. Whitten, the widow of a man whom Fairless killed several months ago at Essex this county.

Mrs. Whitten entered a store as Fairless was leaving. Seeing Fairless, she emptied her pistol at him, five of the bullets taking effect. He died almost instantly.

TWO CASES OF SMALLPOX.

Mrs. Ellis and Child At Seversville Victims of the Disease.

The first cases of smallpox among the white people of this section, were reported to the police this morning. Mrs. Wade Ellis and small child, who live in Seversville, are the victims. Both have the disease which is now in the eruptive stage. Sanitary Officer J. R. Winchester visited the home in Seversville this morning and at once placed the inmates under quarantine. Mrs. Ellis has no idea where she contracted the disease, nor has Mr. Ellis.

So far, Charlotte has been free of smallpox, to a great extent. There are only two cases at the pest house and both of these are negroes. Both are recovering and will be dismissed in a few days.

STOPS INDIAN WEDDING.

Pneumonia Tackles Dillon on Day Set for His Marriage.

Carlisle, Pa., Jan. 25.—Stricken with pneumonia, Charles Dillon, the famous Indian football guard lies in the hospital in Carlisle Indian School on what was to be the night of his marriage to Miss Rose Lafarge, a beautiful Crow Indian girl. The elaborate preparations for the wedding were suspended today when it was learned that Dillon had been ordered to the hospital with a temperature of 105.

Dillon's remarkably strong constitution is expected to pull him through in a few days, and the wedding probably will take place this week.

Illness brought no word of complaint from the hardy Sioux and it required the watchful eye of the school officials to detect his serious condition.

"Col." Steele Married. "Col." Jim Steele was seen by the writer over in Salisbury yesterday and he asked that The News say to his friends that he is en route to Knoxville where he is going to work.

The "Colonel" pulled a photograph from his inside pocket and said, "I have married her and she has married me. It sounds strange but it is nevertheless the truth."

The News' man displayed considerable surprise but "Col." Steele said it was the truth, pure and simple.

OVERMAN'S BILL IS WELL SUPPORTED

Prominent Men. Make Arguments Before Senate Commerce Committee in Support of it. Among Them, Ex-Senator McLaurin of South Carolina.

By Associated Press. Washington, Jan. 25.—The Senate Committee on Commerce heard arguments by a number of representatives of the Cotton Growing Industry in support of Senator Overman's bill providing for the appointment of a commission for the extension of American markets in the Orient. Among those who presented their views were Senator Overman, former Senator McLaurin of South Carolina; Editor Whitman of the American Cotton Record and Dr. J. F. Crowell, statistician of this city.

The Senate passed the bill authorizing the construction of a public building at Fayetteville, N. C. Senator Money addressed the Senate on Foreign Affairs.

Hood Bill Vets. The House debated the State Hood bill the vote upon which will be taken at three o'clock.

Cotton Bringing 11.50. The Charlotte cotton market dropped back to 11.50 today. The receipts at the platform amounted to 16 bales and the best price was 11.50. For the same day last year the receipts amounted to 4 bales and the best price was 7 cents.

14 Lives Lost. Poteau, Indian Territory, Jan. 25.—Fourteen lives were lost in an explosion yesterday in Slope No. 4 of the Whiteville mine. The explosion was caused by a fire damp.

Police at Huntington Are Investigating Probable Murder Mystery. Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 25.—A neatly dressed man was found dead in an alley in the rear of the Barnett block, in the heart of the city here at 5 o'clock this evening. Bruises and cuts about his throat indicate foul play, and the officials are investigating.

There is not a paper about the man's person that may lead to his identity, save a telegram which indicates that he was E. E. Turner, of Newark, Ohio. The telegram was sent from Newark to E. E. Turner, Hot Springs, Ark., and was signed "Bess."

20 Survivors of Wreck Picked Up. Rescue Ship Picked up Life Raft Yesterday Afternoon Near Cape Beale With 20 Survivors of Wreck. Men Were in Most Pitiable Condition.

By Associated Press. Seattle, Jan. 25.—A special representative of the Post Intelligence wires from Port Angeles that the rescue ship City of Topeka, picked up a life craft at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, six miles off Cape Beale, with 20 survivors of the Valencia on board.

The men were in a pitiable condition and almost dead from exposure. A terrible sea was running. One minute the raft was poised on the top of a wave and the next it would be lost from view in a gully formed by the mountainous breakers.

The work of rescuing was most dangerous. The men were too exhausted to even tie the rope about themselves.

119 Thought to Be Lost. Though there is a faint hope that the incoming vessels may bring a few survivors of the steamer Valencia, there are only 35 known to have been saved of 154 persons who were on board.

At the offices of the Pacific Coast Company, the information has been received that the life raft and the life boat, yet unaccounted for had gotten away safely from the Valencia. The raft contained eight women.

Woman Left in Critical Condition by the Savage Brute's Attack. Richmond, Va., Jan. 25.—Mrs. May Shope, wife of Abner Shope, of Thirteenth street, was horribly mangled Saturday by a vicious bulldog, while she was visiting at the house of a neighbor, Mrs. Christopher. The dog attacked her little daughter, following the girl into the house. Mrs. Shope sprang to her daughter's assistance and the dog jumped and caught the woman by the throat, throwing her to the floor.

The dog then settled his fangs in the woman's thigh, shaking her and dragging her about the room and tearing at her flesh.

Mr. Christopher attempted fruitlessly to beat off the dog from the woman, who lay in a pool of blood with the animal still pulling savagely at her.

James Shope, son of the prostrate woman appeared at last with an iron bar, with which he struck the brute upon the head, the dog dying with his teeth still embedded in the flesh of his victim.

Virus Brown, an old negro, owned the dog. Brown said that the dog, which he says he kept confined, broke his chain. Neighbors, however, say that the animal was allowed usually to roam at large. Feeling is running high against Brown.

LETTERS OF CARTER WERE INTRODUCED IN TRIAL TO-DAY

Letters, Telegrams, Etc. of Captain Carter to Various Persons Introduced. Letters to Greene and Gaynor. Defense Objects to Admission of Letters to Greene.

Jury Retired White Telegram of 1889 From Carter was Read. Greene Requested to Wire Newspaper that Charge of "Curtis" was Wholly False.

Special to The News. Savannah, Jan. 25.—The introduction of certain letters and telegrams of Captain Carter to various persons was continued in the Greene and Gaynor trial. One was to John F. Gaynor, asking him if he knew any one who wished to investigate in pine lands in Georgia.

There followed two letters to Benjamin D. Greene indicating the enclosure of checks for small amounts and requesting that they be credited to his account with Greene.

The defense objected to the admission of these letters to Greene denying their relevance to which Erwin replied, explaining that they were designed to show the relationship between Carter and the defendants in that they proved that loans had been made to Carter while an engineer officer here, by Greene.

Telegram to Greene Read. The jury retired while the telegram of 1889 from Carter through Michael A. Connelly, his confidential clerk, was read. This requested Greene to telegraph to the local newspaper that the charge of "Curtis" an inspector of the harbor work under Carter, was absolutely false. Another telegram indicated that Curtis alleged that Greene had offered to have his salary increased $500 a year, and that he implied the threat to have him removed by Carter unless he should do as Greene desired.

Then followed another appeal to Greene to make a most positive affidavit of the falsity of the charge. The defense objected to the admission of this matter as evidence.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

VERY NEAR BAD ACCIDENT.

Convict Wagon Struck by Seaboard Air Line Train.

What might have been a very serious accident was narrowly averted this morning at the Briar Creek crossing of the Seaboard Air Line.

The convict camp in charge of Mr. A. C. Welsh, was moving from the Matthews to the Pineville road. One of the wagons was crossing the tracks when the incoming morning train bore down upon it at a rapid gait. The mules attached to the wagon became frightened and although they had cleared the track, they backed the wagon on the rail. The pilot of the engine struck the wagon about mid-way and almost completely demolished it.

The driver, one of the convicts, saw the danger that he and his team were in and he used every effort to avoid the trouble. He probably saved his life by jumping, but could not prevent the accident.

The train was stopped in a short distance but as no lives were lost, it continued on its journey to Charlotte.

The mules nor the driver were in the least injured but the wagon was badly damaged.

The presence of mind of the driver probably saved his and the life of the mules.

SAID SHE DIDN'T LOVE HIM.

Wife of Baltimore Physician, Disappeared After Confession.

Baltimore Md., Jan. 25.—"She said she didn't love me and without any provocation left my home," said Dr. Pinkney L. Davis, of 900 North Fulton Avenue, this morning speaking of his wife's sudden disappearance.

"Mrs. Davis left the city home on January 11 with her two sons," said Dr. Davis, "and went to her mother's home at St. Denis, Md. She remained there for a week during which time I went after my children and brought them back to my home. After she had been at her mother's home for about a week she suddenly disappeared and as yet no clew has been discovered as to her whereabouts."

"When I was notified of my wife's disappearance I requested the police to make an investigation, as I thought she might have met with an accident. So far, I have received no communication from her. She was always of a bright and congenial nature and, I may add, we have always lived together on most amicable terms."

Dr. Davis is one of the best-known physicians of Northwest Baltimore. He was a member of the last board of police examiners and a Democratic politician.

Mrs. Davis is the second wife of Dr. Davis and has two sons, whose ages are four and a half and fifteen, respectively. She is thirty-nine years old and has dark eyes and brown hair. She weighs about 150 pounds.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.

Decision Reserved. The court said he would withhold the evidence and reserve his decision.

The Yawn That Wouldn't Come Off. Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 25.—After finishing a hearty meal at Girardville, last evening, George Wandless leaned back in his chair, stretched himself comfortably and yawned. When he tried to close his jaws they refused to work. They were firmly locked. He tried to force them together, but in vain. Thoroughly scared, he jumped to his feet and fled hatless and coatless through the streets crowded with church-goers to a doctor. Relaxation of the jaws followed, but the man has by no means recovered.