Norton, leading Baptist minister of this section of Georgia, went home, ate dinner and shortly afterward committed suicide by leaping into an unused well a short distance from his home. Before leaping into the well, Mr. Norton had about his neck a piece of iron weighing 150 pounds.

The body was not discovered until today, search had been instituted for the missing man. And by chance his son looked into the old well and saw an object. The son was lowered and found that the object was the body of his father.

In his sermon Sunday, Mr. Norton dwelt much on the uncertainty of life, and urged the congregation to be ready for the final summons. His closing sentence was: "Prepare to meet thy God."

Polygamous Increasing. Prof. Wolfe testified he had been a Mormon until January 1, when his connection was severed through failure to comply with the demands for the tithes.

He said he had been through the temple twelve times, taking the obligations of chastity, sacrifice and vengeance. In regard to vengeance, the witness said this oath had been:

"You and each of you do covenant and pray, and never cease to pray, God to avenge the blood of the prophet on this nation."

"To the best of my knowledge," said Prof. Wolfe, polygamous cohabitation has increased very materially since Utah was admitted as a State.

Rudolph is the happiest man in the city today, for he says that in spite of his gray hairs he is still young enough to win the sweetheart of a much younger man. He says he came to realize without a spoken word that Lena loved him although she had promised to wed another. IDEA IS BACKED BY LIVE POLITICIANS.

Mayor McNinch Says that the Dilworth People, Many of Them, Are From South Carolina and they Detest a Dul Time. An Interesting Interview.

Any amount of talk could be heard on all sides today because of the action of Dilworth people in declaring for a separate municipality at a meeting held last night. The business men of Charlotte in their clubs and in their several places of business have been busily engaged in talking over the action of our suburban neighbors. Mayor McNinch was seen this morning and asked for an interview as to what he thought of the meeting held at Dilworth last night. He said:

"Oh, it is simply history repeating itself. A number of South Carolinians live there, and they are the leaders. Wherever you find South Carolinians you find live politicians. You will recall the secession of South Carolina from the Union in 1861; and if they leave now we must go with them, and ask to be permitted to become one of the smaller boroughs of Dilworth. I am one of the same stock, and, knowing them as I do, there will be no peace now, until their plans are carried out, and for peace's sake we must go with them."

"This is not the first effort at secession from our city. The first was at Belmont, but not having the right political material (South Carolina politicians), that Belmont effort resolved itself into a debating society. Not so with this newer effort of the Dilworth people. We can only have peace by joining in with them as a smaller borough."

"Seriously, all of us love Charlotte, and this is a prosperous community. We cannot accomplish our best results as a city if we cannot be one in unity of purpose and spirit. That spirit has taken hold on almost all of our citizens, and it will be soon the pleasure of the Dilworth-ees to say that they are Charlotteans, living in the Borough of Dilworth."

"For years Charlotte has been pulled for taxes to build macadam roads and run schools for Mecklenburg county and Charlotte township, which township includes my friends in Dilworth. This condition has caused the city proper to go into debt for everything it has needed for 25 years back. Had the money collected in taxes from Charlotte citizens which has been spent for roads, schools, school houses, etc., outside of the city of Charlotte, been spent within our city, every street could have been macadamized every walk way cemented and our main streets laid in vitrified brick or other high class pavement."

"No legislative officers or county commissioners should be elected by the citizens of Charlotte, no matter what their politics or principles, who will not promise to see that Charlotte gets her fair treatment in the matter of her proportion of taxes."

"No wonder all the suburban sections desire to fight shy of us. They understand the situation. They do not have done our duty by the county and township. Yes, more than our duty."

"We must, as citizens, demand that the milk from the good old cow be kept where it belongs. Then there will not be the same desire to avoid us."

It was suggested that I have done our duty by the county and township. Yes, more than our duty."

FOUGHT OFF NEGRO BRUTE. People of Canton Community Much Wrought Up Over Attempted Criminal Assault On Young Lady.

Canton, Ga., Feb. 7.—The people of this community are much wrought up over an attempted criminal assault made by a negro on a well known white lady.

The victim of the negro's attack is Miss Nancy Dawson, who is staying with the family of Mr. James Holcomb.

Early this morning, she left the house to go to the spring, about two hundred yards away. On the road an unknown negro leaped from the underbrush and caught her. She gave strong resistance, and began to scream. Although badly frightened and suffering the loss of nearly all her clothing, she escaped, the negro fearing capture, taking to his heels.

An alarm was given, and a vigorous search at once begun. All the boys and men of the neighborhood formed into a posse and are scouring the country. All are heavily armed, and if the brute is caught, there is little likelihood of his ever reaching jail.

One white man with his face partly blacked was arrested, but later released. Louis Bates, a negro, is under arrest, but he claims he can prove an alibi.

Miss Schuette confessed that she had "peeped" and had seen Weeden with his arm around the fair schoolteacher most of the time.

Weeden took the stand himself late in the day and denied that he had hugged Miss Barr on this occasion. "I had a sore throat and asked Miss Barr to look down my throat. She was peeping on this when the servant saw us," he said.

WIFE BEATERS WHIPPED. Oregon's New Law for Bad Husbands Said to Work Well.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 7.—The whipping post law enacted by the Oregon Legislature of 1905 is believed by its friends to have accomplished its purpose. Wife-beaters, they say, has almost been stopped in Oregon.

The law went into effect on May 18 last. Twenty lashes is the maximum penalty that can be imposed. It is optional with the court whether convicted wife-beaters shall be sentenced to the whipping post or confined to jail.

There have been only three instances of the punishment since the law went into effect. A month after the law went into effect Portland waiter was arrested for beating his wife. He was sentenced to receive twenty lashes.

He was taken to the Multnomah County jail the upper part of his body was bared and his hands were handcuffed together and tied to the top of the cell door. Then the jailer struck him twenty times. The whip used was a short cowhide stock with four buckskin thongs. This made every lash really four blows on the body.

The whipping, the first of its kind in the State, attracted widespread attention, and it made troublesome husbands fearful. The man whipped left Portland as soon as he was at liberty.

An example of the Southern Pacific car shops in Portland was sentenced in August to receive ten lashes. His wife sued for divorce while he was in jail, and he was freed after he had received the whipping and was at liberty he effected a reconciliation and the wife withdrew her complaint. The wife beater was discharged from his employment, and being unable to get other work left the city.

The only other man to be whipped was a former postmaster of Baker City, Ore., and the penalty was imposed in Baker county. He received twenty lashes.

An attempt was made under the terms of the law to whip a man who had assaulted his divorced wife. The courts held that the penalty could not be inflicted. He was sentenced to one year on the rock pile.

Judge George J. Cameron, of the Municipal Court of Portland, says that men were frequently charged with wife beating a few months ago, but now it is a rare occurrence. He believes the whipping post law is responsible for the change.

AGAINST BOXING CLUBS. Decision Expected to Put a Stop to Prize Fighting in New York.

New York, Feb. 7.—A decision which it is believed will put an end to the practice of holding prize fights before so-called "boxing clubs" in New York was rendered Monday by Justice Olney in the case of John Donnelly, president of the Colma Athletic Club, charged with violating a section of the penal code prohibiting the holding of prize fights where an admission fee is charged.

A detective testified that on the occasion of a fight on January 23 he stood in line with other men and paid one dollar for which he received a membership card entitling him to admission to see the fight. His ticket was numbered 100, although the club only claimed a membership of 100.

According to the constitution the objects of the club were mutual advantage in the way of the cultivation of literary exercises, to increase a taste for reading, to hold debates, and to increase the knowledge of parliamentary procedure.

Donnelly was fined $25 and the sentence was suspended.

COCHRAN DELIVERS A RINGING SPEECH ON THE RATE BILL.

Says the History of Railroad Management in this Country is the History of Favoritism, of Corruption and of Fraud. A Magnificent Effort.

Says Northern Securities Decision Added $240,000,000 to Wealth of the Conspirators, Their Stock Jumping From $100 to $160 Per Share.

By Associated Press. Washington, Feb. 7.—The House resumed the general debate on the Railroad Rate Bill which will be concluded today. Mr. Bankhead delivered a short speech in favor of the bill.

Mr. Cochran's Speech. Representative Cochran followed with a speech favoring the measure. He gave a simple analysis of railroad favoritism and discrimination to show its inherent injustice. Favoritism was always granted corruptly. "Sir," he continued, "the history of railroad management in this country is the history of favoritism, of corruption and of fraud." In spite of this he would not say the railroads had not rendered an enormous service, but they had not been as efficient as they should be. His next assertion was that railway influences predominated both the political parties.

Illustrating this, he showed how representatives of wealth ignored the courts and dominated state administrations.

He reviewed the Northern Securities decision which he said declared criminals and conspirators, those responsible for that combination.

"What is the result?" he asked. "It was to reduce the control of these properties from two to one. When they came to distribute stocks, Harriman had been eliminated, Morgan was supreme. A more perfect conspiracy was perfected through the decision of the court itself, and the stock, which was selling at $100 and $102 when the decision was pending sold for $160 after it was announced, thus enriching the conspirators who walked out of the court just $240,000,000 richer for having been convicted."

Mr. Mann, of Illinois, followed Mr. Cochran.

Mr. Mann explaining why the bill contained nothing relating to passenger and sleeping car rates, said: "We do not want to array the Southern Senators against the bill, and open up in this body the question of separate cars for the whites and blacks of the South."

Mr. Williams, the Democratic floor leader, followed, Mr. Mann.
