

GOVERNOR GLENN GETS INVITATION FROM RICHMOND

North Carolina Society of Richmond Invites the Governor to be Guest of Honor and to Deliver an Address on May 20th. The Big Occasion.

In Superior Court. Effort to Affect Consolidation of Three Telephone Systems. Posses of Revenue Officers Destroy Two Big Blockade Distilleries.

Special to The News. Raleigh, N. C., Mar. 1.—An invitation came today from the North Carolina Society of Richmond to Governor Glenn to be their guest of honor on North Carolina day May 20 and to deliver an address.

The invitation must await the return of the Governor to Raleigh Monday. The Raleigh Chamber of Commerce is having articles of agreement drawn up for the incorporation of the state summer school which is to be held in this city during the month following the annual session of the teachers assembly in June. The incorporation is with the view of making it a permanent institution for Raleigh and to provide an executive head. The indications are that the school this year will be characterized by the most elaborate and attractive program ever offered by a summer school in this State. It will organize for the session right after the adjournment of the three days session of the Teachers Assembly thereby saving the teachers a double trip and combining the reduced railroad rates for both.

The entire session of the Superior Court today was taken up with the trial of the case of L. N. Jackson vs. The Neuse River Cotton Mills in which Jackson sues for $10,000 damages for the loss of a leg by being caught under a pile of rock that caved in while the plaintiff was doing some excavation. The Industrial Club of Raleigh last night adopted a resolution declaring the three telephone systems in Raleigh as burdensome to the business interests of the city and insisting that there should be a consolidation into one or two systems. An effort in this direction is being pushed by the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and Industry and the Industrial Club endorsed their efforts. It is expected that the fight will result in the Southern Bell getting the field with the understanding with the business men as to the commercial and the residence rates that are to be charged.

Two big blockade distilleries, both of them within one mile of Oak Forest Baptist church, Johnston county, were destroyed last night by a posse of revenue officers.

FEATURES IN TRIAL BERTHA CLAICHE

Prosecution Completes its Case in Noted Trial. Handwriting Expert Testifies Regarding Certain Letters, Says She Wrote Them to Gerardon.

By Associated Press. New York, March 1.—The prosecution completed its case in the trial of Bertha Claiche for the murder of Emil Gerardon, after taking the testimony of William J. Kinsey, a handwriting expert.

Kinsey expressed the opinion that several letters which had been introduced by the prosecution were written by Bertha Claiche. These letters, which were addressed to Gerardon, couched in the most affectionate terms.

In one of them the writer implored Gerardon to go to her. The prosecution contends that the letters prove Bertha Claiche's relations with Gerardon were entirely voluntary.

Contentions of Defense.

Judge Rosalsky, of the counsel for Bertha Claiche, said in outlining the defendant's case that the defense would attempt to prove that some of the policemen who have testified in the case are attempting to send the defendant to the electric chair in order to save their positions on the police force.

MOTION TO QUASH THE INDICTMENT IN THE HASTY CASE

Presiding Judge Overruled the Motion and Ordered that Case Continue. Motion for a Continuance was Also Overruled by Court.

The Defense and the State Exhausted Every Challenge Before the Jury was Selected. The Examination of Witnesses Began this Afternoon.

Special to The News.

Gaffney, March 1.—A desperate effort was made this morning to have the case against George Hasty, charged with the murder of Miland C. Bennett and Abbott Davidson, continued.

Mr. George Johnstone, of Newberry, chief counsel for the defense, moved that the indictment against Hasty be quashed on the ground that the law requires all bills of indictment for murder to carry an indictment for concealed weapons. This motion was also argued by Mr. H. K. Osborne for the defense.

Solicitor Sease for the State, argued, at length against the motion and after mature deliberation the presiding judge overruled the motion and stated that the trial of the case would proceed. It was then argued by counsel for the defense that owing to the absence of material witnesses the case should be continued. This motion was promptly overruled by the court.

Promptly at 10 this morning the case of the State vs. George Hasty was called. It had been noised around since Monday that the defense would exhaust every conceivable means in its effort to quash the bill of indictment and failing to do this, counsel would seek a continuance.

When Mr. George Johnstone, chief counsel for the defense, arose to address the court, the room was packed and all the approaches leading to the court house were filled with people, eager to catch every word that was said. Mr. Johnstone in a splendid argument submitted his conception of the law regarding indictments for murder. He contended that the law of the commonwealth required every indictment for murder to carry with it an indictment against the accused for carrying concealed weapons; that as the indictment against his client did not carry with it an indictment for carrying a concealed weapon, he thought the motion to quash was in order and that the court should so rule.

Mr. Johnstone was followed by Mr. H. K. Osborne for the defense who reiterated the contention made by his associate and he hoped that the court would see fit to throw the case out of court.

Solicitor Sease contended that indictments for murder did not necessarily have to carry with them an indictment against the accused for carrying a concealed weapon and in this contention he cited many cases in support of his argument.

At the conclusion of the argument the judge decided that the motion to quash was not tenable and ordered that the trial proceed. Then it was that Mr. Johnstone moved that the case against Hasty be continued because of the absence of several important witnesses.

It was contended that because of the absence of one Herry alias Scott, the defense would be sorely crippled in producing certain testimony that would be very helpful to the accused. Herry, at the time of the tragedy, was a telegraph operator and it is stated that he furnished to the press of the country an article containing certain facts that, if proven to be true, would mitigate in favor of Hasty.

The court decided that this was not sufficient cause for delaying the trial but that counsel for the defense would be given ample time to produce such witnesses as would testify to material facts in the case.

After the formal arraignment of the prisoner the work of selecting a jury was begun. Both the defense and the State exhausted every challenge before the 12 men who had to pass on the life or death of George Hasty, were chosen. Those who were finally selected are: Allie Osborne, H. E. Tendall, Jud. M. Allison, S. W. Clary, W. H. Wright, James Lee, R. W. Stokes, Farmer Moore, T. E. Mabry, Robert Garner, D. G. Horn and T. J. Hames.

After selecting the jury the court took a recess until 3 o'clock this afternoon. It is supposed that either Miss Sheridan or one of the other members of the "Nothing But Money Co." will be the first witness introduced by the defense.

There is no abatement in the interest expressed here. The people of Gaffney were afraid that the case would be continued. Since the court has decided that the trial shall continue, remarks of approval as to the court's ruling, can be heard on every hand.

THE BIG MATTHEWS TRIAL IN PROGRESS

Court House Packed with Great Throng Yesterday at Opening of Noted Trial. Tedious Task of Selecting Jury. Notes About Proceedings.

Special to The News.

Greensboro, N. C., March 1.—With the superior court room packed and jammed with people yesterday, eager to witness the beginning of the trial of Dr. J. B. Matthews on a charge of murdering his wife, the whole of the morning session was consumed in disposing of a few remaining little jail cases on the docket. At one o'clock the last one of them was finished, the last negro sent to the roads and it was announced that a recess would be taken for dinner and the Matthews case called at two o'clock.

When court re-convened there was a struggling mass of people in or attempting to enter the court room. The gallery was crowded with negroes, the lower floor, aisles and even the bar packed with the curious crowd. Of the number there were 252 who had been summoned out of which to select the jury. The man on whom all eyes centered, Dr. J. B. Matthews, surrounded by his counsel, Major W. A. Guthrie and W. B. Guthrie, of Durham, Major Charles M. Stedman and A. W. Cooke, of Greensboro, sat apparently the least interested of any one present, but looking so vastly improved from what he was the last time he stood up to plead to the indictment, he was scarcely recognizable. His color was better, he had gained flesh, and instead of the lustreless eye of old, as he raised his head to speak to his brother, the eye beamed with something like intelligent recognition of the occasion.

Assisting the solicitor in the prosecution are Judge Bynum of Greensboro and H. A. Foushee of Durham. When the case was called Solicitor Brooks stated that a very important witness, Conductor Gippert, who first discovered the condition of Mrs. Matthews, was sick in a sanitarium in Philadelphia and unable to be present, and asked defense to admit that he swore to certain matters at the preliminary trial. Defendant refused to admit anything and the prosecution decided to proceed with the case. Only one juror was secured from the regular panel of 14.

At six o'clock the 12 jurors were selected, the defendant having exhausted his 24 peremptory challenges as the last juror was taken. Dr. W. T. Whitsett, president of Whitsett Institute, the last man chosen, was made W. A. Guthrie of the jury. The formal arraignment and reading of the bill of indictment was made by Solicitor Brooks, and court adjourned until Thursday.

The deposits of notes, loans, discounts and office fixtures, amount to about a like sum. The Southern Bank and Trust Company was a branch of the Southern Bank and Trust Co., of Dallas, Texas.

Cause of Failure.

Assignee Neal said the failure was due to a lack of capital, the entire assets being made up of deposits, loan and discounts and lease on the bank building.

WORK OF RIOTERS IN SPRINGFIELD, O., ON LAST NIGHT

Three Houses Were Burned and Others Stoned. Two Persons Injured. Davis not Expected to Live. City was Quiet this Morning.

Thirty Rioters Arraigned in Court This Morning. Prisoners Carried Under Guard on Special Car to Hospital to be Identified by Mortin Davis.

By Associated Press.

Springfield, Ohio, Mar. 1.—When the sun rose this morning the city was at peace, and aside from the presence of the militiamen there was no visible evidence of the disorderly scenes of last night. The militia settled down to rest in apparently complete control of the situation.

The net results of the night's troubles, were not so serious as the riotous scenes might naturally have been expected to produce. Three houses occupied by colored families in different localities were burned and several others were stoned.

Two persons were injured during the night. Brakeman Martin Davis, whose wounding by negroes Dean and Ladd Monday night, was the immediate cause of the rioting, was still alive this morning. His recovery is not probable.

Rioters Arraigned.

Guarded by two companies of the Third Regiment, the prisoners Edward Dean and Preston Ladd were brought here from Dayton today and taken to the city hospital to be identified by Martin Davis the wounded brakeman. The journey was made in a special car.

There was no disturbance on the way to the hospital as their coming was not generally known.

Twenty-five rioters were arraigned in the police court this morning. Identified Edward Dean, failed to identify Ladd.

Davis identified Edward Dean, but failed to identify Ladd. Gillette's Resignation.

The resignation of Major Cassius Gillette was received at the War Department this afternoon. Action has not been taken on it, but it is believed it will be accepted.

Mr. N. T. Blackwell, representative of the National Ginners' Association and whose home is in Texas, spent today in the city for the purpose of organizing a State branch of the National Association.

Mr. Blackwell stated the purposes of the move to a reporter for The News today as follows:

"The purpose of my visit to Charlotte is to form a State organization here and secure the appointment of two representatives to attend a general congress of the entire association to be held some time between now and May, and get all our plans mapped out for the work next fall. This conference will be held in Memphis or some other central point."

Mr. Blackwell was in conference with several ginners and others at the county court house this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when it was expected that a State organization would be started if a sufficient number of ginners were present.

Mr. Blackwell will be in Columbia tomorrow to organize the South Carolina branch of the National Association.

DR. MACK DISMISSED.

He Will Take Work in Atlanta.—Mr. Walsh's Removal.

At a meeting of Mecklenburg Presbytery held today at noon at the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. J. B. Mack, who has been pastor of Providence and Banks churches, was dismissed to the Atlanta Presbytery, he having accepted a call to that field.

In the matter of dismissing Rev. Walter Walsh to the King's Mountain Presbytery no action was taken. Mr. Walsh has a call to serve several churches in the Concord Presbytery. He has this under consideration and until a definite conclusion is arrived at, the Presbytery decided that it would take no action.

Mecklenburg people will be pained to learn that Dr. J. B. Mack is to leave. Several days ago it was stated that he had declined the call to the Atlanta church. He afterward decided to take up the new work and he will leave in a few days for his new field of labor.

NEW BERN NEWS.

A "Blind Tiger" Raid—Glee Club Concert—Injunctions Against Railroad—Personal Mention. Special to The News.

New Bern, N. C., Mar. 1.—A "blind tiger" raid was made by the police force, which resulted yesterday in a lively mayor's court. Several white men and negroes, were before the court on the charge of selling the spirituous. Several of them were caught with the "goods," and the case against them looked dark. However, their attorneys succeeded in discovering a slight flaw in the warrant, and the case was continued until today. The drag-net system has proved, so far, the most successful one ever employed in New Bern.

Dr. Dunseth, a prominent physician of New York City, is spending a few days in the city. The Trinity Glee Club will give an entertainment here next Monday night.

New Bern is constantly at "outs" with her railroads. It is now the new road, the Pamlico, Oriental and Western. The city has issued an injunction against the road. This on account of Kleybolt & Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, to whom the stock was assigned. Nothing satisfactory definite can be learned regarding the financial responsibility of Kleybolt & Co.

The very coldest wave of the winter struck New Bern yesterday. Sleet and snow filled the air. A strong north wind cut like daggers. New Bern is having an epidemic of small fers. There were two or three calls for the firemen Sunday night. Fortunately they reached the scene of excitement in time to nip the blaze in the bud. New Bern has one of the best fire companies in the State.

It is rather unusual for a negro to attempt, or even think of, suicide. The "brother in black" in normally a "happy-go-lucky" sort of creature. John Brown, the bell boy at the Hotel Chat-tawba, is an exception. Brooding over the theft of some money, which, however, he had returned, he attempted to end his existence by swallowing a large quantity of laudanum. He was seen to swallow the stuff by one of the other employees and the fact was reported to Dr. Ward, who has an office in the hotel. Assisted by Dr. Hughes, Dr. Ward soon pumped the poison from the negro's stomach, and he will recover.

SUES LEMPS FOR $403,000. Chicago Lawyer Alleges Broken Contract to Sell Wiggins Ferry Stock.

By Associated Press. St. Louis, Mar. 1.—William J. Lemp, Jr., Louis F. Lemp, Charles A. Lemp and Edwin A. Lemp, executors of the estate of William J. Lemp, the millionaire brewer who died Feb. 13, 1904, have been sued for $403,000 with interest from May 5, 1902, by Richard A. Jackson, a Chicago lawyer. The suit grows out of the rise in Wiggins Ferry stock. It is charged the elder Lemp contracted to sell 303 shares at $100 each to President Wade of the Mercantile Trust Co.

Jackson afterward acquired the claim, but when he demanded the stock he was told Lemp had sold it. The stock was worth $604,500 at one time.

FAIL TO PLEASE CHINESE FANCY

Agents Claim that U. S. Manufacturers Loose in Competing for Trade With China Because they Fail to Use Right Sort of Samples.

By Associated Press. Washington, March 1.—The Bureau of Manufactures has received from special agents appointed to investigate the Chinese market for American made goods a large quantity of samples of cotton materials in demand in China.

The samples will be arranged and placed on exhibition in New England, Georgia and other points where manufacturers may examine them. The reports of the agents say that the United States is not competing with other countries in Chinese markets, principally because the manufacturers do not know what the Chinese want, and are not shipping the desired articles.

The samples sent to the bureau are mostly prints, vivid in coloring, and of designs to suit Chinese taste. They are made in England, Germany, France and elsewhere abroad, particularly for Chinese trade.
