New York, March 29.-Rather than face disgrace and her father's anger when he discovered that she had been dismissed from a school, Jessie Mc-Gregor, aged fourteen, deliberately took her own life by inhaling gas. That the child had evidently been making her decision since last Friday, when her teacher told her she must not return to school any more, was shown by the careful manner in which she had prepared for death. Complaining of a headache in the afternoon, Jessie retired to her room. She curled her hair carefully, put on her best dress, closed the windows, carefully turned on the gas and lay down on the bed. She had evidently adjusted he shirts and assumed the position in which she wished to be found.

Memphis, Tenn., March 29 .- The Grand Jury today began investigating the cause of the death of Elizabeth Buckley, the sixteen-year-old actress, better known in Memphis as Adelaide Hayden, who died last week in St.

Joseph's Hospital. C. P. Hunt, a cotton broker, con tends that his relations with the young girl were purely platonic, the result of the sympathy of an old man for beauty in distress. When Miss Hayden was deserted here by the Billy Clifford company Hunt had her sent to a hospital and finally provided funds for her to reach her New York home. Realizing her condition she hastened to draw another draft on Hunt's sympathy bank and returned to Memphis and to her death.
