

ALL IS NOW QUIET IN SALISBURY CITY

The Court is Over, the Soldiers Have Gone Home and the Salisbury Date Line Takes Second Place. Southern to Build Big Transfer Sheds.

Special The News. Salisbury, Aug. 13.—The last work of the special term of court before adjournment Saturday evening was to place Francis Cress, one of the alleged participants in the lynching, under a $500 bond; which was promptly signed by John Kennerly and G. T. Klutz. Cress is bound over pending investigations in other cases, one charge of which will be rioting. The verdict of the jury finding Cress to have been insane Monday night of the lynching but of sound mind when the case was heard places his case in a peculiar light. If the solicitor pushes the other indictments against Cress he will go before the court having been adjudged insane when the acts were committed, but he can hardly come under the head of the criminal insane, because the jury said he was a sane man when it brought in the verdict. The outcome will be interesting. With the dismissal of the cases against Cauble, Goodman and Bully-boy, the binding over of Cress, the appeal in the case of Hall and the continuance of the cases against Gentle the court adjourned. Hall and Gentle were ordered confined in the penitentiary for safe keeping until their cases are again taken up.

They were taken to the depot under military escort and are now safe behind the State prison bars. The troops all departed Saturday night and yesterday was an exceedingly quiet Sunday in Salisbury. There was nothing left to indicate the exciting period which has just passed. The city is quiet, the people are glad, and all hope the like may never occur again. All good citizens agree that the lynching is a blot upon the city, the county and the State, but believe the prompt investigation, trial and punishment of those who were recognized as participants in the awful affair will in a measure wipe out the blot. Time will have to erase the remainder.

Preparations are being made by the Southern Railway for the erection at this place of the largest transfer sheds in the South. Civil engineers were last week shed. They will be located midway between Salisbury and Spencer and will replace the one now located at the freight depot in this city. An additional force of clerks and a larger squad of truckmen will be employed at the new place.

Rev. Neighbors, pastor of the First Baptist church in this city, preached last night from the subject, "The Spirit of Lawlessness."

The Republicans evidently desire a short campaign so far as the contest for county offices goes. The much heralded Republican county convention to name a ticket has been postponed until Saturday, September 15th. Spencer Blackburn, Thos. Settle and the Rockwell cornet band will be the star attractions. The convention is evidently called to enthrone the boys, for it is safe to say that the ticket is already named, endorsed and marked o. k.

As an instance as to how some negroes at least felt during the exciting times in Salisbury last Monday night when the jail was stormed manager Armistead, of the Western Union, showed your correspondent a note left by two negro linemen on that night. It was sent to the telegraph office and read: "Mr. Armistead, we is gone to Richmond on 24 tonight, if you want us back write and we will come after all this trouble is over." The note was signed by both negroes.

Bids for a site for Salisbury's public building, for which Congress made an appropriation of $65,000, will be opened in Washington on the 22nd. of this month. Several sites will be offered. It is understood that the county commissioners will offer the lot now occupied by the jail for the Federal building, as a new jail is to be erected on Church street.

AN OLD TIMER Has Had Experience.

A woman who has used Postum Food Coffee since it came upon the market 8 years ago knows upon experience the necessity of using Postum in place of coffee if one values health and steady brain.

She says: "At the time Postum was first put on the market I was suffering from nervous dyspepsia and my physician had repeatedly told me not to use tea or coffee. Finally I decided to take his advice and try Postum, and got a sample and had it carefully prepared, finding it delicious in taste. So I continued its use and very soon its beneficial effects convinced me of its value for I got well of my nervousness and dyspepsia.

"My husband had been drinking coffee all his life until it had affected his nerves terribly. I persuaded him to shift to Postum and it was easy to get him to make the change, for the Postum is delicious. It certainly worked wonders for him.

"We soon learned that Postum does not exhilarate or depress and does not stimulate, but steadily and honestly strengthens the nerves and the stomach. To make a long story short our entire family have now used Postum for eight years with completely satisfying results as shown in our fine condition of health and we have noticed a rather unexpected improvement in brain and nerve power." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Increased brain and nerve power always follow the use of Postum in place of coffee, sometimes in a very marked manner. Look in pkgs. for "The Road to Wellville."

CHARLOTTE PASTOR SCORES THE MOB

Mr. Duncan Preaches two Forceful Sermons on the Salisbury Lynching. Fierce Denunciation of Lynchers and Their Inhuman Methods.

Rev. William Duncan, pastor of the First Associate Reformed Presbyterian church preached a bold sermon yesterday morning on Lynching, Our National Sin and a Deep Disgrace, taking his text from Isaiah 59: 14-15. "And Judgment is turned away backward, and justice standeth afar off; for truth has fallen in the streets and equity cannot enter."

In this expordium Mr. Duncan spoke of the pressing need existing today for a public sentiment to denounce the terrible sin of which America is guilty today, saying: "The time has come when it is the duty of pulpits and press to speak with no uncertain sound and with no timorous voice. The daily papers of our city have spoken forcibly and fearlessly, voicing the noblest and truest sentiments in expressing their unqualified disapproval of such dastardly crimes as that which was again staged at the execution of our noble State. Every boy and girl should read the editorials which appeared in these papers last week. The utterances and addresses of Judge Long to the citizens of Salisbury and the jury which tried the lynchers ought to be published in pamphlet form and placed in the hands of every youth in this broad land. We are proud of the man, and of the lofty sentiments to which he has given voice.

The Universality of the crime of lynching was first considered. "I have seen the slimy trail of this dragon on the prairies of Illinois, in the deep forests of Indiana and among the sunny hills of Ohio. I have followed it, too, through the valleys of Pennsylvania, where churches and colleges lifted their towers on every hand. It has been seen amid the orchards and vineyards and palaced villas of proud New York as well as in Tennessee, Kentucky and Mississippi and I have found it here in our own good Old North State, lifting its bloody fangs to attack the sacred citadel of justice and murder the representatives of the law and guardians of our homes. It left unchecked that dragon's teeth would yet drip with the life-blood of the nation.

The nature and enormity of the sin was the second consideration. "As to the nature of it, it is dark and damnable, cowardly, cruel and criminal to the last degree. Absolutely without excuse or apology, and, in the Salisbury case, without one single extenuating circumstance or redeeming feature. It was begotten of the basest passions that ever reared in human breast. It was born in some deep abyss of hell and is odoriferous with the fires of the damned.

As to the enormity of this sin suffice to say it is a crime against humanity. It degrades and depraves to the level of brutes, aye of demons, those who participate in it. We see men acting like fiends, raging and cursing the mad man, defying all laws human or Divine, perpetrating such deeds of barbarity upon their wretched victims as would do credit to a Spanish inquisition.

Mr. Duncan then turned to the Danger and Duty in view of the awful crime, saying in part:

"Our danger is not imaginary but real and imminent. "If this thing continues it will not be long until we are in a state of anarchy, which will be followed by a reign of terror like that which smears the bloody pages of French history for long years. Every man will be his own avenger. No man's honor or life or property will be safe. "My friends, let us look this matter in the face. Do we wish to commit the administration of justice and punishment of offenders to the hands of a wild, irrational and irresponsible mob, led by law-violators, libertines and lunatics, as was the case a few days ago? Do we want Judge Long on the bench, or (Judge) Hall—the leader of the lynchers.

His Evening Sermon. The night sermon was addressed primarily to the young men of the church and city. Mr. Duncan chose for his theme, The Boy on the Limb, and based his remarks upon the career of young Absalom.

The career of Absalom was first portrayed and the analogy between his life, his rebellion to home restraints and the authority of God, and the boy who figured so prominently in the Salisbury lynching was drawn with splendid power.

"In the youths of this land rests the future of this country. It makes my blood run red," said the preacher, "when I think of such boys as the one on the limb dictating to America her laws and the administration of government.

"The downfall of Absalom was sure, and the downfall of every man who patterns his life after the old King's son shall be just as sure. There is absolutely no uncertainty about it.

"The heritage which Absalom bequeathed to posterity shall be the legacy left by every young man who follows in his steps. Over his grave now there lies a heap of stones thrown by every Hebrew lad who passes that way, as a mark of shame and disgrace.

"The conclusion of the discourse was an appeal to the young people to live lives of close fellowship with God, and in respect for his laws and the laws of the land. Both the sermons were bold denunciations of the recent crime committed against the fair name of the State, and those who heard Mr. Duncan were pleased with the manner in which the delicate subject was treated.

C. A. REYNOLDS WILL OPPOSE KITCHEN

Was Nominated Saturday by the Republicans of the 5th District. Convention not Largely Attended. Charles Hairston Arrested and in Jail.

Special to The News. Greensboro, Aug. 13.—At a meeting of the Republican district convention here Saturday afternoon to nominate a candidate for Congress in the Fifth district to oppose the Democratic nominee, W. W. Kitchen, Postmaster Chas. A. Reynolds being prevailed upon to accept the nomination was given by unanimous vote. In accepting the honor and the burden, Mr. Reynolds, who made a vigorous canvass as the candidate two years ago, notified the convention that it need not expect such a strenuous effort this time, for he was not going to do it. There were only about fifteen Republicans present and five of the ten counties of the district were unrepresented. Mr. John T. Benbow of Winston was re-elected chairman of the district committee. It is generally conceded that Kitchen will get the biggest majority in the district this time that he has ever received, consequently only a Republican who is already drawing a good salary, could be found to make the pretense of a race.

The negro Charles Hairston who shot and fatally wounded a negro boarding house keeper at the double tracking camp near Jamestown last Tuesday, was reported here Saturday as having been captured at Whitney.

Deputy Sheriff Weatherly left Saturday night for Whitney and returned on the early morning train yesterday bringing with him the genuine Charles Hairston, who admits his identity and that he did the shooting. He is now in jail here, awaiting news as to whether his victim, Lee Cates, is living or dead. Cates is said to have been taken to Charlotte, where he has a brother, and was barely alive at last report. Both physicians who attended him at Jamestown, said he could not possibly live, as one of the three balls from a pistol which Hairston had shot into him, perforated his intestines.

Saturday afternoon Sheriff Jordan received a telegram from Winston saying that Baldwin's detective agency had located Hairston for Rea and was holding him for further orders. The sheriff notified the agency that they had the wrong negro, as he had the right one safe in jail here.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 11.—Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholevitch, President of the Council of National Defence, narrowly escaped assassination yesterday afternoon at the hands of the Imperial Guards in a guard camp at Krasnole Hselo.
