Swept Down By Rushing Waters

Mr. Clarence McAuley Drowned in Rocky River Tuesday Night, Returning From Concord. Body Found Yesterday.

The shocking news of the drowning of Mr. Clarence McAuley, an exemplary young man of the Huntersville neighborhood reached the city this morning, creating a feeling of profound sorrow among the many friends whom he numbered here. Mr. McAuley was drowned Tuesday afternoon in Rocky River at the Cox's Mill crossing, his body being found yesterday afternoon. It was discovered by a negro who was fishing after first finding a buggy to which was hitched a mule identified as belonging to Mr. McAuley.

The deceased left his home near Huntersville Tuesday morning, going to Concord. His people were not informed as to when to expect his return and therefore felt not apprehension when the young man failed to turn up Tuesday night. Some feeling of anxiety, however, was felt when two days passed and nothing was heard of him. Still no effort was made to locate him.

Fishing on the banks of Rocky River yesterday afternoon a colored man whose name could not be learned saw a buggy not far from the crossing at Cox's Mill and at once began an investigation. He soon discovered that a mule was hitched thereto, lying partly under the water. This led to the search for Mr. McAuley's body, the team being at once recognized as his. The body found was a short distance from where the buggy and mule were, lying in the water.

At Cox's Mill crossing Rocky River forks and the road goes over two bridges, between which is a decided depression. The supposition is that Mr. McAuley drove into the swollen stream Thursday night and was carried away by the rushing waters.

Mr. McAuley was a son of Mr. Thos. McAuley, a highly respected citizen of the Ramoth vicinity. He was a young man of excellent habits and numbered many friends throughout the entire county. His sudden and tragic death will cause extreme sorrow among his acquaintances.

yesterday for Toledo, Ohio, where she will visit before returning North.

Mr. T. W. Smith, of Concord, is visiting Mrs. J. S. Blake, on East Ninth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams' Reception Tonight.

The crystal wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Adams will be an elaborate social event tonight, at their home on North Tryon street.

5,000 Tarheel Veterans Will Attend the Re-union

From every source, through the press and by North Carolinians who have visited Richmond, Va., lately, comes the information that the Old North State will have a larger delegation than any other State. It is estimated that at least 5,000 old soldiers from this State alone will land in Richmond on the 29th.

The veterans will be interested to know that Colonel William Emory, of Roanoke Rapids, this State, adjutant-general on the staff of General Julian S. Carr, has been to Richmond to make arrangements for the army of veterans from this State who will attend.

He has secured the Sanger Hall, on Seventh street for North Carolina headquarters, and soon a large banner will be flown across Seventh street inviting all citizens of the State to come in and accept of its hospitality. Colonel Emory says that not fewer than 5,000 will come with the North Carolina delegation, and that they will reach Richmond on the evening of May 29th, in order to be in good trim for the Memorial Day parade, and exercises in connection with the unveiling of the Stuart monument on the 30th.

Colonel Emory is providing for a number of special entertainments and attractions at the North Carolina headquarters. The "Tar Heels" will take with them their own band, will have a piano, and the best Richmond talent will be engaged from time to time to entertain the old men.

Billy Kersand's Minstrels.

The coming of a minstrel show always breaks the monotony of the usual theatrical attractions for the black fellows appear only to laugh and make the world laugh with them. Their specialty is doing funny things just as foolishly as possible. This will be feature of Billy Kersand's Minstrels which will be seen at the Academy of Music tonight. Lovers of good instrumental and vocal music and those who like to "smile away dull care" will do well to see the performance.

Miss Munson at Spartanburg.

Miss Grace Munson, who charmed large audiences during the Greater Charlotte Chautauqua last fall is one of the artists at the Spartanburg festival. The beauty of that city speak of her in highest terms of praise and she is receiving the same ovation that characterized her presence in this city.

Death of Mr. Coskery.

Mr. Thos. W. Coskery, one of the wealthiest and most influential citizens of Augusta, Ga., died last Wednesday. Mr. Coskery was well known by several Charlotte citizens. Miss Sallie Davidson spent last winter at his home and formed a great attachment for the family.

Illness of Miss Miller.

Miss Sallie Davidson has received intelligence of the desperate illness of her niece, Miss Barnett Miller in a hospital at Columbia, S. C. Miss Miller is a grand-daughter of the late Mr. A. B. Davidson.

The Auditorium Building.

Architect L. J. Hunter placed the revised plans for the new auditorium on exhibition at Jordan's drug store today and much favorable comment was heard of its attractiveness and neatness of its appearance.

Open Conservatory of Music.

Mr. H. C. Dresser and two sisters, Misses Mabel and Florence Dresser have opened a conservatory of music at 209 Elizabeth avenue. These are young musicians of talent and ambition and will doubtless find this an acceptable field.
