Club, and which is the club's richest treasure. In faith, like his forefathers, he was a Presbyterian. He had strong faith, and that faith was the plumb line of his daily walk and life.

Surviving Mr. Tiddy are one sister, Miss Sarah Tiddy, and one brother, Mr. John Tiddy, the latter a prominent citizen of Shelby. Deceased was an uncle of Mrs. J. W. McCombs and Mrs. W. C. Alexander.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church by Rev. Dr. A. A. McGeachy.

Testimony Pro And Con In The Famous Surgical Instrument Case—Father Joseph Claims The Instruments Were a Gift Dr. Wilder Claims Not.

A large crowd was present in the superior court room this morning when the case of Drs. Wilder, Witherspoon, Winchester and McLaughlin vs. the Mercy-General Hospital, was called.

The litigation concerns the ownership of a valuable set of surgical instruments, which, when new, were valued at approximately $1,500. The claim of the plaintiffs is that the instruments belong to them, most of them to Dr. H. M. Wilder, and that they were placed in the hospital only to be used by the surgeons themselves.

Dr. Wilder's statements as representing the side of the plaintiffs is wholly at variance, and in the effort to learn the exact state of affairs a large number of witnesses were placed on the stand this morning.

Dr. Williams' testimony left the impression that Dr. Wilder was anxious to do everything possible to favor the local hospital. Mr. Williams said he was a member of Father Joseph's church.

Mr. Toomey upon these representations did not make any charges for his work, which he said was about a $65 job.

Mr. McNeill testified that Dr. Wilder had told him on one occasion that he would give $1,000 to the hospital and told him later that he had given that much.

Mr. P. H. Phelan was another witness and said that Dr. Wilder met him on the street and said: "Pat, what are you folks going to do with that building down there? I'd like to give at least a thousand dollars, if it is to be a hospital and is to be in charge of the Sisters. They are the best nurses in the world."

He talked to Dr. Wilder about the subject several times on the street and said that the doctor was very much interested and expressed the hope and purpose of making the Mercy-General one of the best equipped hospitals south of Baltimore.

Miss Finch, who was a nurse at the Mercy-General for about two years, heard Dr. Wilder say, so she told on the stand, that the instruments were a donation to the hospital and were not to be taken out. When cross-examined by Mr. Kessler as to whether she remembered having heard any other statement from Dr. Wilder at any time she could not recall any other.

Mr. Warren Vines Hall had had the superintendence of some decorative work at the hospital on its completion and in conversation with Dr. Wilder understood him to say he had given the instruments to the hospital.

Several other witnesses were examined among them Drs. Moore and Clifford, who were asked as to the value of the instruments. Both testified that the instruments were somewhat worn and that some of them were not modern. Dr. Clifford and Dr. Moore both reckoned the present value to be about $600.

VIOLA ALLEN TO PLAY MATINEE.
A wire was received this afternoon from the managers of the "White Sister" that they would play a matinee in this city on the afternoon of the 26th, Thursday.

Manager Crovo opened the box office this morning for the sale of tickets to "The White Sister," as it intended playing only one night in this city and in less than two hours the house was sold out and there were hundreds of people who it was thought would be disappointed at not seeing the show.

A wire was immediately sent to the manager of the company asking that they play a matinee in this city and in a short time an answer was received stating that this would be possible.

Manager Crovo states that the advance sale this morning was the fastest and largest he has ever had since managing the Academy of Music and feels sure that the matinee will be appreciated by the patrons of the Academy.

Young mules, weighing from 900 to 1,400 pounds and selling from $225 to $350, are being handled by the Wadsworth sales stables here. Four car loads of Kentucky mules arrived last Saturday and already many of them have been sold to the farmers who daily come to the market here.

A conference was held at 12 o'clock at the office of the Greater Charlotte club, at which it was decided to let the committees continue their work to-morrow night at 8:30 o'clock.

The question of the introduction of such a measure at the present session of the general assembly was discussed around the city hall this morning and many were in favor of such a bill.
