AMUSEMENTS

Lew Dockstader.

Such folk as a rule are so bound up in their own calling that they really have very little time to devote to the happenings of the day and the topics of the time and for many of them their reading is confined to the Dramatic Record, and similar publications which might in a way be termed "trade papers." Quite the contrary, however, is the case of Lew Dockstader, the minstrel man, who is to be at the Academy of Music next Wednesday, matinee and night, with his Twentieth Century Minstrels. Dockstader's specialty has always consisted of jokes and quips on the current news of the day, especially of political topics and this accounted his being an omnivorous reader of the daily newspapers. There is no one on the stage and few other walks of life who possess a more comprehensive knowledge of political conditions and a wider acquaintance all over the country than this same Lew Dockstader. Possibilities he has been catered to and has come in contact with political leaders generally through the fact that he has never seemed to take them seriously and has always been ready to "crack jokes" about them and their idiosyncrasies and secondly because he is a "good fellow well liked." His acquaintanceship among politicians is so wide that he now proposes to write a book dealing with politics, the title for which will be "Statesmen Who Have Met Me." This book will consist mostly of anecdotes and funny things with which the comedian associates the public men with whom he has come in contact. The book will go on sale Monday morning at Hawley's.

Black Patti Coming.

Ask any person versed in musical matters what race of people are the most musical and have the best voices, a white, and he or she will reply without hesitation the negro or colored race. It is seldom that you will find any member of this race that cannot play some musical instrument and it is not the possessor of a pleasant singing voice, and in most cases, no matter how illiterate he may be in other matters, it seems to be natural for him to be proficient in this respect. The sense of humor is also highly developed and to have a common expression the negro is a natural born comedian. The Black Patti Musical Comedy Company which is composed entirely of this race of people, is now in its fifteenth

Biliousness

"I have used your valuable Cascarets and I find them perfect. Couldn't do without them. I have used them for some time for indigestion and biliousness and am now completely cured. Recommend them to everyone. Once tried, you will never be without them in the family."—Edward A. Marx, Albany, N.Y.

consecutive season, and is said by the press and public everywhere to be one of the best musical companies on the road. The book and music of "A Trip to Africa," is by Jolly John Larkins, one of the foremost colored comedians, is a veritable mine of comedy and sweet music of this whistly kind. Black Patti is this season at her best and the surrounding company is entirely adequate. The Black Patti Company is the attraction at the Academy of Music Friday, matinee and night.

Heinmann Concert.

Tickets are now on sale at Hawley's for the coming engagement at the Academy of Music next Tuesday night, of the great German baritone, Alexander Heinemann, who is making his first tour of the South. The demand for seats has been very good, and the prospects are that one of the largest and most fashionable audiences of the season will assemble within the local playhouse to welcome this great artist.

Child's Burns Prove Fatal.

Special to The News. Statesville, Feb. 4.—May Evans, the 12-year-old stepdaughter of Nathan Evans, who lives in the Beulah neighborhood some miles west of Statesville, is dead as the result of severe burns received Tuesday evening. Some smaller children of the family set fire to grass to see it burn and May attempted to stamp the fire out and her clothing was ignited. Rev. J. A. Smith, of Charlotte, was here this week at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. A. E. Smith, who is recovering from injuries received in a fall a few days ago.

Just Call "Postal" in Sending Telegram

The Postal Telegraph-Cable Company has completed arrangements with the Southern Bell Telephone Company whereby patrons of the Postal Company throughout the country may call its offices by the name "Postal," instead of by number as heretofore. Any one now desiring to send a telegram, merely removes the telephone receiver and says "Postal or 'Postal Telegram'" and the central operator will give connection with the Postal telegraph office. This innovation became effective on February 1st and will undoubtedly be welcomed by the public, as it obviates the delay and annoyance of ascertaining the telephone number. Telegrams may be telephoned to the Postal office and credit will be allowed to listed telephone subscribers. Delivery can be made by telephone by inserting the telephone number of the addressee in the address of the telegram. Hubbards—"Now that you are living out of town don't you find it very inconvenient to be always catching trains?" Subbubs—"Nof at all. It's always missing them that's inconvenient."

February Weather For 33 Years

The following figures furnished by Observer W. V. Martin, of the local weather bureau, show what kind of weather has prevailed in Charlotte for the month of February during the last 33 years or since the national government established the office here. While not in the nature of a forecast for the present month of February, the record is interesting as showing the possibilities of the weather for the month, since history repeats itself in weather conditions as in other things. It is interesting, too, in view of the fact that the much-talked-of and much misrepresented ground hog saw his shadow Thursday last and went back to take another long nap, while mankind was left to prophecy and conjecture as to what kind of weather would prevail for the next six weeks and to devise methods for cheating the coal man.

The mean or normal temperature for Charlotte for February for the last 33 years was 43 degrees. The warmest February of that period was February of 1890, which had an average temperature of 53 degrees. The coldest February for that 33 years was in 1895, the average temperature being 33 degrees. The highest temperature for February was 79 degrees on February 25, 1890; the lowest was 5 degrees on February 14, 1899.

Charlotte has people who will easily recall the famous snow of February 14-15, of 1902. The snow began falling on the afternoon of February 14 about 2 o'clock and continued steadily until about 8 o'clock the next morning. The day following was absolutely clear of snow or rainfall, a gray canopy of cloud remaining during the day. The snow remained on the ground several weeks.

The prevailing winds for the month are from the southwest, the average hourly velocity being 7.3 miles per hour. The highest velocity for a February was recorded on February 7, 1904, and came from the southwest.

ATTACK LIKE TIGERS

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then sepsis, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fall. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif. "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at W. L. Hand & Co.'s.

AVIATOR AND HIS BRIDE
The noted French aviator Count Jacques de Lesseps, and Miss Grace MacKenzie, of Toronto, Can., whom he recently married in London. The marriage is the culmination of a romance which began while the Count was performing aerial feats in Toronto. His wife accompanied him on many of his trips through the air. Miss MacKenzie is the youngest daughter of Sir William MacKenzie, the Canadian railroad man. Count de Lesseps is a grandson of the noted French engineer Ferdinand De Lesseps. He is twenty-seven years of age. A year ago he took up aviation and made some notable flights, including the crossing of the English channel. In accordance with the wishes of his young wife, he has given up aeroplaning.
