Flowers That Bloom In The Spring Tra-La Have Nothing to Do With The Case

They think the money that comes to them now from the western dominion will be diverted largely to American firms. The attitude among the western Canadians who are for the most part farmers, is a bit doubtful. On the whole I think that if the question were put to a popular referendum today I would not meet with the approval of a majority of Canadians.

FLOWERS THAT BLOOM IN THE SPRING TRA-LA HAVE NOTHING TO DO WITH THE CASE

By Associated Press. Washington, Feb. 23.—Senator Beveridge upon taking the floor today immediately addressed himself to the speech delivered yesterday by Senator Lorimer. Mr. Beveridge called the senate's attention from the eloquence of Mr. Lorimer to "the record of sworn testimony before us—testimony given under oath and searched as by fire, with fierce cross-examination."

"Indeed," he continued, "if I mistake any testimony or fail to give fairly and fully, I will take it as a personal favor if any senator better posted than I will correct me; for I say to the senate that I had far rather be shown to be in error than to be permitted to make any misstatement of the facts."

"I go further and say that I would far rather find that the testimony establishes the validity of this election than that the testimony vitiates the election. The validity of the election is the issue and the only issue and it is the gravest issue that can arise under free institutions, but because of our government depends absolutely upon the purity of the elections."

Mr. Beveridge said he had listened with peculiar personal sympathy to Senator Lorimer's story of his rise from humble estate to this high place. There were many many senators, he said, who from an earlier youth had borne even heavier burdens. But they had asked nothing of the world on that account.

"But while I was affected as a man by that appeal," said the speaker, "I was curious as a judge that Lorimer did not recite these things before the senate committee, if he or his attorneys thought them material or relevant. His account of this popularity is interesting and explains much of his political strength, but it is not relevant to the question of bribery which we are now considering."

Senator Beveridge was scheduled to take the floor today and, as he has said he had only half made his arrangement, the expectation was that he would put in the greater part of the day. After him Senator Stone is expected to make a brief speech in opposition to the Illinois senator and it is believed Senator LaFollette will be asked to be heard in opposition.

Friends of Mr. Lorimer don't intend to allow his enemies to close the debate. Senator Griffins and Burrows are among those who will be heard on that side. Bitter feeling has arisen between the factions, so that the prospect is that from this time on the debate will be lively. Some senators expressed doubt today whether the case could be decided before final adjournment.

Lorimer's friends now claim 54 out of 91 votes in the senate. The opposition gives no figures. "His newsboy experience and the devoted friendship between himself and 'Hinky Dink' resulting therefrom is engaging but it is not material as to the corruption of Holst-law, White, Beckmeyer, Lihk and others."

Senator Burrows, who controls the case in the interest of the committee on privileges and elections, and who is a staunch supporter of Senator Lorimer, stands ready to vote at any time the senate will permit such action and it was his announced intention this morning to ask the senate during the day to fix a time for a ballot.

The causes of probable delay are manifold; but in the main it is due on the one hand to desire on the part of Lorimer's opponent to counteract the impression made by Mr. Lorimer's speech yesterday and on the other to the determination to stand off the reciprocity bill.

Ed Callahan Arrested.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 23.—Following an altercation on a train, Ed Callahan, who was sheriff of Breathitt county under the feud regime of Judge James Hargis, was arrested here today. The warrant was sworn out by Alexander Hargis, brother of the former feud leader and formerly a state senator. Hargis claims that Callahan threatened him during a dispute over a debt.

consequence, may be suggested that a wise political manager would throw votes to Hopkins when they could not elect him because that would be mollifying the real Hopkins voters for any future plans. The support of Shurtleff, when he cannot be elected, would have endeared him still more than he already was.

"I make no complaint of this view of that transaction for it was permissible strategy in that kind of political manipulation which appears to be becoming so usual in the election of United States senator."

"The speaker declared that the 'sitting members' explanation of why many votes were cast for him was not relevant to the validity of his election, which is questioned on the ground of the corruption of other voters."

"Suppose the owner of many tracts of land was defending a suit against the title of one of these tracts of land, which suit was based upon charges of fraud. Would any court permit this land owner to plead in answer to the charge of fraud as to his title to this particular tract of land that he had acquired other tracts of land without fraud?"

Turning to the assurances given yesterday to the senate by Mr. Lorimer as to his fair and courteous treatment of his democratic opponents, Mr. Beveridge gave such conduct his hearty approval.

"While the 'sitting members' kindness to democracy is praiseworthy, it is not material in the question of bribery. Many years ago a great writer of comic opera set the English-speaking world roaring at the familiar device of a certain type of lawyers whose practice was to try to influence juries and courts by irrelevant matters; and in denunciation of this practice the song became popular, beginning:

"Flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la—have nothing to do with the case."

Anxious About Treaty.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Anxious that the California legislature shall take no action inimical to the new treaty of trade and commerce between the United States and Japan, President Taft today telegraphed to Governor Johnson of California, asking him to explain the treaty arrangement in both houses of the legislature. The president's message says:

"I have the resolution transmitted by you. The treaty and the assurances from Japan as to the continuance of the recent arrangement are exactly as you approved when this treaty was passed. Will you not explain this to the two houses of your legislature, to prevent action by reason of a misunderstanding?"

Senator Dewey Talks.

In the course of a brisk interchange between Senators Beveridge and Dewey during the former's speech against Lorimer, Senator Dewey declared that he had formed his opinion of the case, not on the whole printed record, but from an abstract of the testimony made by counsel. "But it was made by counsel for the prosecution" he added.

Sensational Charge.

Washington, Feb. 23.—In the course of his speech in the senate today on the Lorimer case, Senator Beveridge practically charged that the report in the case originally prepared and signed by the members was not the same report which afterward was submitted to the senate.
