JOHNSING IN JAIL.

They locked Jack Johnsing up in jail, and charged him with some trifling fault; they spurned his offer of the kale, and threw him in a prison vault; he looked out from the rusty bars, a tear of sorrow in his eye, and thought upon the black cigars, the Great White Way and extra dry.

EASTER SUNDAY.

A day of sunshine and flowers, of sweet music and smiling faces. After a week of gloom, the day dawned clear. The spirit of the Resurrection was breathed in the very air.

Like a sweet benediction the day came and went, stirring in the hearts of thousands kinder and gentler feelings. It was good to be alive. Well did the Augusta Herald say on Easter morn: "Today the Christian world is singing Hosannas after its forty days of fasting and prayer."

A California preacher shied a song book at a sleeping member of the congregation. He could have thwarted the designs of Morpheus in more elegant manner by preparing a sermon which would have kept his hearers awake.

Raleigh Times and Charlotte News all time talking about takin' 'em off-tryin' to fool somebody.—Greensboro News.

And you really knew what we were talking about? The only kind of knocking that helps a town is that done by the carpenter. Just now there are several hundred residences in course of construction in Charlotte, and more to come.

Patton, of the Charlotte News, is kindly asked to furnish information on what Salisbury is going to do now that Sparks circus is about to leave town?—Wilmington Dispatch.

Go with the circus, of course. That will be a hair raising time when Editor Farris goes to pick out the winner in his baby contest.

DEMOCRACY UNITED.

The quiet, concerted, well balanced and statesmanlike manner in which the democratic majority in congress is going about the fulfillment of party pledges is spreading chagrin and apprehension among members of the opposing party.

With much satire it has ever pleased the republicans to taunt the democratic minority with their fancied inability to pull together on a constructive program of legislation.

The democrats have been repeatedly reminded that even if they ever came into power they would hang themselves with a noose of their own making. On the contrary, and much to the disappointment of many, the democratic majority is proceeding on a program of remedial legislation with an assurance and wisdom which denotes utter sincerity, as well as full understanding of the needs of the day.

In order to put through legislation desired by the people even the president himself recognizes the value of democratic support, and in his noted speech Saturday, Representative Kitchin scathingly taunted the president with this fact:

"Oh, my friends," said Mr. Kitchin, with eloquent gesture, "how the vicissitudes of American politics humiliate the pride of even a president. We were impossible obstructionists, and we utterly failed in anything that was sensible; and yet before that libel upon a great political organization is cold upon his lips, the desperate necessities of a discredited administration send this president on bended knee, begging before this democratic majority."

Verily the political worm has turned and the public will be the beneficiaries of the turn. Strength to the vision, and power to the purpose of the democratic majority.

Another classic phrase is offered by the literary governor of South Carolina: "I will show the people a county officer like Goodwin can not tell the governor of the state to go to h—"

Oh well, perhaps the truly great are entitled to occasional exercises of the law of poetic license. Dr. Bland, dentist, pulled out a victory in the majority race in Charlotte, but he can hardly claim it was painless for his victim.—Wilmington Dispatch.

And the pestiferous paragraphers are pitilessly prolonging the pain. The Chicago Record-Herald says: "The D. A. R. is having its annual misunderstanding."

GREENVILLE CHOSEN FOR MEETING PLACE.

Spartanburg, April 17.—Greenville was chosen as the place for the annual meeting of the Southern Textile Association at a meeting of the board of governors of the association held in this city. The annual meeting will be held on July 1. Strong bids for the convention were made by Columbia, Anderson and Greensboro, N. C. The board of governors will meet in Spartanburg in answer to a call of M. G. Stone, superintendent of the Pacolet Mills, who presided. G. S. Escott, editor of the Mill News, of Charlotte, acted as secretary. A telegram was received from the Greenville Board of Trade, as well as a letter from Thomas F. Parker, president of the Monaghan Mills, and one from L. P. Hollis, of the Monaghan Y. M. C. A., setting forth numerous reasons why the meeting should be held in that city.

Members of the board of governors from Greenville, Columbia and Greensboro pointed out the advantages of their respective cities and extended cordial invitations to the association to meet in them. T. B. Hazel, of the Olympia Mills spoke in favor of Columbia, Z. H. Mangum, formerly of the Proximity Mills, now superintendent of the Mineola Mills, for Greensboro, and J. S. Osteen, superintendent of the Brandon Mills, for Greenville. In favor of Columbia there was also a formal invitation from the superintendents and overseers of the Parker Mills. The following were appointed as a committee on arrangements for the convention: J. S. Osteen, of Brandon Mills; L. P. Hollis, of Monaghan Mills; F. P. Osteen, of Poe Mills; M. Q. Alexander, of Woodside Mills; H. G. Smith, of the Mills Manufacturing Company; T. A. Sizemore of the American Spinning Company, and J. P. Cain, of Carolina Mills.

The association has a membership of 650, and there was an attendance of 400 at the convention in Augusta last year.

Easter.

Men of all denominations and of none feel the revivifying influences of the Easter season. The new clothes of the people no less than those of the fields and woods drive home the idea that a change has come, a change for the better.

Now and then we hear individuals lamenting the decline of Christianity. If a religion is to be measured by its effect upon the world, never was Christianity so strong and vigorous as it is today. The Christian teachings of brotherliness and sacrifice for others control now as they never did before in the world's history.

The condition of the average man has been immeasurably improved during these latter years. The workman of today has comforts that the king of a few centuries ago could not have. In every country of the globe there are strong currents of reform and amelioration and betterment that have been brought about by the growth of the sense of brotherhood.

Men are freer today than ever in the history of mankind. Bodily slavery has almost vanished from the globe. Political equality is the rule of civilized countries and large strides have been taken toward equality of opportunity. Peace among the nations is safeguarded by measures that would have been thought foolish and impossible a century ago.

Take the larger outlook during the Easter season. It is appropriate, it is comforting, it is inspiring. And, above all, it discloses the truth.—Baltimore Evening Sun.

Chinese Colony Aroused. By Associated Press. New Orleans, La., April 17.—The Chinese colony in this city is aroused over the advertised production of a local moving picture show of "The Elsie Sledge Murder." Their indignation will be expressed today in a protest presented by a committee headed by Charlie Chun, a prominent merchant.

According to Chun, these films have been barred in other cities because of their alleged gruesome features.

Lobster Famine. By Associated Press. Boston, Mass., April 17.—Boston's lobster famine has been broken by the arrival of the steamer Boston from Yarmouth, N. S., with 1200 crates of the crustacean. The catch off Nova Scotia is reported successful and regular shipments will follow.
