New Administration Into Office Tuesday

Dr. Charles A. Bland will become the mayor of Charlotte next Tuesday night, the people upon that day ratifying his nomination in the primary held on the 4th of this month. At the same time there will be many new aldermen who will walk into office as city fathers.

And around this general election, tale that is yet untold. Speculation is would be handicapped because the board of aldermen would be his opponents. Others declare with emphasis that the Hawkins or the Bland adherents will have nothing to do with legislation-that those who voted for the defeated candidate will support measures offered by the favorites of the winning man.

Discussing it further there is talk of who will be upon the executive board. Some of the names that have been mentioned are T. F. Davis, Paul Whitlock, P. M. Brown, J. W. Mc-Neeley. The executive board's personnel is of more interest to the police and fire department, because, per se, the members of each one of these departments are elected by this board.
