Charlotte Made Only Twenty-One Runs in Final Game

Spartanburg Got a Quartette, But no One Made a Noise Like Singing While the Tallyies Counted.

Bankie was Steady, While Walker Was a Disgusted Mortal—Vickery Ejected From the Game in the First.

A game of baseball such as that played at the League Park yesterday afternoon needs not to be written about, silence is charity. The score was 21 to 4, and Charlotte was upon the aggregation, the juveniles from Spartanburg capturing their fourth bottle in the last frame—something as a fatherly gift. Walker was upon the mound for the visit and he was not disconcerted by the way his teammates gave him support, for he carelessly struck them across the plate in the last few frames, and they were injured. It is never a good idea to quit, and Spartanburg made a wrong impression by not continuing to try to win the game. For a baseball game is never won until it is lost.

Charlotte made eight runs in her half of the eighth inning, most everything happening that could worry a scorer and excite an excitable fan. Weiser, the shortstop, who has improved so much of late, opened with a two-bagger. It went away to center field as though it was headed for some distant country. Hargrave followed this home run with a three-bagger, and Bankie duplicated the performance of Hargrave. Of course that made some more runs. Both hit safely, a kind of scratch hit, too, but one that could not be called a farcical performance. The end of a farcical performance that did baseball no good, yet made the game better. Paradoxical! Baseball always is a paradoxical thing. That's what makes the national game interesting. That's why a lot of people go out there every evening and witness the performances upon the diamond.

Weiser came to bat again as the ninth man in the same frame and made out a three-bagger. He hesitated for a few seconds and then trotted into home upon an error. Scored twice in one inning! Well, that's just what the shortstop of Charlotte did. And 'twas funny, even if it was not real good baseball.

Coutts was there with his stick again, too, getting a home run, the ball being about the longest one ever hit here. He has one of those funny averages this morning, also, for he hit at bat twice and he gets three runs. They walked him when they were frightened badly. But of all games scored, the one yesterday was the worst. And as it was said in the offset, silence is charity about the exhibition. The box score will tell as much as ought to be known by a seeker after statistics, and the fellow who don't want statistics should have been there and seen it for himself. Read the score:

Pennsy Freshmen Beat the Elh Rats

New Haven, Conn., May 6.—The Pennsylvania Freshmen slipped one afternoon, winning their annual class game, six to two. Barr had the Ell youngsters completely at his mercy. The quakers led from the start when they score one run on errors. They batted Gile of Yale, hard in the fourth and put the game on ice. Score by Innings:

GREENSBORO GOT EASY VICTORY OVER SPINNERS

Greenville, S. C., May 6.—Greensboro easily defeated Greenville this afternoon, 11 to 3. The heavy hitting of Greensboro, coupled with errors of the locals gave the visitors the third game of the series with Greenville. Biel started off on the mound for the Spinners, but was relieved by Jamison in the first. Wallace pitched a good game and kept hits well scattered. The score:

Winston-Salem, N. C., May 6.—Stewart's pitching and good stick work by the Twins were the features of the third game of the series with Anderson this afternoon. Mullin for the locals batted 1,000, getting one two-bagger and four singles. Kelly used two pitchers and both were hit hard. Stewart was never in danger. In the ninth frame he let down and as the result of two hits and one costly error three scores were made.

Walter Johnson Was Pitching Well

Washington, May 6.—The Senators nosed out the world's champion Athletics this afternoon by a score of 7 to 6. Walter Johnson pitched in his best form, overcoming the handicap of lax fielding on the part of his backstop. The Senators got to Russell early and had accumulated enough runs to withstand the rally put across by the Athletics in the eighth.

Tigers Continue Their Good Work

St. Louis, May 6.—Detroit won the final game from St. Louis today, making four straight, score 8 to 4. Wallace changed his line-up in the hope that the team's luck might change, but it availed him nothing. George, who started, was hit hard, as also was Gregory, who followed. Bailey worked fine but was put out of the game by Perrine. Peltz then finished on the mound.

Yorville Defeated Sharon.

Sharon, S. C., May 6.—The Yorkville Graded school team crossed bats with Sharon on Sharon's diamond yesterday and was defeated by a score of eight to eleven. Up to the ninth inning Sharon had only allowed Yorkville to make one run, while they had eleven to their credit. Becoming over-confident of success they allowed Yorkville to get in eight runs in the last inning, making none themselves.

I PRESUME IT IS NOW THE PROPER PROCEDURE TO PICK IT UP AND CONVEY IT TO THE IN-FIELD.

Giants Beat The Bean Eaters Easily

Boston, May 6.—The Rustlers took a 15 to 0 beating at the hands of the Giants this afternoon, a sweet revenge for the visitors for their defeat yesterday. Both teams used three pitchers, but McGraw's substitutes were in the cause of exercise. Flaherty lasted until the third in the local box and later was yanked in the eighth in favor of Parsons.
