We Can Solve Your Cooking Problems

Possibly you are not getting perfect results in baking bread, or your pastry isn't entirely satisfactory.

Possibly you blame the range. Your ill success may be due to the way you regulate the heat or the incorrect placing of the oven rack. Faults easily corrected.

To meet this need in Charlotte, we have secured Mrs. F. J. Bates of Worthington Ave., Dilworth, who will be glad to come to your home and solve your cooking problems.

Call upon Mrs. Bates. She can be of great assistance to you, and show that there is no kind of cooking that can not be better done on a Gas Range than otherwise.

AMERICAN WOMEN WILL TAKE PART.

Many American women of birth and position who have vecome habitues of the English court through their marrying into ancient English houses wil take an active part in the coronation ceremonies of King George V. and Queen Mary of England, ceremonies that will render June of this 1911 year forever memorable in English history says a writer in the Times-Dispatch. In London, mourning worn for King Kansas City, 6, 11, 3; Indianapolis, Edward VII is being put out of sight, and everything is being done toward the production of a superb spectacular re-opened my upholstering and furall quarters of the globe to witness it. For the kingdom over which George will be proclaimed sovereign numbers nearly, twelve million of square miles. containing three hundred and ninetysix million of subjects. The Scene of Coronation. Westminster Abbey will be the scene of the coronation, and King George will occupy the chair of Edward, the Confessor, in which the British soveigns have sat for hundreds of years. Inclosed in this chair is a paladium stone brought by Edward I. from Scone Abbey, in Scotland. Fergus, the son of Fergus Eric, who led the Dalriads to Argyllshire, removed it from Ireland, where it was held in great veneration, and known as the Liafail, to Scone. The Scotch believed that its loss foreboded the downfall of their nation and country.

Women who have already gone to England, and those who are making ready to go, have long ago secured of Cleveland, this afternoon, receivposts of vantage for themselves from which they can see the procession from Buckingham Palace to the Abbey and other interesting coronation features. They will realize that, in a sense, London, during the last fort-July, will be the capital, not of the since the days of Freddie Welsh's night of June and the early days of tralia, Maoris from New Zealand, colored warriors from the British African territories, Eskimos from the frozen north, and statesmen and soldiers from every part of the vast British Empire.
