The first game went to the Electricians when hey shocked Charlotte four times, without making themselves receiving a solitary sting. The afternoon conest was one for the men under Kelley to laugh over also, for it was theirs by the score of 6 to 1.

One little midget named McCarthy was on the mound for the visitors in the forenoon and he allowed but three hits. His was a pretty pitching exhi-Opposing him was Walters was not in form in two innings, seven safe swats in the sevath and four again in the eighth. There were his undoing. McCarthy was the same little game fellow all the way through. Maybe it was the hirteen hits secured off Walters that proved the waterloo for the locals in the early morning hours.

However, there were no thirteen Walker; three-base hits, Sharp; hom swats off Van Pelt, the mill boy, in the afternoon, and he too lost. There was little life in the nest of the Horsets while the Electricians were to Kite to Goodman to Smith, Wynn shoeting velts of lightning through the damond in every frame. The mill 9, Hill non; left on bases, Greenvill 9, Hill non; left on bases, Greenvill league boy didn't warm up enough before going to the box. Then there was trouble. McCarthy hit so that he forced the first man at third, but J. Kelley biffed out one that went to the clean grass. Fogarty was equally as fortunate, and he who sings his way through the winter season, hummed a tune when he went around first and towards second on the throw to the plate. Two runs had been chalked up. Bussey drove a tice one where no one was standing and two more came across. The hree hits had netted four runs and these four runs were enough for the afternoon, even if the other two had not been chalked up in the eighth

There was one particular play of the game that stood out more prominent than all of the rest. Brandow went behind third for a ball and took it with a turning motion, whipping it to first like a cannon ball. Kloch hit the pill and it should have gone for two bases. The play was the fastest one on this diamond this year. Bran-non stepped into a batted ball when the bases were crowded and was out, contributing another little incident to the exhibition. And then there were two double plays. Altogether, it was a most delightful afternoon-but not for the fans who were rooting for the

Donovan Had Naught But Very Good Smile

Detroit, Mich., May 20.—Bill Donovan, who has been waiting all spring for hot weather, made his first appearance today, the temperature beng over 90. Philadelphia won 14 to 12. Donovan had naught but his reputation and his smile when he finished. The Athletics took seven hits, three passes and a couple of sacrifices from him in three innings, netting eight runs. He was spared the iniquity of being yanked in the middle of the inning but that courtesy lost the game, for the Tigers played their usual brilliant brand of ball and finally knocked Coombs out, of the
