This is what a prominent Charlotte business man said of his experience with a small classified adver-

"I am not much of a hand at giving testimonials and don't like to see my name in print except at the bottom of an advertisement, so I don't want you to go and print what I say to you over my name. You know I never did use The News for advertising until last month and then I ran a little For Sale ad that brought me so much business that I think I ought to tell you about it. You see I had some lots I wanted to sell and I spent a little more than $175 trying to find buyers for them. Evidently the expenditure was not wisely made for aside from some experience with methods that will not sell real estate it brought me nothing-not a single buyer or even an inquiry from a prospective customer. Nothing the matter with the lots, price all right and terms easy but no one was interested. Then I put a little ad in the classified columns of The News and it seemed as if every one wanted to know about my lots. To the people who answered that little ad I sold nine lots. It was a revelation to me and if the advertising had cost me $100 I would have considered the money well spent. Your bill, however, says I owe you 87 cents. I'll pay it, and hereafter when I have a proposition I want quick action on you will see it advertised in The News."

So far as El Paso is concerned the "close season" is over. Villa and that gentleman of uneasy habits ought to understand it. There be those who say that he does and that his thorough appreciation of the fact that the Texas game laws no longer cover him was the reason of his today's non-appearance. One of the impressive features in connection with insurrecto plans and movements is the way in which the Madero folk will resolve to do some energetic thing and the energetic way wherein two hours later to do 21-1t nothing of the sort. This found illustration in Madero's last night's visit to Mexico City. The morning and afternoon were devoted to arrangements for the descent-Pacific, of course, and by the wired invita 18-10t tion of Diaz himself-upon the capital. Madero was to have started at once and stopping merely to make a 'few tranquilizing speeches," there as soon as he could. At the eleventh hour he comes out with a statement. He has changed his mind, altered his plans, he will not start for Mexico City as scheduled. Now he has retreated to the situation of the day before and cannot say when he will go. He is out with a statement intended to purr down the Madero fur. Madero reads the Reyes' statements and smiles ambiguously. He cannot confess, however, that Reyes' stopping at Havana was guilty of the same kind of wisdom which he himself evinced in not making any present visit to Mexico City. Just as there was a secret order out to kill or capture Madero at the earliest opportunity so also are there hundreds waiting by Madero's ture Reyes the moment he sets his foot on Mexican soil.

One of the most bullish influence was the action taken by Attorney-General Wickersham against the lumber trust. It proves that the government in future prosecutions will bring corrective actions and not destructive ones. Wall Street wants the guilty punished but not utterly destroyed. The bank statement was satisfactors but there is so much money that little attention was paid to it. Virginia Carolina Chemical was one notable exception to the general market, the stock declining points. American Cotton Oil was somewhat heavy in sympathy. Reduction of the dividend on both these stocks is expected. Although the crisis is passed in re

They declinchange of mind as to his proposed ed only three eights of one per cent. Probably the bank is holding itself in readiness to handle the re-organization of the Standard Oil Company, besides making a large bid on the Panama bonds.

So great has been the jubilation in Wall Street this week over the victory of the Standard Oil Company in the supreme court that all other news developments have been over shadowed. Nothing else has really happened but preparations are under way for every important developments. Perhaps the chief of these is the placing of orders by the railroads No orders of imortance have really been placed but from the inside offices of the road companies assurances come that it will not be long before the steel companies will be receiving generous orders.

Prices have advanced sharply since plan on the part of Diaz to either the decision was made public. The only obstacle to a renewal of general business and to a revival of active trading in Wall Street is the fear that the sweeping character of the decision will cause agitation for a more drastic interstate commerce law than that just interpreted.
