By ADDIE WILLIAMS CALDWELL

THE THREE FISHERS. Three fishers went sailing away to the west as the sun went down. Each thought of the woman who loved him best. And the children stood watching them out of the town. For the men must work and women must weep. And there's little to eat and many a tear. From the harbor bar be moaning. Three wives sat up in the lighthouse tower. And they trimmed the lamps as the sun went down. They listened at the squall, and they heard at the shower. And the night rack came rolling up and down. For the men must work and women must weep. Though storm be sudden and waters deep. And the harbor bar be moaning. Three corpses lay out on the shining sands. In the morning gleam as the tide went down. And the women are weeping and wringing their hands. For those who will never come home to the town. For men must work, and women must weep. And the sooner it's over the sooner to sleep. Good-bye to the bar and its moaning. —Charles Kingsley.

FINLEY-SMOOT MARRIAGE THIS EVENING A brilliant marriage to take place in Alexandria, Va., this evening at 8:30, in which North Carolina is interested, will be that of Mr. Edward Finley, of North Wilkesboro, and Miss Sybil Smoot, of Alexandria. The bride is the beautiful daughter of Mr. J. Clinton Smoot, a wealthy citizen of Alexandria, and part owner in the Tannery at North Wilkesboro. The groom is a son of Mr. J. Edward Finley, a wealthy banker of North Wilkesboro and one of the most prominent men of that place. The Smoot family has a lovely summer home at North Wilkesboro, and it was in this way that the happy affair of tonight was brought about. Mr. Finley is a nephew of Mrs. T. J. Lillard of this city, and is one of the most popular young men of the western section of the state. Mr. Finley, father of the groom, Miss Louise Finley and Mr. Richard Finley, sister and brother of the groom, are in Alexandria to attend the wedding. Mr. Finley and bride will take a short trip north and return to Wilkesboro.

MISS LILLIARD HOSTESS Miss Ruth Lillard was a gracious and delightful hostess this forenoon to the Wednesday Embroidery club, at a porch party at her home. Besides the full membership of the club, special guests were Miss Frances Triggs—guest of honor—Miss Sarah Kelly, of Mocksville, and Miss Nancy Anderson. A buffet lunch was served in dainty style. The club continues to meet throughout the summer.

W. C. T. U. MEETS. The W. C. T. U. will meet tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Sunday school room of the First A. R. P. church.

REALIZED $35 FOR SOCIETY. The Japanese Tea given by the Young People's Missionary Society at Dr. J. R. Irwin's last night realized the sum of $35 clear for the society. The yard was exceedingly attractive in its evening effects. Suspended over the gate was an immense Japanese umbrella, which formed a chandelier, as it were, over a string of Japanese lanterns which depended therefrom. The evening was one of high social pleasure.

WILL GO TO WAYNVILLE. Mrs. Stonewall Jackson and granddaughter, Mrs. E. R. Preston and great-granddaughter, Anna Jackson, will go to Waynesville soon to spend part of the summer.

ATTRACTIVE HOUSE PARTY. Misses Elizabeth and Camille Wear, the attractive young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Will Wear, of Elizabeth avenue, are entertaining a bright, merry house party, consisting of Misses Mary Tarkenton and Elizabeth Grey, of Davidson; Misses Mary and Ellen Black, of Rocky River, and Misses Margaret and Lula Howell, of Harrisburg.

MRS. BRYAN LEAVES. Mrs. E. K. Bryan, jr., of Memphis, who has been at her mother's, Mrs. L. J. Dowd, left yesterday for Walter's Park, where, as previously noted in The News, she is to join her sisters, Miss Matt Dowd and Mrs. W. F. Harding. Miss Julia Dowd, her attractive daughter, goes to Washington in a few days to join her father.

LADIES IN CHARGE. The ladies in charge of the Presbyterian hospital lawn party at the First church, Friday night are the members and officers of the Auxiliary Society of the hospital, viz: Miss Julia Alexander, president; Mrs. C. C. Hook, vice-president; Mrs. Gordon Finger, secretary; Mrs. Geo. Brockebrough, treasurer. Members by churches: First Church—Mesdames G. B. Hanna, T. C. Guthrie, A. M. McDonald, J. S. Carson. Westminster—Mesdames J. E. Reilly, E. M. Bell, H. C. Long, Alfred Gilchrist. St. Pauls—Mrs. J. Arthur Henderson.

MISS TALIAFERRO COMPLIMENTS MISS BRIDGES. Miss Lula Taliaferro extended a pretty summer-morning courtesy to Miss Margaret Bridges, of Wilmington, this morning entertaining at a porch party in her honor. The settings were particularly attractive and Miss Taliaferro, dainty in a sweet summer frock of sheerest organdie, a charming hostess. The guests were: Miss Bridges and her hostess, Miss Margaret Reese and Misses Sarah and Stuart Jones, Marguerite Springs, Elisabeth Chambers, Helen Eddy, Eleanor Alexander, Sadie Thomas, Sarah Brockebrough, Nancy Brown; Mesdames C. C. Coddington, Harvey W. Moore, W. R. Tallferro, Jr., Joseph Jones and John Bass Brown.

Fashion Changes.

When the fashions do not change necessarily, as is the case this spring, one must keep one's eyes sharpened for the new touches that the designers have brought out to vary frocks. These are especially snappy and attractive this year. Dozens of things have been invented to make the gown of May unlike the gown of January.

This is not alone in the shortening of the coats, for instance, but in the introduction of a bias line over the waist and hips. It has grown out in lines of buttons and silk loops or in bands of braid with arrow heads in embroidery at each end. Again it is manipulated by the use of bias seams or darts, which have the material draped over and finished with two rows of stitches. This accentuates the line and brings one's attention sharply to it. It is supposed to be more becoming to the majority of figures than the wide, straight panel down the back of the coat and the weighted underswing seam. The truth is, that it represents a change and gives designers something to do in the way of new coats. It may be a fashion that prevented the reappearance of that popular coat which has been with us since September: single-breasted, straight seams, broad panel down back, a four-inch band of braid around hem.

Whatever the designers may say however, they will not rob women of the pleasure and probably into the summer. True, it was so universal that it looked like a uniform on Americans; and it was amazing how little ingenuity the tailors and dress-makers showed concerning it. When I was in Paris last August the American buyers were bringing it home after it had been worn three months already. They had the good sense to know that it was the very kind of garment that would catch the American public. It did; it was an enormous success, but—and it is a large but—it is strange that no changes were rung upon it. One firm would turn out a hundred of these coats without a single change from the original. No one tried to put the buttons on in a different way or shape the panel or vary the collar. Possibly the patterns did not want any variations; there is always that side to it; and this will be proved or not by their acceptance or rejection of it as it is throughout this spring, now that a rival coat has made its appearance. This rival, by the way, lacks the 35 points of merit that the other had. It has none of the jaunty and swagger air of the former.—Philadelphia Ledger.
