SOUTHERN SCRIBE'S SAYINGS

We are not inaugurating a fight on President Kavanaugh; but we do believe that the executive owes it to the league to drop around and watch Colliflower umpire once or twice. It will not take very many games. The trouble may be with his head. Not being a physician, we have not attempted to diagnose it. But there is trouble somewhere.—Chattanooga Times

Don't jump on a team that's down and especially don't when it is down in a considerable measure because of hard luck. If the Cracker gets all its players in the game and then continues to lose, the thing will be inexplicable. But it is pretty easy to see why a club is dropping everything in sight when many of its star players are out of the game.—Atlanta Georgian Foxen stacks up like another monument to the shrewdness of Cholly Frank as a baseball manager. It is remarkable how the Dutchman resurrect ball players from the scrapheap. He is never without a live one on his team, who was at one time looked on as a dead one by some other manager.—New Orleans Item.

Manager Jordan is now hot on the trail of a crack outfielder and utility player and expects to land his man within the next 24 hours. Another player is badly needed just as unless one is secured the club can hope for but few victories. The team has been shot to pieces by injuries and illness, four stars now being on the hospital list.—Atlanta Constitution.

Moble Register: "Win" Campbell, the real "Win" with all the stuff of a classier article of ball was never doing than that he served up. The Barons got but five scattered hits off his delivery and he would have had an easy shut out but for a wild throw by Shortstop Myers, which allowed the Barons their only two runs. Campbell was in but one tight place thereafter and then his own good judgment in running down Molesworth between third and home pulled him out. He held his position in brilliant style, having two put outs and five assists, something of a record for a pitcher.

Campbell's steady thinking always shines, twice yesterday his coolness being displayed. With one out and Moley on third and another on second, Elam hit to Campbell. Moley got a few feet off the bag trying to draw a throw and Campbell "stalled" him long enough to get between him and the bag and then run him down. Again a ball was hit straight at Campbell and he fell going after it. He saw he wouldn't have time to straighten up and throw, so he steadied himself, and threw kneeling, making a perfect tag. When right, and he is right again now, Campbell is a great little pitcher.

For Mr. Cliff Bell of Sanford Fla., Here on Visit

Mr. Cliff Bell, of Sanford, Fla., formerly of Charlotte, arrived in the city yesterday to spend several weeks with relatives in the city and county. Mr. Bell has been in Florida two years and is extensively engaged in the trucking business, specializing in lettuce and celery, which he ships in large quantities to northern markets. He reports the crop conditions in Florida generally to be in excellent shape. The draught that has affected the crops in the Carolinas and other the Charlotte police force, places does not prevail there.

London Daily Mail Promotes Aeroplane Race

Brooklands, England, July 22.—The competitors in the circuit of Great Britain aeroplane race for a prize of $50,000 offered by the Daily Mail of London, started from Brooklands at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Lieutenant Beaumont, the French aviator, winner of the recent European contest, was the first to get away and reached Hendon, where the first day's flight of 20 miles ended at 4:20, flying a mile a minute. The only American entered is C. T. Waymann.

Lieut. John C. Porte, of the British navy, fell with his aeroplane from a height of sixty feet, soon after starting. The machine was wrecked but Porte was uninjured. House Democrats up by one of the democratic leaders of the house.

"The democrats were successful at the polls last November because the country wanted tariff revision, and because it particularly demanded a revision of the iniquitous schedule K. We have revised this most obnoxious of schedules, and we have also passed the farmers free list bill to recompense the farmer for any damage that may accrue to him through the Canarian agreement. The house and the country will demand that the senate shall take some action upon both of these bills. We would prefer to have action upon the cotton and other schedules also, but we have received intimations that the senate proposes to stop work within a short time. We will go ahead with our tariff revision in the house, passing our bills as fast as possible, and demonstrating to the country that the democrats are willing to keep faith. When the senate calls for an adjournment, will probably consent to a cessation of tariff revision—provided, of course, that some definite action shall have been taken on wool and the free list. We are not willing to leave Washington until these bills, which the senate has had for weeks, have received consideration."

Present prospects are that the senate will vote upon all these three bills prior to August 10. It is then expected that an agreement will be reached whereby further tariff revision will be postponed until next December.
