Shall I Complain.

Shall I complain because the feast is o'er,
 And all the banquet lights have ceased to shine?
 For joy that was, and is no longer mine;
 For love that came and went, and comes no more;
 For hopes and dreams that left my open door;
 Shall I who hold the past in fee, repine?
 Nay, there are those who never quaffed life's wine
 That were the unluckiest fate one might deplore.
 To sit alone and dream at set of sun,
 When all the world is vague with coming night,
 To hear old voices whisper sweet and low,
 And see dear faces steal back, one by one,
 And thrill anew to each long past delight—
 Shall I complain who still this bliss may know?

REPORT ON COTTON CROP OF NORTH CAROLINA ISSUED

(From Journal of Commerce.)

North Carolina.
 On account of insufficient moisture cotton has probably suffered deterioration since our last report, when condition from drouth have received good showers and rapid improvement is looked for owing to a deep tap root. First planting is generally in fine shape, but the yield from late planted will depend upon the date of killing frosts. The plant is good and strong, well fruited and fields are in an excellent state of cultivation and insects are doing no damage. It is holding its fruit well and a large proportion of correspondents look for the largest crop on record. The season is early and some expect to pick by August 20, while the general time is from September.

Jacksonville, Onslow Co.—Cotton never looked better in this county; seasons at this time are splendid; looks like we will have a bumper crop this year.

Nick, Nash Co.—Crop well cultivated and about as early as we have had in 10 years; stand about 85 per cent; stalk good size and full of fruit; will begin picking about September 20.

Tarboro, Edgecombe Co.—Crop in most excellent condition; plant stocky, forming and fruiting heavily; picking of early varieties expected by Sept. 10.

China Grove, Rowan Co.—Cotton is suffering for want of moisture.

Elm City, Cabarrus Co.—Plant is larger than last year; no shedding yet; needing rain, but will not suffer if it comes in one week; not much picking before Sept. 1.

Farmville, Pitt Co.—Seasons have been as fine as could be desired; barring the fact that we haven't a perfect stand we have the finest prospects for a crop we have had in years.

Elm City, Wilson Co.—The plant is thrifty and of good size; red spider has appeared in some fields and doing some damage; stand somewhat broken; crop clean and fruiting well.

Tarboro, Edgecombe Co.—Cotton doing all it can, fruiting well, and seasons perfect up to now.

Selma, Johnston Co.—Best prospects ever for crop.

Nashville, Nash Co.—Never have seen a finer prospect for a good crop; no shedding; no rust; no insects; the weed is large and full; seasons are fine, could not wish for better; if not set back will make more cotton in this county, this year, than ever before by a good percentage; well cultivated; plant large and healthy.

Everetts, Martin Co.—Rains have come and cotton is looking very prosperous; it looks now that a full crop can be safely expected.

Elkton, Bladen Co.—Cotton late, but is growing rapidly and holding its fruit well.

Four Oaks, Johnston Co.—Good, strong plant, well fruited and cultivated; season has been dry; expect picking about Sept. 1 to 10.

Lexington, Davidson Co.—Too dry, but crop is doing remarkably well under the circumstances.

Princeton, Johnston Co.—Except for irregular and very late germination on stiff lands the prospect would be phenomenal; driest season in 20 years.

Fremont, Wayne Co.—Our cotton crop is largely dependent upon rate of frost, as we were very late in getting our cotton up to a stand.
