LITTLE JOE TO BE CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Atlanta, Aug. 25.—Major A. H. Ulm, private secretary to former Governor Brown while the latter was in the executive chair, is authority for the positive statement that Joseph M. Brown will be a candidate in the coming gubernatorial race.

Major Ulm, who was a newspaper man prior to his entering the political field, is again actively engaged in newspaper work, but keeps in close personal touch with his former chief, and is known to be in his confidence.

Major Ulm's positive announcement that Governor Brown will be in the race follows a visit to Marietta yesterday, and makes the announcement practically as certain as though it came from Mr. Brown's own lips. However, Governor Brown himself has made no statement for publication, holding to his principle that long campaigns are not a good thing for the state.

The probability, therefore, is that Mr. Brown will not make his formal announcement until the office becomes vacant. The expectation still is that Governor Smith will resign about the 1st of December—not in October as some newspapers have tried to make it appear.

Governor Brown has given no intimation of what his stand would be on the prohibition question, in the event Judge Richard Russell succeeded in making it a determining issue in the campaign. Governor Brown's friends do not believe he will have to run on the prohibition issue, as they do not think it will be the important thing involved.

Former Governor Brown's friends are frank in saying they have no fear of either candidate now in the race, and that the fight will have to be made against some man not yet formally announced who enters the field with the solid backing of the "progressive" or Hoke Smith faction of Georgia democracy.

LEGISLATURE MOVED COUNTY

Atlanta, Aug. 25.—This is the season for going to the mountains on vacation. Lots of people have been to the mountains this year and last and the year before. Famous among humans who have traveled mountainward in the past are Moses and Mohammed.

But it is doubtful if ever until yesterday has history recorded the story of a low-country county picking itself up bag and baggage and moving to the higher mountainous regions.

Yet that is just what has happened to Putnam county. A foolish little clerical error, a slip of the pen has moved Putnam county, theoretically, up into the northwest corner of the map, thereby proving not only that the pen is mightier than the sword, but that it is mightier than an earthquake, which couldn't have accomplished as much.

The joke on Putnam was discovered when a perusal of the congressional reapportionment bill, passed by the legislature and signed by the governor and filed away as a law in the archives of the secretary of state's office, showed that instead of being in the eighth congressional district, where it ought to be, somebody had made a slip of the pen, a lapsus stili, to quote dog-latin, and had put it up in the seventh district, in northwest Georgia, jumping over five intervening counties to perform the miracle.

Happily the error is not a serious one politically, for there is no congressional election this fall, and before next November the legislature will have corrected the mistake.

Meanwhile, it is reported, the citizens of Putnam county are enjoying the mountain breezes and finding the nights much cooler.

TANGLE OVER JUDGESHIP.

Atlanta, Aug. 25.—The tangle over the judgeship of the Athens city court will have to be settled, in all probability, in a lawsuit between Judge Henry S. West, the incumbent, and Col. T. J. Shackelford, appointed to the judgeship by Governor Smith.

State politics will not enter into the settlement of the dispute. Governor Smith's connection with the matter ends with his appointment of Col. Shackelford. Judge West contends that the appointment cannot stand because the senate didn't approve it. If Judge West refuses to get out, in September, and he says he will refuse, it will be up to Judge Shackelford to prove the legality of his appointment.

WILL WEAR THE GREAT JEWELS OF BISHOPRIC OF NATCHEZ.

Atlanta, Aug. 25.—The magnificent jewels of the bishopric of Natchez, which have been used by every bishop of that great Roman Catholic diocese since 1837 will be worn by Father John E. Gunn here next Tuesday when he is consecrated bishop at the Sacred Heart church. They include a crozier, a pectoral cross, ring and mitre. The crozier is an encrusted staff of gold. The ring is a massive amethyst with an inlaid cross of diamonds. The pectoral cross is heavy gold, suspended from a gold rope chain, and is studded with amethysts.

The ceremony will be as gorgeous in the costumes used as royal coronation and seats in the church are in such demand that even one is now almost impossible to procure.

EVERYTHING IN FURNITURE

All the time the 6,000 feet which are now ready have been being made, many of the far-sighted citizens have been thinking over many things, first, the line will be completed in 2 months earlier by using the straight line, then, it is assured that the interurban will be built here in less than 12 months, and English is the street on which that will go, and the work then have to be done on English street regardless of this looped line. So, with all these lights the wise city fathers got together and amended the ordinance and now the extension will be completed in a few days.

The reports sent out yesterday from Raleigh that the negro arrested for stealing was looked upon with suspicion in the case of the death of Mrs. Joel Hill, at Jamestown, has not caused any excitement here, where a larger portion of the citizens have long since abandoned the murder theory. Messrs. Woodson & Young have closed the contract for the appearance of the United States Marine Band to play here some time in the early part of September. Superintendent Thornwell Haynes is getting everything in shape for the opening of the city schools, which will take place Monday morning, Sept. 11th. Many changes are to be made in the curriculum and many new methods employed. The valuable department of domestic science is to be established with a special teacher. The school board has created a hygiene committee and under the direction of this committee there will be a free medical examination in all the schools at the beginning of the term. It is not obligatory that the parents follow the advice of the physician examining the children, but it is hoped they will—at any rate it will excuse the board and teachers from any responsibility, and after this examination and vaccination certificate which each child is required to hold before he will be admitted to school, there is no reason why the school should not be made up of strong, healthy children. In accordance with the state board of health the churches will observe Sanitary Sunday next Sunday. Some of the leading physicians will take part in the exercises. High Point can't help but feel somewhat selfish that while so many are in need of water that she is enjoying an abundance of as sound and pure water as can be found anywhere. Since the inauguration of the new system the water comes to the homes from a concrete basin and is sweet and wholesome and absolutely pure. Some people are only busy when it is they are meddling in other people's business.

The High Point News Department

Special to The News. High Point, Aug. 25.—The amended ordinance which carried at the special meeting of the city council held this afternoon brought gratification to many, and dissatisfaction to not a few. The ordinance is that the street car line extension will come straight on English to Main, thus avoiding the four corners, or loops, decided upon several weeks ago, when work first began. This seemed the most practical route at first, but on account of the narrowness of the two blocks of English street nearest to Main the property owners on that street objected to the straight line and a fight was made which terminated in the decision upon the looped line which turned four corners to reach the same destination.
