YOUR DEBT.

You owe her more than a living,
Than food and clothing and bed;
You owe her more than a place to eat
And a roof to cover her head.
You owe her more than a dwelling place,
Or a cot by the bloomy mile;
You owe her love, and a tender word,
And a kiss and a daily smile.

You owe her more than conveniences,
Than water and heat and clothes;
You owe her more than some shopping
funds,
A play and a hothouse rose.
You owe her ever-increasing love,
That shall treasure more than all,
The curtains of lace in the living room
Or the brussels rug in the hall.

You owe her more than her bed and board,
Than comfort of body and mind;
You owe her the habit of being good
And thoughtful and tender and kind,
You owe her the deathless gratitude
That a manly man should feel
For the woman who comes to his life to make Life something noble and real.

The Value Of a Tree

Dr. Glascock is a reader of magazines. He is looking over the American City, the following struck his eye. It is german to a subject upper most in the minds.

The Value of a Tree.

The Appellate division of the New York supreme court has confirmed a judgment of the lower court, fixing what may be called a good round value on trees in the city.

A construction company doing work on a street, found that the trees hindered their progress. They thereupon cut down the trees without so much as considering for the moment their value to the owners property.

Suit was at once brought against the company, the damages being laid at $500 for each tree cut down. The plaintiff recovered for the full amount as the value of the trees, and the court added $1,000 more for punitive damages. It was this verdict which was carried to the appellate court and has been sustained.

The recent hot spell in our own city and in others has demonstrated the value of shade trees. Not only are they things of beauty, but in warding off the oppressive rays of the direct sun they afford great protection to both health and life. It is in the treeless, shadeless, unprotected parts of the city that the largest percentage of heat fatalities always occur. Even on days when a breath of air is stirring, and when it is hot everywhere, the shade of a tree is grateful and affords a sense of relief.

Five hundred dollars may seem a large sum for a tree in the city, but it must be remembered that the value of the tree as kindling wood or as lumber, or even as the material for house trim or furniture, is not the thing to be considered. The tree required many years to grow. It not only adorned the property, but it afforded health, comfort, enjoyment and protection to its owners. Its place, when destroyed, could not be filled by another tree inside of fifteen, twenty or thirty years, and all this time the owners of the property are deprived of its benefits.

When the courts take all these facts into consideration, and assess construction companies $500 for each large tree willfully destroyed by them, trees will be safer and the work of shade tree commissions will be better protected and more highly respected.—Exchange.

The hardest part of pleasing a woman is to make her decide what she wants.

A poor excuse may be better than none, but a poor relation isn't a poor excuse.

Red Cross Seal Campaign Opens

If expectations for the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals this year, as announced by the National Association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis today, are realized, one hundred million of the holiday stickers or a million dollars worth, will be sold.

The National Tuberculosis Association will this year for the first time be national agent for the American Red Cross in handling the sale of seals. A new national office has been opened in Washington, and an initial order has been placed for 50,000,000 seals, although it is expected that double that number will be sold. The charge to local agents for the seals will be 12 1-2 per cent of the gross proceeds, the national agent furnishing the seals and advertising material, and taking back all unsold seals at the end of the season.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has approved of the design of the seal. Owing to the fact that many people last year used Red Cross Seals for postage, the post office department has given orders that letters or packages bearing seals on the face will not be carried through the mails.

This will be the third year that the seals have been sold on a national basis. In 1908 over $125,000 was realized from the sale; in 1909, nearly $225,000; and in 1910 nearly $310,000. The slogan for this year's sale is "A Million for Tuberculosis from Red Cross Seals."

New York state led the sale last year with 5,955,872 seals, Ohio coming next with 3,743,427, and Wisconsin third with 2,770,112. In addition to these, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, California and Rhode Island sold over a million each. Nashville, Tenn., selling 200,000 was the only city receiving over 100,000 seals which sold every one of them.
