Carter Passes

Former Senator

Washington, Sept. 18.-Former United States Senator Thomas Henry Carter, of Montana, for many years a notable and picturesque figure in national politics, once head of and since last March chairman of the American section of the International Joint Commission, died at his home early yesterday of inforction of the lungs. He was 57 years old.

Mr. Carter had been under the olina, last week of the pathfinding care of a physician for months. He cars, which spent Thursday night in was able to go about, however, and his ailment, a filling of the lungs with clotted blood, did not become acute until a week ago. A Baltimore specialist was summoned last Wednes- The following is an account of the day and at that time the attending physician expressed confidence in the patient's recovery. But the malady became worse and death resulted at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Carter, wife and their sons, students at Georgetown University, were with him when he died. The funeral service will be held

An Ohion by birth, an Iowan by adoption, a Montanan long before that territory was admitted to statehood, Mr. Carter jumped to the front almost from the outset of his work in congress. Perhaps the most remarkable of all his forensic achievements was his defeat of a big river and harbor appropriation bill, which he regarded as a political "grab" measure, during the McKinley ad-Leghorn Pullets. As a lieutenant of Senator Aldrich, the republican leader of the senate for many years, he did notable work. At one time Mr. Carter was mentioned as a possible successor of Associate Justice Moody of the supreme court of the United States, and it was said President Taft had considered him for secretary of the interior to succeed Richard A. Ballinger. Among the managers suggested as a possible head of the republican national committee for the campaign of 1902, the former senator's name had been mentioned. His defeat by a democrat for re-election to the senate, caused Mr. Carter's retirement from that body March 4 last. President Taft then named him a member of the international commission. # PATHFINDERS

Mr. S. M. Butler, chairman of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, writes interestingly of the trip through North Car-Charlotte and which were brought in and accompanied on their departure from Charlotte by local automobilists. trip of the pathfinding cars from their entrance in Winston-Salem onward through Charlotte and south-"Not a single delay has been encountered by the party up to date for any reason wnatsoever, not even for what must have been a herculean task for the little car in the Blue Ridge mountains near Winston-Salem, where the car arrived on the afternoon of the 12th, having covered that day 122 miles across the mountains. A caravan of sixty motor cars gave the pathfinders a most en into Winston-Salem was at first mis taken for the Glidden tour itself, and produced more excitement than the city has known since its production of a score of million dollars of gold bullion. But as every pleasant visit must end, and this centre of the to bacco industry was left behind at the early start the next morning for Charlotte, one of the chief cotton manufacturing centres of the South and a locality once honored by Lord Cornwallis, of revolutionary fame, as a "hornets' nest." Suffice it to say however, the residents of the seat of the first Declaration of Independence of Mecklenburg were in far from a accorded the party here was equal to, if not greater than that met at Greensboro and High Point, where the pathfinders were good naturedly held and entertained with enthusias tic speech making. Two routes were surveyed this day and also two additional on the following morning before breakfast.

'From Charlotte, through broad fields of green tobacco and white cotton, the path led to Spartanburg, with its iron and coal mines and mineral springs, on into Greenville, where the pathfinders were cordially met by representatives of Atlanta and the Atlanta chamber of commerce, headed by Major John S. Cohen, managing editor of the Atlanta Journal, who escorted them into An derson and from there on the follow ing day's run into Atlanta. Saturday and Sunday are to be spent in At lanta, one of the chief industrial cities in the South, whose climate is both healthful and bracing and as a change from the steady travel the pathfinding party will in all likelihood view the many points of interest there. They are well entitled to a brief respite, for in the seven days they have covered more than three quarters of their trip. The night of the 16th will find them at Macon, and the 17th at Valdosta, and then sonville, the mecca of tourists, when their tedious task will be o'er.

"The pathfinders report great activity all along the route in the way of road improvement, both through the South's convict labor system and the employment of professional road builders through both public and private funds. For years the South has felt the need of some incentive to awaken it to the necessity and advantages of road betterment and it is fit that the American Automobile Association, in its campaign for good roads all over the United States, will be able to bring home to our Southern friends the force and benefit of its work, through the conduct of what is now assured to be the greatest of all 'Gliddens.' Forty-three entries have been received and a glance at the complete list shows for itself the private owner aspect of the which the South's interested citizens are rallying to the standard." The List of Entrants. Hon. Courtland S. Winn, Mayor of Atlanta, 1912 Flandera. Maj. John S. Cohen, The Atlanta
