IVEY'S

Social and Personal

(By ADDIE WILLIAMS CALDWELL)

THE DAY'S QUOTATIONS.

True friends have no solitary joy or sorrow.—Channing.

The blue of heaven is larger than the cloud.—E. B. Browning.

If poverty is the mother of crime, want of sense is the father.—De La Bruyere.

Don't object that your duties are so insignificant; they are to be reckoned of infinite significance, and alone important to you. Were it but the more perfect regulation of your apartments, the sorting away of your clothes and trinkets, the arranging of your papers—'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all your might,' and all thy worth and constancy. Much more, if your duties are of evidently higher, wider scope; if you have brothers, sisters, a father, a mother, weigh earnestly what claim does he upon you, in behalf of each, and consider it as the one thing needful, to pay them more and more honestly and nobly what you owe. What matter how miserable one is, if he can do that? That is the sure and ready disconnection and extinction of whatsoever miseries one has in the world.—T. Carlyle.

THREE PUNCHERS.

Three punchers went loping off into the West, Into the West as the sun went down; Each thought of the pizen he loved the best. Awaiting him there in the board-shack town. For punchers will certainly hit the cup When out on the range they have been penned up Where the long-horned steers are bawlin'.

Three ponies were tied to the hitchin' rack In front of the Lonely Dog saloon, While three men fingered a greasy pack. And started a game soon after noon. For punchers will gamble their hard-earned dough When they've been corralled for a month or so Where the long-horned steers are bawlin'.

Three corpses were lugged to the bonyard there In the early gray of the mornin' light; They weren't playing their poker fair, And the game had closed in a real gun-fight. For punchers are sure to shoot up the place When some one works in a dummy ace— Farewell to the steers and their bawlin'!

FALL MILLINERY IN NEW YORK.

To satisfy the insatiable craving of the novelty seeker for something new, is a difficult task but the trade seems to have accomplished it satisfactorily. It is true that something new is often only something old revived, but that does not exclude it from the category of novelties. As a matter of fact there is quite a demand for old-fashioned materials, colors and contours. There is for example the poke, and then the new close-fitting turbans with the monumental crowns hark one back to the forties, although in those days headpieces were not as large as they are now. Plain felts are again in vogue and velours promise to be near the top of the best sellers. It is astonishing how many velour hats one sees even under the hot August sun and worn with the most summer gowns. They are devoid of trimmings, having a silk cord only around the base of the crown, and are not only in white or black, but in vivid colors, such as purple and blue.

The writer has also seen several velvet hats of the students' cap variety being worn, to say nothing of taffeta hats and the more seasonable summer felts. One hears the same report of Paris, so that it may be said that winter hats in August are the latest fad, only these hats are not trimmed and are suggestive of the outing hat and sombrero in general effect.—The Millinery Trade Review.

TO VISIT IN ROCKINGHAM.

Mrs. Fred D. Austin and children left today for a stay of several weeks with friends in Rockingham. They will be away until Dr. E. D. Austin returns from New York, where he is taking a special course in medicine.

TO BE AT THE CENTRAL THIS WINTER.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Ness are to be among the permanent guests at the Central Hotel this winter. Their daughter, Miss Alwilda, is at Fassifern for the winter, and they will close their residence and board at the Central.

MRS. MILLER'S SECOND BRIDGE.

Attractively will Mrs. Herbert O. Miller's apartments be set tomorrow at the second of the series of fall bridge luncheons she is to give. Choosing from her calling list the following friends, the game of tomorrow will be one of skill as well as congeniality: Mesdames V. J. Guthrey, W. L. Bruns, Geo. Best, Carlton Best, E. W. Phifer, W. A. Zweler, W. W. Phifer, Chas. Platt, O. W. Lovins, C. E. Harrison, E. V. Finlayson, Harry Dixon, Ralph Miller, Hugh McA. Rose, H. B. Fowler and David Owens.

MISS HOKE'S VISIT TO CLOSE.

Miss Sallie Hoke, who has been in the city for several weeks as the guest of Mrs. F. I. Osborne, and later of Mrs. Lewis Burwell, leaves Monday night next for New Jersey where she makes her home. Miss Hoke's visit to North Carolina, her native state, gave pleasure to many.

HISTORY ON WHICH CHARLOTTE CHAPTER RESTS.

Anent the tea to be given by Charlotte Chapter, D. A. R. tomorrow afternoon at Mrs. H. L. Adams in Dilworth, Mrs. Laura M. Brown, who wields a graceful pen and whom the chapter is very proud of having as member, makes a delightful contribution to the cause today, in the following:

"It is possibly not known generally that the Charlotte Chapter of the D. A. R. is called in honor of the battle of Charlotte which was fought in our streets. The British army entered Charlotte on the 26th of September, 1780, and the desperate bravery of the two young heroes, Joseph Graham and George Locke, in holding the enemy at bay when attacked by such overwhelming numbers, was almost unequalled by any fight in America. Lord Cornwallis' surprise at the hot reception made him term the town a 'hornet's nest.' Fifty-six men, all volunteers, were organized into a company of cavalry. Graham was appointed captain, though not 21 years of age, and Locke, who sadly lost his life, was chosen lieutenant. It is the wish of the chapter to place a monument, if not more than a granite boulder, at the termination of one of our principal streets to commemorate this historic event. We earnestly hope all the chapters and many others will show their patriotism by attending the silver tea to be given Thursday afternoon, 21st September, at the beautiful home of Mrs. H. L. Adams in Dilworth, and contribute towards this noble object. 'Our town may truly be called the home of liberty. Bancroft, the historian, testifies: 'The first public voice in American for dissolving all connection with Great Britain came not from the Puritans of New England, or the Dutch of New York, or the planters of Virginia, but from the Scotch Irish, Presbyterians of Mecklenburg county, North Carolina.' 'The North Carolina instrument of freedom was written by a graduate of the Presbyterian College of Princeton. Nine of its twenty-seven signers were Presbyterian elders, and one a minister of the Gospel, so who would not honor and respect the deed of this earnest brave band of true blue men, who were evidently looking Heavenward for strength to carry out their bold resolves?'"

Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Leonard and Miss Mariadde Turner of Statesville, are visitors in Charlotte today. Miss Turner is en route to Thomasville, Ga., where she will teach English and history in Young's college. Mrs. Leonard is Miss Turner's sister, and she and Mr. Leonard accompanied her here to spend the day.

Mr. Leonard is city editor of the Landmark. His page is one of the brightest in the state.

STATESVILLE VISITORS.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Leonard and Miss Mariadde Turner of Statesville, are visitors in Charlotte today. Miss Turner is en route to Thomasville, Ga., where she will teach English and history in Young's college. Mrs. Leonard is Miss Turner's sister, and she and Mr. Leonard accompanied her here to spend the day.

MISS SCOTT TO ENTERTAIN.

Complimenting Miss Leary, of Edenton, who is the bright and attractive guest of Miss Hannah Constable, Miss Sudie Scott will entertain at a sewing party tomorrow morning at her home on East Morehead street.

RETURNED HOME.

Says the Cleveland Star: "Mrs. T. W. Ebeltoft and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, who have been visiting Mrs. Wade Harris, in Charlotte, and resorts in Western North Carolina, have returned home."

SENIOR YEAR AT ELIZABETH.

Miss Annabel Dowd has returned from Hendersonville where she spent the summer. She re-enters Elizabeth College, this being her senior year at that popular institution of learning.

Help Came Just In Time

Lady in Pierce Relates an Experience of Interest to all Girls and Women.

Pierce, Neb.—Mrs. Dollie Schilowsky, of this place, says: 'Cardui did me so much good! I had dreadful backache and dizziness, and suffered from pains in my eyes and in the back of my head, as well as low down in my body.

Sometimes, it seemed like I would die with the pain. I was compelled to see the doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, I began to take Cardui, and three bottles gave me great relief. My health is getting better every day.

I can recommend Cardui to suffering women, for it helped me wonderfully. It is a wonderful medicine.

Other women, who suffer as Mrs. Schilowsky did, should learn from her what to do, to be relieved. Take Cardui.

For women's pains, for female troubles, for nervousness, for weakness, it is the best remedy you can use, the most reliable you can obtain.

For over 50 years, Cardui has been helping weak and miserable women back to health and happiness. These many years of success prove its merit.

Pure, strictly vegetable, perfectly harmless, Cardui is sure to help and will leave no disagreeable after-effects. Try.

Mr. Tanner Off to Harvard Tonight

Mr. Kenneth Tanner, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Tanner, leaves tonight for Harvard University, where he is to take a special course in business. Mr. Tanner inherits a talent for business. His grandfather, the late J. S. Spencer, was one of the foremost business men of this city, while his father, Mr. S. B. Tanner, is known throughout the cotton mill world of the south for his business acumen.

Speaking of Harvard recalls the following fact which appeared in a northern exchange:

Malaria Makes Pale, Sickly Children. The Old Standard GROVES' CHILL TONIC, drives out malaria and builds up the system. For grown people and children, 50c.

A City's Flower Farm.

(From the Chicago Daily News.) San Diego, Cal., is the only city in the country that has a municipal flower farm started with the aim of providing floral and horticultural exhibits for the Pana-California International Exposition in 1915. The city officials who are promoting the farm, found they could save hundreds of thousands of dollars by utilizing the 1,000 acre tract in Balboa Park to grow flowers, and it is expected many millions of plants will be ready in two years.

The farm already has 1,000,000 geraniums, as many red roses, white roses and twenty acres of California golden popples. It has 100,000 palms. The park consequently has become the most beautiful in colors and flowers in the country and thousands of tourists who have been passing several months in the west have made it a point to visit San Diego just to see the flower farm.

—Messrs. Ernest Vernon and Robt. Johnson, who have been having a turn on the Board Walk and the Great White Way, return home tomorrow.
