Poultry Show The 15th. annual showw ill be held January 16-19, 1912, and is now a permanent institution of Charlotte and Mecklenburg. The management is hard at work and will leave noth-ing undone to make it the greatest and grandest display of fowls ever held. This association has been or sanized to awaken interest in the various breeds of fowls, to better the condition and advanced the qual-ity and quantity of egg and meat pro-duction and has had its influence in bringing about these conditions and will continue to have. With a liberal support of our people the day will table fowls for Greater Charlotte with her 100,000 population and a i liberal supply for the other growing cities. food—but it is especially true of the production of fancy poultry and birds for breeding. By much care, constant work and intelligent feeding and management, good poultry is produced on the small lots in or near the towns, but it requires more intelligence and poult try knowledge to raise good birds under such conditions than it does to accomplish the same results on the farm. Why, then, is most of our best poultry raised in the small towns or near the cities? The range which may be given the birds on the farm, except perhament during the breeding season, is al-most unlimited, and this means a during the breeding season, is al-most unlimited, and this means a variety of feed, such as poultry re-quire, and ample exercise, two things most essential to the economical production of vigorous birds. It requires some knowledge to raise good poultry, and this can only be obtained by reading and studying the experience of others, as set down in poultry journals or agricultural papers and in books, and by actual personal experience in the handling of the birds. In the past this has
