Some Advance Dope on The Stars Who Will Figure in To-day's Game--Both Teams in High Spirits--Athletics Undouted.

By Associated Press. Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—The weather following yesterday's rainstorm was fair today for the second world's championship baseball game this afternoon. Following a hazy daybreak the sun came out before 8 a. m. The temperature was 57 degrees at that hour and the forecast for this afternoon is generally fair and slightly warmer.

Baseball enthusiasts who retired last night fearful of weather developments were beside themselves with joy when the yitook a peep at the sky this morning and found that everything was just right for the second game between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics for the championship of the world.

Bleacher Line Formed Early. Shibe Park is expected to hold its greatest crowd when the two teams appear on the field this afternoon. The bleacher line began to form at 8 o'clock Sunday night. Early comers brought camp stools and each carried with him enough eatables to see him through the game today. At midnight more than a thousand were in line and when the gates to the ball ground were opened at 9 a. m. the crowd about the place numbered nearly 5,000.

Line Stretched Four Blocks. The line stretched four squares away and in the throng of early comers were a number of women. The admission to the bleachers and the field is one dollar and these places were the first to be filled. At the grandstand offices there was another line of "fans" who were waiting to buy $1.50 tickets which would permit them to stand in the aisles and on the promenade.

Causes of Rise. General rainy and cloudy weather over the cotton region, a storm warning for the Texas coast and the forecast of frost for Oklahoma and the panhandle of Texas were the cause for the rise. The Revolution In China Is Rapidly Gaining Ground

Heavy Runs on Banks Continued--Much Excitement--Joan Will Take no Part in Trouble--What Will the Powers Do?

By Associated Press. Peking, Oct. 16.—Another indication of the extent to which the revolution is reaching developed here today by publication of demands to the throne, framed by 60 members of the Chinese assembly which was organized a year ago as a nucleus for a parliament. The resolutions demand that in the interests of peace, the provincial assembly of Sze Chuen be permitted to organize immediately and that the president and vice president of that body be released from prison to take part in the sessions.

Want Minister Dismissed. The resolutions further call for a dismissal of Sheng Hsuan Hual, imperial minister of posts and communications. Sheng negotiated the loans for the nationalization of the railways and has been a leading advocate of the anti-provincial policy which is regarded as largely responsible for the present uprising.

There were riotous scenes in front of several institutions, the policemen on duty being forced repeatedly to club back the crowds and protect the bank officials. What Effect on the Powers? Washington, Oct. 16.—The formidable "be-lie" now sweeping over middle China came with such suddenness and was so unexpected on the part of occidental nations that there has as yet been no opportunity for a development of the international position upon the Chinese nation whether it shall prove successful or be a failure.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 16.—Continuation of examination of talesmen in the trial of James B. McNamara, indicted for numerous fatalities resulting from the explosion a year ago of the Times building here, was planned to follow the announcement today by Judge Walter Bordewell of his ruling as to the eligibility of Z. T. Nelson to act as a juror.

Eleven other talesmen, locked in a room adjacent to the court chamber, and 31 veniremen awaited the judges ruling as a definite step forward in the trial.

"I only intend to speak about half an hour," declared Joseph Scott, the attorney selected to conclude the argument today for the defense against the acceptance of Nelson.

"I regard the getting of a fair jury as the fundamental feature of his trial," added Mr. Scott. "Folk have read a great deal in the newspapers and magazines about this case, but I think we can find 12 men who can waive that information in lieu of evidence. As far as Nelson is concerned, however, he has admitted that it would take strong evidence to change his views and that obviously disqualifies him."

Extensive quizzing of the other talesmen, particularly as to their affiliations or connections with labor unions or strikes admittedly is intended by the defense attorneys.

"There is no denying that labor unions and their methods will be discussed in this trial.

"We would know whether any of the talesmen have fixed notions on the subject," said Lecompte Davis. "With this idea in mind, the question of the defense will include a wide scope. Inquiry will be made to determine not only if talesmen, but if members of their families as well, have encountered at any time labor friction, whether as employers or employed. Effort will be made to learn also if any of the talesmen ever have studied labor questions either in the magazines or newspapers."

Delayed advices from the south are that the imperial troops which retreated from Wu Chang and Hankow on the railroad.

Three members of the American legation here have been given permits to accompany the imperial army in its campaign against the rebels and they left today with General Ying Tchang.
