TELL HER SO!

Send the cares of married life.
In spite of oil and business strife,
You who value your sweet wife—
Tell her so!
When days are dark and friends are few
She has her troubles, same as you;
Show her your love is ever true—
Tell her so!
In days of old you praised her style,
And spent much time to win her smile;
'Tis just as well now worth your while—
Tell her so!
There was a time you thought it bliss
To get the favor of one kiss;
A dozen now won't come amiss—
Tell her so!
She'll return for each caress
A hundredfold of tenderness!
Hearts like hers are made to bless!—
Tell her so!
You are hers and hers alone—
Well you know she's all you own;
Don't wait to "leave it on a stone"—
Tell her so!
Never let her heart grow cold—
Richer beauties will unfold;
She is worth her weight in gold!—
Tell her so!

MRS. BURTON A VISITOR HERE
Mrs. J. H. Burton, of West Grace street, Richmond, Va., is here to spend the Christmas holidays with her sister, Mrs. Walter Charnley, on East Fourth street. Mrs. Burton comes from one of the most prominent families of Richmond, being the granddaughter of the late Major Louis J. Bossieux, of that city.

MRS. W. J. ROSS ILL.
The many friends of Mrs. W. J. Ross, will regret to learn that she is very sick at her home on East Fourth street. The outcome of her illness is rendered uncertain by reason of her advanced age.

FROM HERE TO ATLANTA.
Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, of Raleigh, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Parks Kirkpatrick at their home on North McDowell street are at present the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morris McDonald on South Tryon street. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald have been in the city for a week. They will spend the Christmas holidays with Mrs. McDonald's parents in Atlanta, Ga.

MEETS THIS AFTERNOON.
The extension chapter of the Y. W. C. A. will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the parlors of the association building. Several matters of importance are to be presented at the meeting and a full attendance is required.

MRS. BRYAN TO RESIGN.
Mrs. H. S. Bryan, who has been central in the Second Presbyterian church off and on for a period of ten or fifteen years, is to resign her position the first of January. Her manifold house duties impel her to give up her choir work. Mrs. Bryan has a voice of beautiful quality, of rare melody, softness, and rich tonal beauty. She is rarely gifted, musically, being a fine organist as well as singer. She is valiant in the field of her profession, and the Second church will be difficult to fill.

Mrs. Bryan and her sister, Miss May Oates have held the two most leading choir positions, as contraltos, in the city.

MRS. HOVIS ENTERTAINS.
Mrs. L. W. Hovis entertained the Mistletoe Club most delightfully yesterday at dinner. The guests were Smith, Sadie Stewart, Irma Berryhill, Alma McGee, and Ina Parsons, of Rockingham.

Actions of the last age are like amnions of the last year.—Sir John Denham.

Charlotte Jubilee Offering Amounts To $2,089—Final Jubilee Rally

Inspirational fire, burning upon the altar of woman's service in the great cause of foreign missions, expressed in the great missionary jubilee to which the women of Charlotte gave themselves yesterday, resulted in a jubilee gift of $2,089 from the women of Charlotte toward the million dollar jubilee offering which the women of the United States are to make in commemoration of this, the first Woman's Jubilee of foreign missions ever held.

This amount was contributed by the women of the different denominations as announced at the great mass meeting at the First church last night—a meeting which was the climax to the all-day and one-day jubilee held here.

The Meeting.
Coming together from all parts of the city, from all Protestant churches, women and men gathered in the First church last night in a great missionary rally.

On the pulpit platform were Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, wife of Rev. Dr. Kennedy, of East Avenue A. R. P. Tabernacle, who conducted the devotional exercises; Miss Daisy Davies, of Atlanta, and Miss Florence Miller, of Louisville, Jubilee speakers and Mrs. C. E. Mason, who presided at the Jubilee services.

Mr. J. H. Craighill, the skilled organist of the First church, was at the organ, and under his masterly touch, and led by Mrs. Harris Miallcroft, who has a rich, resonant and commanding soprano, the choir led the congregation in the hymns, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," "O, Zion Haste Thy Mission High Fulfilling," and "The Morning Light is Breaking."

Reports.
Mrs. Mason called for reports from the denominational rallies held yesterday afternoon at the different churches. The chairmen of each came to the pulpit and reported as follows:

Mrs. R. L. Patterson—Lutheran—"The offering from our church is small—$13.25—because we have recently undertaken other mission work, and because we are a small church."

Mrs. J. G. Kennedy—A. R. P.—"Our Jubilee offering was $50. We recently pledged ourselves to support a new missionary in the foreign field, and we consider that as a part of our Jubilee offering."

Mrs. James Keir—Episcopal—"There were 25 present at the rally and the sum of $100 was given."

Mrs. W. W. Hagood—Methodist—"There were 117 present, a gain of 52 new members, and $94 was pledged."

Mrs. W. C. Dowd—Baptist—"There were 63 present at the meeting, and the sum of $538.50 given. There were 57 new members."

Miss Lily Long—Presbyterian—"At our rally the sum of $436 was given. In the past few days the Presbyterians of Charlotte have raised that much more for immediate help to a missionary. But for this our Jubilee offering would have been twice as much as reported."

Mrs. Mason announced that the offering made a total of $2,089.13, this to be swelled later by additional gifts.

Miss Miller Speaks.
Miss Miller and Miss Davis were the speakers of the evening. Miss Miller was the first to speak. For a half hour or longer she held her audience spellbound by the story she had to tell—the story of the Jubilee since its inception through the successive journeys and visits to 60 of the leading cities of the United States. With matchless art she told the story, bringing, actually together the women of 60 American centers. She told of the auction of Mrs. Peabody to raise $1,000,000 as a Jubilee offering, and of its near realization, the sum of $900,000 having been raised in the West, Northwest, Middle West and North. For the rest, Mrs. Peabody looks, she said to this Southern extension trip. The sum as raised by cities was:

Oakland, Cal.	$1,000
Portland	4,000
Denver	19,000
Des Moines	2,800
Kansas City	53,000

Forty-three young women consecrating themselves in Kansas City as foreign missionaries. It was here that Miss Miller told the story of the beautiful Jewess—not that of the beautiful Moslem maid who glided in the fields of rich Boaz, but a maid of Israel of the today, who came to Miss Miller after one of the services in Kansas City and looking up to the speaker with tear-filled eyes said: "Would they take me?"

"Take you!" said Miss Miller, "Yes, and gladly, but why do you, a Jewess, wish to go to the mission field—do you realize what it means?"

"Yes," replied the maid, and I want to go. It is the only way."

St. Louis—$85,000.
Given by the West, $400,000.
"Coming to the East the first meeting was held in Rockefeller's church in Cleveland," said Miss Miller.

Many women have hair so dull and faded that it is actually repulsive. These women have probably never heard of PARISIAN SAGE the invigorating hair dressing that is being used by thousands of refined women throughout America.

PARISIAN SAGE is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money back. Girl with Auburn hair on every carton. For sale by R. H. Jordan & Co. and druggists everywhere.

er. "The offering was $43,000. Jubilees were held in Richmond, Baltimore, Washington, Nashville, Louisville. The greatest, in import, but not financial gifts, being in Washington, because the settings were unique and fine," said Miss Miller. "President Taft, though a Unitarian, helped the workers." He said, "It is through united effort that the world must be uplifted." The feature of the Washington Jubilee was the drawing room meetings—of which much has been said and written—meetings in the homes of the "400."

"Another tour embraced the cities of Harrisburg, Rochester, Boston, Philadelphia and Petersburg, which the Jubilee troops came by 'unto Rome'—New York, the great center reserved by the Jubilee troupe for the last. Miss Miller gave a graphic description of the New York Jubilee. Seven thousand women attended the banquet, and the sum of $150,000 was given. This brought the Jubilee offering to the grand total of $900,000.

Miss Davies, a woman of marked personal attractions, of bright mentality, of fine voice and graceful manner, spoke to the eager, listening audience next. She had a cheery, inspiring word of commendation for Charlotte.

"There has not been a better Jubilee, anywhere than this, comparing the size of the town with others."

Miss Davies' subject was: "Our Responsibility for the Future." Through a thrillingly interesting talk she emphasized the one great fact: that the reason that the cause of Christ languishes in foreign fields is because the church in America is not awake. On the awakening of the church—the women of the church in America—mission work of the future must depend. The end of the Jubilee," she said, "is the beginning of the campaign." The questions for the women of the land are: "How Much Can I Do?" "How Much Can I Give?" The imperative is: "Go Ye."

"Tell Ye,
"Give Ye,
"Pray Ye."

Mr. Simmons Great Judge of Poultry

The following from the Lexington Dispatch will be of interest to Mr. Simmons' friends here:

"It will interest the friends of Mr. R. L. Simmons, now of Charlotte but formerly a citizen of Lexington, to learn that he is going up in the poultry world. He is the editor of the Southern Poultry Journal, published at Charlotte, and is one of the most sought-after judges of poultry shows in the business. Recently he judged the great Alabama State Poultry Show at Birmingham, to the satisfaction of more than 1,000 exhibitors."

Presence of Mind.
Watching her house burn down, the woman suddenly bethought her that she had written out a check and left it lying on her desk. Fortunately she could remember the number of it—281. With rare presence of mind she at once called up the bank. "Please stop payment on check numbered 281!" she directed, with the crisp brevity of those balanced souls who know exactly what they want.—Fuck.

Her Youngest Child.
Henry N. Atwood, the aviator, was the guest of honor at a dinner in New York on the occasion of his recent record flight. Mr. Atwood's reply to a toast on aviation terminated neatly with these words:

"The aeroplane has come at last, but it was a long time coming. We can imagine Necessity, the Mother of Invention, looking up at a sky all criss-crossed with flying machines and then saying, with a shake of her old head and a contented smile: "Of all my family, the aeroplane has been the hardest to raise."—New York Tribune.

Mistaken Identity.
"Mary," said the head of the house one morning, "I called Jimmy four times and he didn't answer so I turned down the covers on his bed and gave him a good spanking."

"Oh, John, how could you? That means I'll be hunting for a new cook!"

"Jimmy stayed all night at Smith's and the cook slept in his bed last night."—National Monthly.
