JUDY HARDISON, '66 EDITOR

Date Of Delivery For Annual Set

In a statement to the JOURNAL, Sandra Brantley, editor of the 1967 yearbook, revealed that the 1966 edition will be distributed to students early in the month of October this year.

Miss Brantley, speaking for the 1967 staff, expressed apologies to the student body for the late delivery date. The 1966 yearbook was scheduled to appear sometime during August.

Miss Brantley said reasons for the delay grow out of the fact that the 1966 editor, the former Miss Judy Hardison, turned annual copy in to the publisher late. Because of this, the publisher missed 180 production days.

The deadline for copy to be turned in to the publisher was June 21 but the publisher did not receive all the copy for the yearbook until August 1.

Miss Brantley was married on June 4 of this year and is now Mrs. Parris Hastings. Mr. Hastings was the Photographer for the 1966 annual.

Speaking of the 1966 yearbook, Miss Brantley said, "I'm sorry its late but I haven't gotten mine either."

When asked when she expected to have the 1967 yearbooks ready, Miss Brantley said, "Even including graduation, I think we can get it out during July. Definitely

Frat & Frug Freshman Fun

By Bobbe Berry

Just one glance into the ballroom and lounge area of the Union building Tuesday night, September 6 between 8:30 and 11:30 would have proved that "Fraternizing Frug" had been an appropriate choice for the theme of the Fall Semester Orientation dance for freshman and transfer students sponsored by the Freshman Advisory Council.

Dave Freeman and the Tassels played for this first dance of the year in the ballroom which was decorated with cartoon characters in settings which represented various phases of the life on the UNC-C campus and also served as an early advertisement for many of the social and athletic activities which will take place throughout the coming year. These colorful decorations were made by Libby Holshouser, Jane Walker, Sally Hagood, Kay Wasson, and Bobby Berry, chairman of the dance committee.

Tams And Cavaliers To Top Union Dance Card

The Fabulous Tams will headline the first dance of the fall here in the Union ballroom, Saturday night, September 17, from 8 until 12 p.m. The Cavaliers will appear on the same card.

The ABC-Paramount recording artists, the Tams, have produced an impressive number of hits during the four years they have been together.

"Untie Me" was the first hit for the group which had been performing in night clubs and at fraternity parties. They quickly followed up with their nation-wide smash hit, "What Kind Of Fool Do You Think I Am."

Since that time, The Tams have recorded such favorites as "You Lied to Your Daddy," "Laugh It Off," "How Can I Un-Love You," "Better To Have Loved A Little," "Hey Girl, Don't Bother Me," and "I've Been Hurt".

The Tams made numerous appearances in Charlotte, Myrtle Beach, and the surrounding area this summer. They always attracted a full house audience.

The Tams have made singing somewhat of a family affair with Charles and Joseph Pope making up two fifths of the five men group. Their brother, Otis Pope, acts as road manager.

Robert Smith, who sings bass, Horace Key and Floyd Ashton, who add background harmony, round out the five.

During the course of a personal appearance, every member of the Tams sings the lead at least once. The versatile group hails from Atlanta, Georgia.

The group is in great demand for public appearance tours and its members wouldn't have it any other way. They say they are most happy when in front of a live audience.

The Cavaliers, who will also be here Saturday night, is a six-member rock and roll combo which has gained much publicity by backing up the Tams on numerous occasions this summer.

The group features two guitars, a trumpet, a saxophone, an electric organ, and drums.

Frank Jones, Chairman of the Union, expressed hopes that this dance would attract a large portion of the student body. He indicated that the number of other dances of this nature to be held would be partially determined by the turnout Saturday.

Admission for UNC-C students and their dates is free.

THE FABULOUS TAMS

Profs Promoted, Added For Fall

There have been a number of changes in the faculty during the summer. Many new professors have been added and some old ones have been promoted.

Promoted from instructor to assistant professor were Dr. Morton Shapiro, Dr. David Herr, and Miss Maud Gatewood.

Dr. George R. Abernathy has been promoted from associate to full professor of history and has also been granted a leave of absence for the coming year in order to accept a visiting professorship at Rice University.

Dr. Elbert Daymond Turner, Jr., former professor of Spanish at the University of Delaware, has been named to replace Dr. Pierre Macy as chairman of the Foreign Language Department. Dr. Macy has reached the required retirement age for administrative positions of 65, but will remain in the Foreign Language Department as professor of French.

Dr. Duane Schultz has been appointed associate professor of psychology. He received his BA from Johns Hopkins University, his MA from Syracuse University and his Ph.D from American University.

Dr. Julian Dewey Mason, Jr. has been appointed assistant professor of English. His AB came from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, his MA from George Peabody College and his Ph.D from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Dr. Nish Jamgotch has been appointed assistant professor of political science. He holds BA and MA degrees from the University of Minnesota and a Ph. D from Claremont Graduate School.

Robert Byerly, Jr., and Hallie L. Gatlin have received provisional appointments. They have been named instructors but as soon as they complete their Ph.D's they will become assistant professors in philosophy and English, respectively.

Other new instructors include: Miss Susan Crane, acquisitions librarian. She holds the AB from Pfeiffer and the MS from UNC at Chapel Hill.

Thomas Diamond, instructor in biology; BS and MA degrees from East Tennessee State University.

Miss Carroll Hicks, catalog librarian; BS from Meredith and MS in library science from UNC at Chapel Hill.

Miss Wanda King, instructor in mathematics; BA from East Carolina College and MS from Notre Dame.

Miss Patsy Lacey, instructor in Sociology; BA from Northeast Louisiana State College and MA from Louisiana State University.

Mrs. Miriam Leiva, instructor in mathematics; BS from Guilford College and MA FROM UNC at Chapel Hill.

Thomas C. Turner, instructor in accounting; BS from Furman University and MBA from UNC at Chapel Hill.

William C. Walker, instructor in history; BA from Huntingdon College and MA from the University of Alabama.

Mrs. Hazel Wright, instructor in mathematics, BS from Appalachian State Teachers College and by August."

She said that the name of the annual would probably be changed again. The 1967 staff has already voted to make the change, according to her.

"The Nugget" is the tag the 1966 edition will bear when it is delivered. This, too, is a new name. All previous volumes had been called "Si Si", pronounced "see see".

All "Si Si's" were delivered to the students before summer vacation until 1965. That year's editor, the former Miss Sharon Hacker, set the precedent of late summer delivery in order to include in the volume spring sports and activities and graduation coverage.

This precedent has been followed since that time.

Exotic Games Add Amusement

By Libby Holshouser

Additions to the game room have made play there one of the most creative activities the campus provides. Before given an authoritative demonstration as to how the new games were played, this reporter wondered if the Three Dimensional Tick Tack Toe game was an I. Q. Test.

It wasn't. The game is, however, quite a brain teaser and requires skill. The rules are easily learned and there are 49 possible ways to get three in a row—that is, marbles.

Another game to test skill and power of concentration is the Labyrinth Game. As few as two people or as many as two teams can tests their skills against one another in playing it.

A game of Table Cricket has also been added to the game room. Two, four, or eight persons can participate in this game. The person or team must defend a goal as well as try to make points by hitting the ball into the goal the opponent is defending. It is a fast moving game and promises to draw even a cheering section.

Dutch Shuffle-Board, another addition, is a versatile game which may be played in one of three different ways. Skittles, which originated in China, is an exciting game of chance. Six or eight persons may play or one may play alone.

Two other games have been added which challenge the skill
