Miss UNC-C To Be Crowned This Saturday Night

Miss UNC-C for 1967 will be crowned by Chancellor Colvard Saturday night, March 4, in the Union parquet room during the second annual Miss UNC-C dance.

The new Miss UNC-C will be decided in a student election today and tomorrow. Students will pick from a five - girl list.

The new queen will follow in the footsteps of Sandra Haney who was crowned the first Miss UNC-C last year.

George Doerner and his band, who played for the Christmas dance, return for this occasion. Dress is the same as for the Christmas dance. Students and their dates will be admitted free.

"I've saved all the questions everyone missed and now I've got a test here nobody can pass."
