In the recent election for University Union officers for 1967-1968, Dwayne Spitzer defeated Nick Stavrakas for the chairmanship by a 240-121 margin. When asked his plans for the Union for the coming year, Dwayne replied:

"Because the Union has more money than in the past, we are planning some really big events for next year. My main concern is publicity that will attract students to presentations by groups like the Dukes of Dixieland, and the Bitter End Singers.

"I want to get more people involved in the Union. People like to take pride in what they do; if I can get more people working on Union activities, more people will come to Union-sponsored events.

"At the present we are thinking of holding Schwingfest near the end of the next school year. Schwingfest means 'having a blast.' We are thinking of holding Schwingfest as one last blast before exams.

"The Union would also like to have post-basketball game dances or parties in order to build school spirit.

John Lafferty, unopposed for vice-chairman, received 327 votes. John stated his hopes for his job as follows:

"I am aspiring to fill all committee chairmanships quickly and begin work with the Executive Council on finding clear dates for daycares for next year.

"As soon as I fill the committee chairmanships, I am going to find more people to work in the Union. Quite a few are willing to work in the Union, but only a few of these have the necessary one semester of prior committee work. Therefore, it is hard to fill committee chairmanships. First, I plan to fill the committee chairmanships, then I will begin drives for more people to work in the Union."

Kay Watson, who was also unopposed in her office seeking, received 328 votes for Union secretary.

Kay said, "I feel that the potential for the Union is unlimited. Everything we need is here. What we do need is interested students and faculty."

In the race for treasurer, Ronnie Russell beat Bobbe Berry 228-131.

Of his new position, Ronnie said: "I want to thank all those who helped me in my campaign to become treasurer of the University Union. I appreciate all the support that everyone has given me. I am looking forward to working with the Union in an effort to strengthen the relationship between the student body and the Union."

Publicity Rules Are Ambiguous--Brown

BY CAROL DURHAM

"The publicity rules are really sort of ambiguous. We are trying to get them clarified but right now all we can do is try to get everybody to obey them the way they are," said Nita Brown, publicity committee chairman, in discussing the publicity for the up-coming student body elections.

At this time, the rules apply to all buildings and grounds of the campus, except the Union. With the permission of Mr. Brent Steele, Dean Donald MacKay, or Mr. Loren Haus, posters and banners may be displayed on the walls, doors, and posts of the Union.

The publicity committee is presently trying to get this exception made into an official rule through the Student Legislature.

Publicity rules may be picked up at the Union desk along with any posters which violated the rules and were taken down. If a student needs further clarification of the rules, he may contact Nita Brown.

Rules

1. Limit to the size of posters.

Posters on larger bulletin boards are limited to the regular size poster paper, 28 by 22 inches. For the smaller bulletin boards, posters are limited to half the regular total area size of standard poster paper, either 14 by 22 inches or 28 by 11 inches.

2. Limit to number of posters. The total number of posters is unlimited; however, any person may have no more than one poster on any bulletin board.

3. Tripods. The tripods in the library, University Union, and other buildings may be used for publicity; however, the size of posters is limited to 28 by 22 inches, and the numbers of posters is limited to only one per tripod.

4. Walls, Doors, Etc. The policy of the University of North Carolina at Charlotte has been to prohibit using walls, windows, doors, planters, etc. for the purpose of publicity. This policy is especially important during elections.

5. Priority. The student who places his publicity on a bulletin board or tripod first has priority over all other students or organizations.

Studs Return For Sophs

BY PAUL BOSWELL

John Hostetter and the Studs will entertain here again on Friday, April 7 at 8 p. m. in the Union Cafeteria.

The group, sponsored by the Sophomore class, specializes in the British sound.

They consist of four college students who know how to lay down the sounds. John sings lead and plays guitar, harmonica, autoharp, and several other instruments.

Skip Henry plays lead guitar and sings, Jeff Many strums bass guitar and sings, while Robert Hudson handles the skins and sings. Henry and Many are from Catawba college, and Hudson is a Davidson County Community College student.

John Hostetter commented, "Our repertoire is quite variant so that if a person stays for the whole dance, we will eventually play something he likes."

The "quite tight" group staged a very successful show in February, to the delight of the students attending.

The dance, $1 stag and $1.50 drag, features super-casual dress. Students may wear mod, hobo, hillbilly, etc., outfits as the mood dictates.

Said Tommy Thomas, Sophomore Class President, "We want the students to dress comfortably, to be able to wear what they feel like wearing."

Everyone is invited to come and experience what John calls the "inexplicable sights and sounds of the Studs."

Presidential Hopefuls Speak

govern a student body including nearly 2,000 students.

Mr. Garner summarized his theory of student government in these words; "The primary responsibility of an elected officer is to his constituents and to his own conscience, and only in a secondary sense to his party. The essential difficulty confronting a party candidate is the necessity to implement a program set forth in a rigid platform adopted before election. On a growing campus, however, student officials must be able to adapt themselves to those needs. Here the independent has a distinct advantage."

"My primary objective will be to make student government serve as a more effective liaison between the students and the administration of UNC-C. I feel that students not only have a right to help determine the policies which govern them but that student opinion can serve as a valuable guide to the administration," he continued.

Mr. Garner believes that his extensive student government experience makes him the best qualified candidate for the presidency of the student body. During the current academic year he has served as Junior Class president; worked with the administration to simplify registration procedures as FACChairman; directed allocation of student activity fees to the University Union, the Carolina Journal, and to the annual finance committee, and is currently a member of the Consolidated University Student Council. Mr. Garner served as sophomore representative to the legislature and as a member of its rules committee.

Carol Haywood says, "I would like to represent the rising sophomore class in the judicial branch of the student government. This past year I had the opportunity of representing the freshman class on the student legislature. I now have the desire to give each student the voice he needs on the student court. I would sincerely appreciate all support given me."

Perry Moser, Haywood's UP-backed opponent, said, "I would just like to thank all of my friends who have been good enough to help me with my campaign. Win or lose, I hope that in the future, I can prove worthy of their support.

'Singer Of The Year' Burris Coming

Marilyn Burris, Greensboro lyric soprano who recently won the 1966 award as national "Singer of the Year" in Washington, will present a concert at 3 p.m., Sunday, April 9 in the Parquet Room of the University Union.

Miss Burris gives credit to her voice teacher at Chapel Hill, Dr. Wilton E. Mason, chairman of the UNC-CH Music Department, for bringing her to recent acclaim in Washington as "Singer of the Year" and winner of the $1,000 award from the National Association of Teachers of Singing.

She is the wife of Dr. William C. Burris, chairman of the political science department of Guilford College, and mother of two children, Mary Lynne and Kathryn, ages 6 and 2.

She received her bachelor of arts degree at Meredith College where she studied with Beatrice Donley. She was winner of the Young Artists Award in Charleston, S. C., and went from there to New York to study under former Metropolitan Opera singer, Herta Glaz.

While taking her master's in music at the Manhattan School of Music, she performed in many New York musical events at her school, in the Manhattan Madrigal Singers, at the Rockefeller Institute, Cooper Union, Manhattan Opera Workshop, and the Manhattan Chorus and Orchestra.

In addition to teaching music in the public schools of Charleston, S. C. and Durham, she has been a church soloist and director of music.
