

Harriers Split Tri-Meet

By FRANK SASSER

Last Thursday, September 28 the cross country team traveled to High Point for two-meets-in-one. The Charlotte team ran against the cross country teams of High Point College and St. Andrews College. Although the three teams ran at one time the meet was scored as two dual meets for each of the schools. High Point defeated both UNC-C and St. Andrews. UNC-C defeated St. Andrews.

High Point did very well running on their home course against the 49ers. In fact, their fifth placed runner finished sixth overall. The score was High Point 19, Charlotte 41.

In the second meet Charlotte once again conquered the Knights of St. Andrews, this time 24-31. Marty Fleming led the way over the entire course. Fleming showed an improvement over his already fabulous running by cutting a quarter of a minute off his average time per mile at the St. Andrews meet two weeks ago.

The boys' times were good for the four mile course despite the fact that it rained during the entire time they were running. The ground, already wet from a day's rain was muddy and it was difficult to get traction on some of the steep hills.

The team finished well even though two of our top runners were unable to run. Ron Lynch had shin splints and bruises. John Lafferty has been walking around school for a week wearing only one shoe because of his blood blisters. They are expected to be ready to run in our next meet, though, on October 9 in Davidson, N. C.

In a post meet interview with Coach Murphy, the coach said that the UNC-C harriers were showing improvement at every practice and meet. He also expressed his attitude for tremendous amount of effort put forth by the cross country team members. Barring any major injuries, we should be in contention for top honors in the District 26 and DIAC Conference meet in November. The coach expressed his enjoyment in coaching the cross country team, "I always look forward to practice when I know all of the boys are going to give all they have."

Intramural Season Opens This Week

The first UNC-C intramural season opens this week, with an eight team league. Beginning on Tuesday, teams began preliminary play, in order to familiarize themselves with the rules.

Already fielding teams this season are The Senior Class, The Sophomore Class, The Freshman Class, The Business Club, APO, The Engineering Club, and two independent teams, The Animals and The Gladiators.

These teams will play in a double Round Robin league tournament, in which each team will be played the others twice. This will begin on October 9, with games to be played on Monday through Thursday. Schedules of games to be played are posted in the Union lobby.

At the end of the Intramural Football season, a champion will be declared and at the end of the year a grand champion will be chosen.

Roundballers Soundout

UNC-C's 49ers open basketball practice Monday, October 16, at Harrisburg Jr. High School gymnasium. A meeting of Basketball prospects was held Tuesday night, October 3, to sound out prospects for the coming season.

Returning from last years squad are former co-captains Jerry Anthony and Robbie Snipes, both forwards; Bob Lemmond, Center; Ben Bassinger, forward; and Jerry Overcash, a guard. An initial practice squad of about 20 is expected to turn out.

Coach Murphy outlines several reasons for the shift in practice spots from Derita Elementary School to Harrisburg. First, the team will have a regulation floor to practice on, with four side baskets in addition to the two regulation ones. Dressing room facilities are also much better.

The team will open its 21 game schedule at Park Center with Guilford College on November 21. A B-team schedule will also be played if squad strength remains at or above 15 members.

Tickets On Campus

Tickets are available this year to all Chapel Hill home football games. These can be obtained through the University Union by any student, faculty member, or administrator at UNC-C.

In order to have these tickets set aside, you should speak to Mr. Brenton Steele, or the information desk attendant two weeks in advance of the game you wish to see.

Orders cease on Friday, one week in advance of the game.

Tickets for $2.00 general admission, or $5.00 reserved seat prices are available. They may be picked up at Keenan Stadium between 12 and 1 o'clock PM on the day of the game. If they are not picked up before 1, they will be put on sale.

These tickets may be obtained for all home games.

Notes From The Sidelines

By John Lafferty

In which I would like to discuss those people about whom you never hear, but without whom no team could function. The trainer and the manager.

After every game hoards of sportscasters besiege the winning and losing coaches, the daily stars, and players who could have been stars, but bumbled around the field for the entire day. But the only people who beat a path to the trainers door can scarcely hobble. And they soon emerge swathed in rools of adhesive tape and gauze. The trainer is forever submerged in the depths of the gym, and forgotten.

But who is it that tapes legs, and feet, and arms, and hands. And generally holds the team together, often with tape and blisterpads, salt pills and the ever presene ace bandage? None other then the forgotten trainer.

The trainer begins his work long before the team takes the field, is present throughout the game, and must work long after it is over.

And the manager? Not even the broken and injured players will beat a path to him. He must chase them down and make sure that they eat at meal time, have a towel to shower with, pack their shoes and soxs for road trips, and then run errans for the coach and team throughout the game. A good manager is like an extra coach for a team. In his hands rest the many incidentals about which everyone else forgets.

To managers and trainers everywhere, but especially to Lane Hurley, Bill Billups and Frank Sausser, you are not forgotten.

SPOTLIGHTING...

Marty Fleming, a sophomore who is majoring in History. Marty is a Charlotte native, who attended Garinger High, where he ran track and cross country for three years. His senior year he received awards for being the most valuable running member of the team, and also for being the Senior standout.

He has run in both cross country meets this season, and is the top 49er runner. At St. Andrews he set a new course record, and finished first, and at High Point he was second place. He is thusfar undefeated in DIAC competition.

We congratulate Marty for his great performance.

Dinner Held For Patrons

The unveiling of a large silver plaque honoring the 100 Founding

Patrons of Excellence highlighted a dinner given in recognition of these firms and individuals who have pledged $10,000 to the University over a 10 year period.

The plaque, 41 inches wide by 67 inches high, is fashioned of fine wood panelling and lists each name among the 100 Founding Patrons in silver. It is located in the Union lounge.

The dinner was held Monday, October 9, at 6:15 p. m. in the Union cafeteria. Attending were some administrative officers, department chairmen and their wives, and the honorees. Each patron was presented with an individual plaque for office or den.
