student body. Mr. Billups was quoted as saying, "It is the right of the Publications Board to place these restrictions on student publications."

As of this writing there are approximately 600 signatures on the petition. The goal of the petitioners is 1,000 signatures.

Rick Dancy, former editor of the Carolina Journal, had this to say about the recent decision handed down by the Publications Board, "I think it is the most stupid thing I have ever heard of. I also feel that this institution has long since passed the point where any one male or female can effectively run it. It must be a cooperative and well-coordinated venture if we are ever going to truly make the transition from small junior college to a full-fledged university. I think that one of the best ways to determine when a college begins its maturation process is by judging the quality of its student publication. By publication I mean publications conceived by the students and intended to be read by the students and by the degree of responsibility accorded to the students who publish it."

"The type of administrative censorship we are now faced with can spell the doom of quality student publications," Mr. Dancy continues.

The petition is expected to be presented at tomorrow's meeting of the Publications Board. If no satisfactory decision is agreed upon by the Board, the final result rests in the hands of Chancellor D. W. Colvard.

Mr. Brenton Steele, Director of the Union, endorses the petition which protests the limitations placed on student publications by the Publications Board.

Management, Public Relations Jobs Discussed

Mr. Edmund M. Diaz of Collins & Aikman Corporation will speak today at 11:30 in room C-122. He will talk about the opportunities for employment in management and public relations.

Mr. Diaz is Manager of Management Recruitment and Development for Collins & Aikman. Being in charge, he designs and maintains the training programs that his firm uses to prepare new college graduates for careers with Collins & Aikman.

He received his BS in Business Administration from Wagner

College in New York City and holds a MS in Industrial Relations from Columbia University. Prior to joining C&A, Mr. Diaz was director of training for Duke Power Company, here in Charlotte.

This is the third in a series of six lectures sponsored by the Placement Office. The purpose is to present to the students, both Seniors and undergrads, some of the employment opportunities in business that are open to college graduates.

London Fog® goes to great lengths for a short coat: The Golf

London Fog® calls it the Golf. But it's as much at home 4,000 feet over Greensboro as it is on the green. The Golf! Impeccably tailored with swing-easy lushly lined raglan sleeves, elastic waistband, zip-front and slash pockets. It's made with wash and wearable Calibre® Cloth (65% Dacron® polyester, 35% cotton), the same material used in London Fog's longer coats, which wards off the wind and repels the rain. The Golf Jacket! That's like calling an airplane a horseless-carriage with wings. In a selection of sizes and colors.
