

49'ers Fall To Guilford

The 49ers found themselves badly outclassed late Tuesday night, and dropped their opening game to Guilford College, 125-51. The 74 point margin is indicative of the evenness with which the two teams were matched.

From the opening tap-off, the 49ers fell to a nine point disadvantage before Pete Donahue opened the Charlotte scoring.

The Quakers continued to run away with the action, as Coach Murphy substituted, vainly trying to slow them down. But for the luckless 49ers, the baskets seemed closed. The first half ended with Charlotte on the short end of an 18-67 score, having shot only 17% in the first half.

Early in the second half, Guilford coach, Jack Steele, began to pull his starters, and UNC-C's B. ballers were better able to run with the Quaker second unit. Nevertheless, the damage had been done, by the likes of All-American Bob Kauffman who was high scorer with 25 points, and top rebounder with 14. Clifton Whitaker added 14, as did Ed Fellers, while Pat Moriarty finished with 24.

Jerry Anthony played a tremendous defensive game, and also tied with Ben Basinger for scoring honors, with 12 apiece. Gary Cress added 11, and Bob Lemmond had 7.

Reid Carter came into the game late, but endeared himself to 49er fans forever. With a slow set shot from the outside, he hit for his only two points of the game.

Later, he fed the ball to Jerry Anthony under the basket, as Jerry went up for two points. Not bad for the shortest man on the squad.

Tar Heels Look Toughest

BY ROD SMITH

With Larry Miller, Charlie Scott, Dick Grubar, Rusty Clark, Bill Bunting, and Joe Brown on the scene, Dean Smith's Tar Heels look tougher this year than ever before. But can they take Dook (Golden and Lewis) and South Carolina (Thompson, Harlike, Gregor, and Standard)? And, if so, how do the Tar Heels compare with the likes of Davidson, Houston, Louisville, Vanderbilt, Kansas, Boston College, and of course, mighty UCLA? Thus far, who can say?

In an attempt to give answers to at least some of these questions, several UNC-Chapel Hill students, under the leadership of former Journal staffer and present Daily Tar Heel sports editor Larry Keith, have published a 16-page report on the Chapel Hill roundballers in newspaper form. These detailed reports appear to be well-documented and accurate. For only a quarter you can pick up a copy at the Union desk. Get yours today, as the supply is limited.

Animals Beat All Stars In Classic Football Game, 12-7 --Season Ends

BY ROD SMITH

The intramural "All Stars" met the league champion Animals in a classic touch football game on November 28. The "Stars" were elected by the players in the league and consist of the following: Eddie Goodall, Darryl Scism, George Lloyd, Dave Taylor, Norman Scott, Richard McCotter, Jerry Overcash, Tal Phillips, Louis Thorn, H. B. Watson, Lee Atkins, Ben Chavis, Ron Basinger, C. N. Cunningham, Larry Geddings, and captain David Corey.

The game was a hard-fought comedy of errors. The first half, scoreless and filled with interceptions, ended in a sub-freezing stalemate. "The Play" of the first half was a multiple-injury affair with three men going down, two of them for the count. The "Stars" almost scored on a beautiful pass from Norman Scott to David Corey deep in Animal territory, but were unable to capitalize and score.

The second half of play was more indicative of the type of play that has characterized the entire season. The undefeated Animals scored early on a pass from Weston to Whitt to Rivers. They scored again on the fluke play of the season. Scott of the "Stars" mistook Weston for one of his own players and threw him the ball deep in "Star" territory. Weston calmly trotted into the end zone. The Animals failed to convert either extra point attempt and the "Stars" roared back to score on a pass from Goodall to Scism late in the game. The extra point was good on a pass.

An outside kick attempt failed, but the Animals could not move and Mims was forced to punt. The "Stars" tried desperately for a comeback but failed as the game ended in a Pat Queen interception of a pass.

Few spectators and fewer officials braved the weather to watch the game. A fitting end for a good season?

49'ers Lose First DIAC Game To N. C. Wesleyan 71-69

BY ROD SMITH

The 49'ers dropped their first DIAC basketball game last Friday night to North Carolina Wesleyan by a score of 71-69. The first half was a touch-and-go affair that ended with the 49'ers ahead 29-28, by virtue of Gary Cress' hot hand.

Cress cooled off the second half, but Anthony, Snipes, and Lemmond took up the slack. Wesleyan got hot at the beginning of the second half, but the 49'ers fought back and took a 12 point lead with twelve minutes left in the game on the scoring of Snipes and the rebounding of Donahue.

Then Wesleyan ripped off 12 consecutive points. With 7:35 remaining the score read 51-49 in favor of Charlotte. The game continued evenly until, with 59 seconds showing on the clock, Wesleyan pulled ahead, 71-69. Price of Wesleyan forced Anthony into a jump situation under the 49'ers basket. The 49'ers got the ball, but failed to score. With :02 left in the game, Snipes intentionally fouled Price in a last ditch effort to get the ball, but the strategy failed and the 49'ers were left on the short end of a 71-69 score.

Wesleyan was led by Felts (16 points), Dickens (15 points) Keyes and Dixon (12 points each), and Sutton (8 points). Bob Lemmond of Charlotte wowed the home crowd with a total of 17 points, high for the game.
