

History Club Is Formed By Students To 'Create Bond' Among History Majors

By GARY SANFORD

Organizing for the purpose of developing "an increased individual awareness of the importance of history as a field of study and to create a bond between those students who have chosen history as their major field," a group of UNC-C students have requested official recognition from the Student Legislature to become the first History Club on campus. At a meeting held last Wednesday, the club adopted its first constitution written by a committee composed of Sue Garrett, Chairman; Jack Clark, Susan Thomas, and Gary Sanford. A few amendments were proposed and the one that received the most attention concerned membership.

The committee had originally proposed a sharp distinction between a "full member", a history major, and an "associate member", an interested student whose major was not history. The original proposal suggested that "full members" were allowed the right to vote, to serve on committees and to hold elective office. On the other hand, the "associate member" had only the privilege to debate. Fearing that this might limit the growth of the club, several members urged full membership privileges for all.

After debate, they accepted a compromise measure which granted to associate members the right to vote, and to hold positions on committees. However, only full members are allowed to hold an elective office.

Michael Carmichael, President of the History Club, urged that interested students should attend the meetings of the History Club. He also explained that by the provisions of the constitution all history majors are considered members.

Dr. Robert W. Rieke, Chairman of the History and Political Science Department, congratulated the people present in taking a part in the fine leadership of the club. Speaking as Department Chairman, he expressed his pleasure at the formation of the club and urged that the students make it a success.

Future events and programs are in the planning stages said President Carmichael.

Some of the events suggested are, bi-monthly luncheons to help promote both academic and social fellowship, trips to historical sights around the Charlotte area, and for the academic program of the club a series of challenging speakers.

Colloquium Brings Area Colleges Together

Since last fall a colloquium on "The Evaluation of Teaching and Learning" has been meeting on the UNC-C campus. The members of the colloquium are members of the faculties, administrations, and student bodies of the area colleges and universities.

Participants from UNC-C are Bill Billups, UNC-C Vice-President, Dr. S. L. Burson, Stone Professor of Chemistry and Chairman of the Department of Chemistry, Dr. Bonnie E. Cone, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, Dr. Seth Ellis, Assistant to Vice Chancellor McEniry, Dr. Ben H. Hackney Jr., Acting Chairman, Department of Education, Dr. Charles A. Reavis, Department of Education, Dr. Ronald Simono, Director of Counseling Service, and Dr. Loy H. Witherspoon, Chairman of the Department of Philosophy and Religion and Chaplain.

The colloquium of thirty members was convened by Dr. Loy H. Witherspoon on December 12 and has met on the second Tuesday of the month since that date.

Some of the questions with which the colloquia have dealt or will consider are the following: What are the most effective criteria for evaluating performance? What merit is there in a full or partial "pass-fail" system? What part should students have in initiating change and innovation in the curriculum? Last night (February 13) the colloquium worked on the problem "How to Achieve Acceptance of Major Curricular Changes." The paper was discussed by the Davidson College participants. Davidson has just effected curricular changes. There are reports that changes in curriculum requirements are in the "discussion" stage in a faculty committee here at UNC-C.

FROGSTRANGLER!

When the frog is being strangled, the ground hog, the leprechauns, basketball — you name it — it all takes a back seat to this crazy wild goings-on! It's not going to be nasty weather forever and Milton has to make room for frohling or spring. This is the last price reduction — the last round-up.

For $20.00 you'll find 9 coats that were $60.00. For $22.00 you'll find many dac/wool sport coats that were $70.00. For $33.00 look twice at wool sport coats regularly going for $70.00. For $44.00 you're getting into our high cotton Scottish Shetland coats that were $80.00. And here's the living end — for only $55.00 you can own our finest handwoven Shetland sport coat that regularly goes for $95.00.

You can also play this two of a kind Frogstrangler with our Suits — Dac/wools cut from $95.00 to strangler of $33.00; $100.00 to $44.00; Worsted wools from $110.00 invested to $55.00 and vested, add $10.00.

Pants! — dacron/cotons from $16.95 to $5.00; dacron/wools $25.00 to $10.00; wools from $29.95 to $15.00.

Next spring's half sleeve shirts cut from $8.50 to $5.00. Long or short sleeve shirts, regularly to $8.95, just $3.00. Short sleeve sport shirts, all in fine single needle tailoring, regularly to $9.95, at only $4.00.

Zip lined raincoats cut from $60.00 to low $29.99. Lots of sweaters at $9.00 that were $19.95 and at $12.00 instead of terrible $25.00.

So Come one and all and enjoy these final Frogstrangled reductions!
