

Coming of A.K. Psi Important Step

The installation and initiation ceremonies held last Sunday marked the culmination of the concerted efforts of members of the Business Club, particularly Dave Herman, to bring a chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi to our campus.

The staff of the Carolina Journal congratulates Mr. Herman and his co-workers on the efficiency and rapidity displayed by them in carrying out the necessary steps to becoming a part of such a fine national business fraternity as Alpha Kappa Psi.

It is a complimentary reflection on the caliber of the student body here that the demanding tasks necessary for acceptance to this high standard fraternity were met with skill and determination. The results of such hard work were unanimous approval by the national board of the petition submitted by the men, and some highly encouraging and favorable words from representatives of other A.K. Psi chapters who visited our campus.

The installation itself was a happy occasion and serious event for each of the thirty-four charter members.

We wish the best of luck for the Eta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi in their coming services and projects to build an outstanding university here.

Green Garter Is Great

With the return of the Green Garter Coffee House, Monday, February 19 - Friday February 24, we would like to urge each person to make plans to attend at least one performance of the Grimm Brothers Show.

This Coffee House, the third one this year, has improved consistently in entertainment and organization with every return. This time the Wednesday evening performance has been discontinued - an improvement considering that the audience at the last middle-of-the-week night performance was quite low.

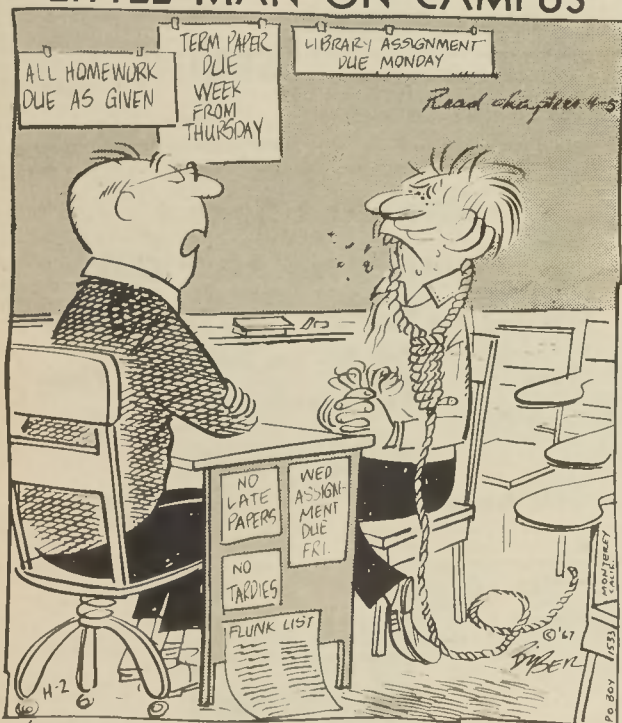

The Thursday, Friday and Saturday night performances have consistently been well-attended nights - full of fun and great entertainment for all.

The amount of work done by members of the Fine Arts Committee reaches phenomenal limits. It is the desire of the committee to make each new coffee house even more elaborate than the last, and each time it has been successful in smoothing out more of the kinks. (Even the waitressing has improved!!)

Bernie Henkel, Fine Arts Committee chairman, deserves much praise as an organizer and person who can get things done, well and on time. His cooperative staff has seen to completing arrangements for the Garter each time with imagination and ingenuity.

So it is with no little confidence that we invite you to make plans for an enjoyable evening at the Green Garter.

Students Say Dance Turnout Low Because Can't Drink

By SONIA MIZELL

The cafeteria Friday night was the scene of another typical campus dance. As usual there was a tremendous turnout of students--about 300 out of 2,000. There is definitely something wrong when only 1/7 of the student body attends a school function such as this.

The dance last week could be called an exception because it was a Sadie Hawkins dance which puts it in a different category. However, to find out why attendance was, and usually is, so minimal, the students themselves should be asked. Therefore, on Friday, several students were asked to give their opinions of the dances here, and tell whether or not they were going to attend the one that night.

Since this was a Sadie Hawkins dance, the perfect answer came from one quite attractive boy who stated very simply, "I wasn't asked."

After this one answer, however, the majority of the answers were based on the same thing-- campus drinking. One girl who has attended every dance this year except the one Friday night commented that she was tired of watching everyone have to sneak around in order to have a drink. Many times dates to the dances are from other universities and they get "fed up" with the high school atmosphere and way things are conducted. Also, she said, at every dance she has attended there have been the same people, atmosphere and mood. There is nothing different.

Along the same line, a boy commented that Sadie Hawkins should have been played up more.

The discussion went back to drinking as another girls pointed out that almost everyone out here is over 18 and most students are over 21. "The trips out to the car every five minutes gets after a while." Two students pointed out that they would rather pay more and go some place like the Cellar where they could drink (not get drunk) with no one looking to see what you're drinking. However, another boy pointed out that the administration is carrying out the law that prohibits drinking on state supported campuses. He can see the administration's side, but he agrees that students should be allowed to drink. He does feel, however, that the students should be subtle about it, and not try to impress everyone with how much liquor they can hold.

It is doubtful that anything or will be done about the drinking situation on campus. But, must be pointed out that many students feel it is an important matter that should be studied carefully by each branch of the university.

Dance BWOC, Agronsky Are Most Popular Union Events

How do the students of this campus feel about their Union Program this year?

This is the question which the Union Opinion Poll, conducted at the end of last semester, sought to answer.

The following conclusions emerged from the poll.

Dances, BWOC, and Martin Agronsky have been the most popular events presented this year, while recreation tournaments, free game room and movies were least attended.

Students of the Charlotte Campus wholeheartedly endorse the idea of the Campus Weekend (ie., BWOC) and the Coffee House.

There is a large feeling that the Union should be opened more on weekends.

Dances should be held more frequently.

A mixed response came concerning the type of music, played over the PA system, and the volume, but most students feel that some program, besides the radio should be played.

Publicity has been good, but there should be more of it.

Most popular bands are the Tams, The Temptations, the Association, Soul Inc., and the Tempests.

The cultural side of the program is lagging far behind the social. (These responses came mainly from "C" building.)

Finally, there is great misconception over what the Union really is, and what it should do.

There was a good response to the call for committee members. However, many people felt that the Executive Council ignored such applications for membership, as has often been the case in the past.

In order that the Committee Chairmen can become acquainted with these new members, a meeting will be held, in the back lounge of the Union at 1:00 p.m., Thursday, February 15, for all persons who have asked to join committees or who now wish to. Those persons who are unable to attend are requested to leave a note at the Union Information Desk, for John Lafferty, with a meeting time convenient for them.

"WITH SO MANY NEW FACULTY THIS YEAR -- WE'RE LUCKY TO EVEN GET YOU AN OFFICE."

Carolyn Campbell, head cheerleader, was a crowd pleaser as she and Harvey Ritch presented a program of Scottish dance and humor in the Parquet Room last Wednesday.
