Letters To The Editor

Discrimination!

Dear Editor:
The following want ad appeared in the Sunday issue of The Charlotte Observer:

BACKHOE OPERATOR, first class, sober, white, top pay if qualified. See Sonny Kent at Bryant Electric Trailer job site on campus of UNC-C 7:30 a.m. ready to work.

Since this work is being done under state funds, and since Bryant Electric falls under ICC regulations, I thought that it might be a good idea to bring this to the attention of The Carolina Journal. I believe that both Bryant and The Observer should be informed that the students will not stand for this. Soul brothers, take note.

Faculty Papers To Appear

Dear Sir:

There was a request from students that the library make an effort to have all publications by members of our faculty, including their theses and dissertations. This was considered by the faculty's Library Committee, which agreed that all publications by our faculty in book form should be in our library. However, it was decided that it would be too expensive to secure copies of all of their theses and dissertations. Any copies of these which may be donated will be welcomed, and requests for individual ones will, of course, be considered. It was also felt by the committee that most faculty would be happy to lend copies of these to interested students, and the library will be happy to put them on reserve when requested to do so.

NEW STORY FOR OLD GLORY

Forty-two feet by thirty, and a weight of about 100 pounds ... that's the amazing size and bulk of the only exact replica of the original Star-Spangled Banner in existence today.

In fact, there has never been but one exact replica. The flag that flew over Fort McHenry, Baltimore, on the terrible night of September 12, 1814, was unique—and for 150 years was never copied.

Then a group of patriotic Baltimore ladies embarked upon the task of re-creating the original, stitch for stitch.

Now picture-taking visitors may snap the results of their labors at Baltimore's Flag House.
