

Infant King And Queen Contest To Be Held Again

Kings, queens, dukes and duchesses . . . hear ye, hear ye! Be it known that rivalry for the crown of Infant King and Infant Queen of Charlotte College is now in season.

For those of you who are new to our college, Spring time brings with its beauty of the out-of-doors the innate desires of Mothers and Fathers to boast of their little bits of heaven . . . their children; and so it is at Charlotte College. At the annual picnic to be held just before the close of the Spring quarter crowns and silver cups bearing the inscriptions of the winners' titles and names will be awarded the children, who by your vote, are elected Infant King and Infant Queen of Charlotte College. The Rules are simple, so get your nominee in promptly!!

1. Children nominated and elected must be the children of bona fide students of Charlotte College.
2. Children must be between the ages of six months and five years.
3. In order to nominate a child for Infant King or Infant Queen, simply drop a slip of paper bearing the name of the child and/or the name of the PARENT in the designated box outside of the library at the announced time. Contest officials will be responsible for obtaining pictures of the nominees.
4. An election will be held after all nominations have been put in order. Should there be a tie, a run-off will be held at the picnic and awards based on that vote.

Hurry now, and get your nomination ready for this most royal occasion. Who's your favorite kiddie?

a hundred percent. We as Alumni can never return in full measure the gifts which our college has bestowed upon us, but we must never shun our duty to try.

"Woman Singer Of The Year," Alice Riley, Gives Performance

In conjunction with its current Concerts, Lectures, and Programs series, Charlotte College presented Miss Alice Riley in recital on March 21, at 7:00 pm, in the Elizabeth School auditorium. Miss Riley, a soprano, was adjudged the Young Artist "Singer of the Year" in 1956. Her appearance marked the conclusion of her tour of North and South Carolina.

Miss Riley sang from the works of a number of well known composers, among them Strauss, Purcell, Arne, Debussy, and Greig. She captured her audience from the very first and held it spell-bound as she continued her repertoire. Hurrying to keep her program under the time limit, Miss Riley omitted a few selections, but her audience called her back for an encore, the first to be asked for in the current series.

She was accompanied on the piano by Lionel Lile. Mr. Harvey Woodruff, director of the Charlotte College Chorus, introduced her.

The next in the concert and lecture series will be held Tuesday, April 15, when Raul Spivak, internationally acclaimed Argentine pianist, will appear.

Faculty Gives Coffee Hours To Day And Evening Classes

On the evening of February the students of Charlotte College were treated to a coffee and social hour in the Central High School gymnasium. Most of the planning was done by the Social Committee, but many faculty members participated in the actual serving of the refreshments, while others mingled with the students. In order to allow more time for the occasion, the six o'clock classes did not convene until six-twenty instead of the usual six-ten, thus there were fully thirty minutes in order that everyone might be served. The refreshments consisted of coffee, fruit punch, and a colorful assortment of cookies and sandwiches.

Attendance at the coffee hour was excellent; the student body seemed to respond favorably, and lines at the serving tables were quite long but moved rapidly. In order to accommodate the large anticipated attendance, two serving tables were used instead of one; the table near the inside door of the gym featured coffee, which proved to be the more popular beverage by far, and the table along the west wall served punch. Some of the students relaxed in the bleachers, as they sipped their coffee, while the remainder congregated about the gymnasium floor.

The morning students were also included in the coffee hour: a counterpart was held from ten-thirty to eleven A. M. on the same morning, supervised by Miss Ruth Raney, faculty advisor of the Social Committee. The student lounge was utilized for this gathering and was filled to near capacity by the comparatively large number of students who attended.

As one student commented, fortunate indeed were the students who attended both day and evening classes and were able to attend both coffee hours.

Easter Days Were The Last Free Ones

Sorry, but there will be no more holidays between now and graduation. The two days at Easter were the only non-school days in the period beginning January 1.

It was learned from the college office that it was necessary to shorten the length of the Winter and Spring quarters as much as possible, because summer schools at N. C. State and UNC start soon after C. C. graduation.
